Big Educational Program Mapped.

President in Chicago

CHICAGO—In a dramatic setting, President Roosevelt will deliver the address dedicating Chicago's outer drive bridge on Oct. 5. The date of the program, agreed to yesterday by the President, follows by one day the convening of the Supreme court, with or without Hugo Black sitting as justice. Details on page 7.

WASHINGTON—Roosevelt's acts credited with new outburst of enthusiasm for inter-party alliance against radicalism. Details on page 7.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Warning that the Roosevelt administration is attempting to subjugate the judiciary and that such action would put an end to "checks and balances" in government, National Commander Harry W. Colmery tonight urged the American Legion to foster an educational program on the principles laid down in the constitution.

Harry W. Colmery.

The warning and the proposal will be given tomorrow when Colmery, a Kansas lawyer, delivers his stewardship report before the joint session of the Legion and auxiliary assembled in annual convention here. The report, made public tonight, comes twenty years after the nation's entry in the world war and is a document designed to prevent embroilment in another conflagration.

400,000 Arrive for Sessions.

Four hundred thousand persons, veterans and their families, have descended upon New York City for the convention. Tonight the legionnaires participated in a memorial service for their departed comrades.

In announcing his stand and asking the Legion's approval of it, Colmery agreed with the Legion's Americanism committee which had suggested that the organization prepare and distribute information on the constitution. Colmery proposed that each Legion post conduct at least one meeting this fall on the constitution.

American citizens have a right to whatever government they want, Colmery said, in prefacing his discussion on national issues and urging the educational program.

Cites Need for Study.

"But in the face of the trend over a period of years," he declared, "the trend away from local self government, the increased centralization of governmental authority, the increase in burocratic forms of administration, the proposal to transfer judicial authority to the legislative, to give the legislative branch appellate jurisdiction of the judicial, the school of thought which would disrupt the check and balance between executive, legislative and judicial—these trends suggest most forcibly the need for such a study and such a program."

There are grave dangers from the outside as well as from within, Colmery warned in a sharp criticism of Germany for encouraging Nazi propaganda in the United States. He demanded an investigation of the Nazi camps to determine whether there are individuals in this country who are swearing first allegiance to Germany or any other foreign power.

Calls it Brazen Affront to U. S.

"We hear from beyond the sea that the German government claims the right and intends to organize Nazi groups in our country," said the Legion commander, "that it will preach and propagandize Nazism here, that it will not tolerate any interference with that policy and that its purpose in organizing Nazi groups in America is to save us from communism.

"What a gratuitous insult to our free institutions! What a brazen affront to every patriotic American citizen! The American people have a right to go communistic if they want

THE LITTLE BOY WHO HAS BEEN PLAYING WITH FIRECRACKERS FINALLY GETS BURNED

'Lung' Rooms to Treat 8 at Time Forecast

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Room-size iron lungs were foreseen today by Prof. Philip Drinker, of the Harvard School of Public Health, who with L. A. Shaw, eight years ago invented the present type of iron lung.

The room would be easier on the infantile paralysis patient than lying tied to one spot by the narrow, five-foot-six-inch long metal barrel, the iron lung of today, which encloses the body to the neck.

Would Aid Physicians, Too.

More important than the idea of comfort, this room-size respirator would permit the physician to enter the same chamber. His patient's body would not be largely shut off from his ministrations. He would have a better opportunity for treatment and for the possibility of making faster progress in learning how to combat the effects of the breathing paralysis.

Prof. Drinker has built one such room, at the Children's hospital, in Boston, to hold four patients. Doctors and nurses enter through a double door. They notice no sensation out of the ordinary except a slight pressure in their ears, as the air of the room alternately becomes a vacuum and then returns to ordinary air pressure.

Room for Eight Patients.

Rooms can be made for at least eight patients, Prof. Drinker says. He believes rooms will be cheaper in the end than separate iron lungs. The latter at present cost nearly $1,000.

The present type of iron lung induces breathing where muscles are too weak to expand the chest. The pressure changes come from blowers, driven by electric motors. The pressure changes can induce breathing at any rate from 10 breaths a second to 40.

The critical period in the iron lung is the beginning. A person who survives two days is found to have a good chance of surviving. Lack of iron lungs has been a handicap. In the entire United States there are only 279 adult lungs and 200 infant respirators.

Monkey Makes a Madhouse Out of New York Pet Shop

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special]—A monkey escaped in Sam Russo's pet shop in Cooper square today. He opened the gilded latches of canaries' aviaries and freed iridescent finches from their wired prisons. While twenty-five or thirty birds chirped gayly over their sudden freedom, their benefactor tumbled over boxes of seed and scattered packages of dog biscuit. He finally was captured.

GOV. HORNER WISHES FOR A WIFE TO HEAR HIS PRAISES SUNG

Spring Valley, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Dedication of the new highway bridge over the Illinois river here today brought an unexpected turn of events which indicated Gov. Henry Horner is not a confirmed bachelor.

Opening his address, Gov. Horner thanked Putnam and Bureau county officials for complimenting him for his part in the construction program. Then he added:

"I wish my wife were here to hear those compliments. If ever I can find a girl to bring joy into the life of an intrepid governor, the wedding march will be played on the bridge and we will march over it."

At the conclusion of the program the governor refused to comment further.

HOTELS PROTEST U. S. EMPLOYES' CLUB ON RATES

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The American Hotel association tonight asserted that a purported effort to obtain reduced hotel rates for federal employés traveling in the Kansas City area amounted to attempts at "blackmail" and at "holding up a group of American business men."

In a letter of protest addressed to President Roosevelt, Thomas D. Green, president of the hotel association, attributed the rate reduction movement to the "Greater Kansas City Federal Business association."

Green also sent to the White House a letter addressed to a Kansas City hotel suggesting rate reductions be made and signed by O. W. Price, president of the association and assistant manager of the veterans' administration in Kansas City.

The letterhead says the organization is "composed of heads and principal assistants of the federal activities located in greater Kansas City, Leavenworth, Lawrence, and Wadsworth, Kas., and Excelsior Springs, Mo."

HIS SONG MAKES WIFE CRY; SLAIN BY HIS NEPHEW

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A hillbilly lament that made a woman cry brought death today to Clarence E. Walker, 33, a dairy employé.

State Trooper C. A. Thompson said Romie Reveal, 24, told him he shot Walker, his uncle, because Walker refused to stop singing "Daddy, My Sweet Daddy," after Mrs. Walker began crying.

Party Guests See, but They Don't Observe

The young man who stepped onto the porch of Harvey Watson's home at 5858 Waveland avenue yesterday at 2:15 a. m. found the front door and the nearby windows locked.

Fertile in expedients, in the manner of one who had forgotten his latchkey, the youth shinned up a column and onto the porch roof. Several gay celebrants leaving a party next door were amused at the performance and turned an automobile spotlight on him.

"That," said one young woman, "is Richard Watson. He can't wake his mother up; or maybe he doesn't want to."

He Tries and Tries Again.

The windows above the porch roof also were tightly fastened, and the man, still spotlighted, returned to the ground. He retreated to the back yard. When the gay spotlighters brought him out of the shadows a few minutes later he had placed a ladder against the side wall of the house and was ascending to another window.

When he reached it Mrs. Harvey Watson, frightened, was on the other side of the glass.

The young man hastily descended and, swearing loudly, hurled the ladder on the lawn. Then he walked to the garage behind the house. Entering a small door, he seated himself in the car of Miss Kathryn Watson and backed out. He had neglected to open the larger door and it went a few feet with him.

Bids Merrymakers Adieu.

Rolling across the lawn with fine disregard of the driveway, the driver stuck out his tongue at the merry spotlighters and headed toward Irving Park boulevard. By that time Mrs. Watson had called the police to say it was not her son Richard, but a burglar, who had amused the neighborhood for 45 minutes.

Japanese Accuse Chinese of Using Poison Gas Bombs

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Sept. 20 [Monday.]—Japanese military authorities at Shanghai today claimed they have obtained proof that Chinese forces are using poison gas. They charged that when a Japanese unit launched an attack against Chinese troops near Peitangkou Saturday a gaseous screen shrouded the front line. The Japanese were compelled to halt the offensive, they said, adding that a chemical analysis showed the bombs contained poison gas.

SEVEN FOLSOM CONVICTS KNIFE WARDEN AND 2

Phone Foils Plot to Kidnap Officers.

Folsom, Cal., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A guard and two convicts were slain, the warden critically injured, and seven other persons wounded today in savage fighting with knives and clubs that followed an attempt by seven convicts to escape Folsom penitentiary.

Warden Larkin.

Fifteen minutes of battling in the prison's big yard left six surviving convicts unconscious on the ground along with the bodies of Guard H. E. Martin and Convict Clyde Stevens, planner of a previous escape attempt. Convict Benny Kucharski was fatally injured.

Warden Clarence Larkin received dangerous stab wounds in the abdomen. Prison doctors expressed fear he would die.

Two Guards Knifed.

Guard Captain W. J. Ryan and Guard James Kerns likewise received serious stab wounds, and several of the convicts were in serious condition from the battle, finally halted by reserve guards.

For several hours after the rioting prison officials believed the dead convict was Ray Budway. Then it was learned that Stevens, convicted once of smuggling guns into San Quentin prison, was wearing the shirt and number of Budway, who officials said was not involved.

Shortly before the noon hour, Warden Larkin with Ryan and Kerns was following his Sunday custom of interviewing prisoners in the guard captain's office facing the prison yard. The prisoners are allowed to ask questions and talk over parole applications.

Seven Attack Three.

About 40 men were in the line, officials stated, when without warning seven lunged forward, baring knives and a dummy pistol. The prisoners were named as Stevens, Albert Kessell, Wesley Eudy, Robert Cannon, Fred Barnes, Kucharski, and Ed Davis. All were long term prisoners in Folsom, California's institution for habitual criminals and incorrigibles.

While the convicts threatened officials with knives, Davis demanded that Larkin telephone the watch tower guard to hand down rifles to the prisoners.

In a nearby office, the warden's

Rapist Gangs Beat Women; Girl Attacked

Two women were assaulted by hoodlum gangs and a girl of 12 was attacked yesterday in a new outbreak of sex crimes. The accused rapist of the girl was seized. Police are searching for ten men involved in the two other cases.

One of the victims was Mrs. Alice Brown, 34 years old, 2926 Warren boulevard. Some confusion, which was not cleared up for hours, developed in her case because of reports that she was kidnaped in one police district, beaten in another, and abandoned in a third.

Incurs Four Fractures.

Mrs. Brown was beaten and kicked by six men when she resisted their attempts to rape her. She is in the County hospital suffering from four rib fractures and multiple bruises. Her right eye was swollen shut by a blow and half a dozen stitches were taken to close a scalp wound.

Mrs. Brown met one of the men in a tavern, she said. Five other men joined them. They drove to an unidentified spot, where they tried to attack her. She resisted and they beat her, finally ejecting her from the car at Carpenter street and Hubbard avenue.

Resists Gang's Attack.

The case of the second woman, Miss Estelle Gurske, 24 years old, who is employed at 1249 Ash street, Winnetka, was much the same. She met two men whom she knew as George and Butch in a Diversey parkway tavern late Saturday night and accepted their offer to drive her home. On the way they picked up two other men. She resisted their attacks, was severely beaten, and was thrown out at Terra Cotta place and Altgelt street about 3 a. m. She required hospital treatment also, after which she was able to go home.

The girl who was raped told police she was driven to 106th street and the lake and attacked by Alphonse Mazurski, 25, of 8415 Essex avenue, who lived near her home and whom she knew. He was seized. The child's name is withheld because of her age.

BRITISH 'MESSIAH' CHOOSES EX-COP AS HIS SUCCESSOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 19.—After a prosperous fifty years as the "messiah," Charles Geard, who is 83 years old, ill, and near death, has picked his nephew, Claude Turner, a former policeman, as his successor.

Geard heard his call at a Salvation Army meeting fifty years ago. For the last thirty years he has had a colony of his sect, known as the "Chosen Seed of Israel," in Tenby, Wales, and lived on his followers' gifts. The sect got publicity recently when an irate husband threatened to wreck the "messiah's" heaven if his wife did not leave it and return home.

Geard's followers, believe that Geard, after death, will return to rule the world. Despite frequent false prophecies that the end of the world was at hand, they have not lost faith in their bearded leader.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT KILLS YOUTH AT TARGET PRACTICE

Herbert Nevins, 19 years old, 1375 East 57th street, an employé of the University Press, was accidentally shot and killed yesterday while engaged in target practice with Hale Lewis, 22 years old, a railroad clerk living at 1548 East 65th street, and Lewis' sister, Esther, 19 years old. Lewis and his sister were shooting at a target near 110th street and Willow Springs road with .22 caliber rifles when Nevins, who had been stooping, suddenly arose. Policeman E. F. Nichols of the county highway police, said an early investigation did not disclose which one shot Nevins, but he said there was no doubt the shooting was accidental.

Son Accidentally Kills Former California Official

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Frank L. Guerna, former assistant attorney general of California, was accidentally shot and killed today by his son, Frank Jr., 12 years old, while deer hunting near his birthplace in the mountains near Yosemite National park. Mr. Guerna was coxswain of the crew at Stanford university, where he was graduated in 1911.

Grandmother at 34; Has Divorce Suit Pending

Redlands, Cal., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Although only 34 years old, Mrs. Goldie Bundy today was a grandmother. Her son, 19, became a father. Mrs. Bundy was married at 14 and has five other children. She recently filed suit for divorce.

66 JAP PLANES BOMB NANKING IN AIR BATTLES

SHANGHAI, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The 6th regiment of 1,435 United States marines rushed from San Diego, Cal., to the Chinese war zone, landed today on the bund, Shanghai's famous waterfront boulevard to the cheers of great crowds.

Arrows point to bombed capital and where United States marines were landed.

The marines' arrival, more than doubling the American garrison in this stricken city, coincided with an exchange of large scale air raids by the Chinese and Japanese air fleets. The greatest air battles of the war occurred over Nanking.

Bomb Nanking Twice.

Twice big Japanese squadrons bombed Nanking, the Chinese capital, apparently in retaliation for a spectacular air bombardment carried out by the Chinese last night on Japan's warships and shore positions in the Shanghai area.

Japanese threatened further "severe action," possibly an attempt to destroy Nanking, because it is "the base for China's military opposition against Japan."

Vice Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa, commander-in-chief of the Japanese third fleet in Chinese waters, warned that Americans and other foreigners should get out of the capital by Tuesday noon, when "the air force will take whatever measures are necessary against Nanking."

American and other foreign warships anchored in the Yangtze river off Nanking's bund, he said, should move "at least 11 miles upstream." The American embassy and naval command awaited instructions from Washington, D. C., on whether to heed the warning. Hasegawa's warning went to foreign diplomats through American Consul General Clarence E. Gauss.

Jap Claims Contradicted.

The Japanese claimed great success for their Nanking raids, but the Chinese government disputed their reports of thirty-two Chinese planes shot down, and trustworthy foreign observers in the capital supported the Chinese denials.

A Chinese communique said forty-three Japanese planes attacked Nanking in the morning and twenty-three in the afternoon. The statement said that Chinese airmen shot down eight raiders and lost only three planes.

Japanese officers said their air force shot down twenty-six planes of American and Italian make in the morning raid, six more in the afternoon, and bombed and destroyed important military establishments.

Admit Loss of Three Planes.

The Japanese admitted three of their planes taking part in the two attacks failed to return.

The first raid resulted in a half hour air battle. The second raid lasted an hour and a half, the Japanese dropping their bombs from high altitudes and apparently being more interested in reconnaissance than bombing.

During the morning's battle planes were seen falling in flames, with airmen leaping with parachutes. The Japanese did not come in their usual formation, but swarmed all over the sky. They apparently aimed at the air base and arsenal, but Chinese said only slight damage was done.

During the afternoon raid bombs fell in the main business street and other parts of Nanking, but with little damage. Fifteen Chinese pursuit planes went up to challenge the invaders.

This was Nanking's eleventh air raid. Chinese said the capital has suffered little real damage, although hundreds of Chinese, mostly of the coolie class, have been killed or injured.

Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, American educated wife of China's dictator, was a witness of Saturday night's series of Chinese bombing raids at Shanghai. Mme. Chiang is head of China's air forces.

The raids lasted through most of the cloudless, moonlit night, with daring exhibitions of power diving, looping, and swooping attacks, including that of one daring Chinese pilot, who skimmed over the masts of the Japanese flagship Idzumo and machine gunned her crew.

Pipe Plunger Into River.

Japanese gunners apparently hit that plane, which was reported to have fallen in flames in the Whangpoo river. That was believed to be the only Chinese casualty. What destruction the raiders accomplished could not be learned.

Four Chinese were killed and fourteen wounded in Shanghai's international areas by flying steel as Japanese batteries searched the skies for the raiders. For six hours Shanghai was the center of a hurricane of shells, bullets, colored signal rockets, star shells. Very lights, and tracer bullets, with searchlights flashing all over the sky. Incendiary bombs set large fires, which imparted added terror to the scene.

The American marines, brought by the transport Chaumont convoyed by the light cruiser Marblehead, had a baptism of fire as the Chaumont, with huge American flags displayed from every mast, steamed up the Whangpoo through a spirited exchange between Chinese artillery and Japanese naval guns. No Americans were hit.

Steams to Anchorage Alone.

The Marblehead clung at the transport's side until they reached Woosung, at the confluence of the Whangpoo and the Yangtze rivers, from which point the Chaumont steamed alone to an anchorage off the bund between the French and Italian flagships and a little above the United States flagship Augusta.

The 6th regiment, commanded by Brig. Gen. John C. Beaumont, raised the total strength of United States marines here to about 2,700. The 4th marine regiment has been on duty since the Shanghai conflict began five weeks ago, holding a four mile sector of the international settlement's defenses.

The United States minesweeper Finch met the Marblehead at Woosung and took off a marine anti-aircraft company of 125 officers and men, the first American anti-aircraft unit ever landed in China.

Japanese Extend Conquests in North China

Japanese columns last night continued to press forward on the Peiping front. One column captured Fengchen, important railroad station in Suiyuan province, while other columns moved southward toward Yenmen pass in Shansi province. Arrows and caption on map show extent of Japanese operations in this region. The Japanese hope to continue their advance to Paotow, the end of the Peiping-Suiyuan railway. The invaders also are moving toward Taiyuan, capital of Shansi province.

BRITISH SAY BIG POWERS MAY TRY TO END CONFLICT

GENEVA, Sept. 19. — (AP) — Official British quarters said tonight that international coöperation may bring an end to the Chinese-Japanese conflict.

The statement was taken to mean that the great powers may attempt to mediate between the two far eastern nations. It was announced that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Great Britain will address the league of nations assembly tomorrow on the world situation, including the warfare in China.

The Chinese delegation, meanwhile, prepared four demands to place before the league advisory committee which will deal with the conflict. They were: Condemnation of Japan as an aggressor; condemnation of Japanese bombardment of Chinese cities "and their innocent populations"; a judgment that the Japanese naval blockade of the Chinese coast is illegal, and provision for military supplies for Chinese armies.

RADICALS SHUN ARGENTINE POLL; CHARGE FRAUD

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Sept. 19. — (AP) — Claiming fraud, Radical party members refused to go to the polls today as nine of Argentina's 14 provinces voted a second time on their choice of presidential candidates. The complementary elections were held because a number of polling boxes were found defective after the election of Sept. 5.

The Radical candidate, Marcelo Alvear, held the lead in the count of the earlier election, but the uncounted votes were considered preponderantly favorable to the Conservative coalition candidate, Roberto Ortiz.

JAPS DRIVE FOR MOUNTAIN PASS IN NORTH CHINA

Manchukuan Troops Take Town in Suiyuan.

PEIPING, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Japan's conquest of the Chinese northwest extended deeper today into the provinces of Suiyuan and Shansi.

Rapidly moving columns of cavalry and motorized infantry thrust southward toward the great Yenmen pass in north Shansi, while another column seized Fengchen, first important station in Suiyuan on the Peiping-Suiyuan railway.

A major battle appeared to be developing in the north Shansi mountains, above the spur of the great wall that cuts across the upper part of that province. With Tatung on the Peiping-Suiyuan railway, as their base the Japanese were consolidating a line some 20 miles south of that city for further offensive action.

100,000 Chinese Troops Massed.

This line described an arc through the towns of Tsoyun, Huaijen, and Hunyuanhsien. The Chinese were preparing to contest the Japanese advance to the Yenmen pass, with about 100,000 troops reported massed at and south of Yingchow, 35 miles below Tatung.

The advance into Suiyuan was in accord with long held desires of the Japanese high command to seize that province to complete a protective buffer along the southern borders of outer Mongolia, which is under soviet Russia's protection.

Foreign authorities expected the Japanese army to continue the advance to the end of the Peiping-Suiyuan railway at Paotow, thus erecting a barrier between China proper and the soviet trained forces of outer Mongolia.

Fengchen fell, according to Japanese reports, after a battle in which the Chinese garrison of that exposed, unwalled town was routed.

Veteran Army Attacks.

The troops driving into Suiyuan come from Japan's veteran army of occupation in Manchukuo, skilled at such warfare of rapid movements.

The Yenmen pass is famous in Chinese history. Through it runs the highway from the northern mountains into the lower country containing Taiyuan, the provincial capital, about 120 miles to the south.

One Japanese column already has penetrated farther south in Shansi, but by skirting the eastern end of the mountain wall near the Hopei-Shansi border. This force was last reported at Laiyuanhsien, 50 miles northwest of Paotingfu.

Chinese Reported in Flight.

Japanese headquarters said the drive down the Peiping-Hankow railway continued to sweep all resistance before it and had reached the railway spur running northwest from Kaopeitien, 60 miles below this city.

The main body of Chinese troops was reported fleeing toward Paotingfu, the main Chinese base 80 miles southwest of Peiping, or westward toward the Shansi border mountains.

$4,640,000 DONATED TO JAPANESE ARMY IN 2 MONTHS BY PUBLIC

TOKIO, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The war office announced today that public donations to the army since July 7, when the conflict with China began, had reached 16,000,000 yen [$4,640,000]. Army spokesmen said these voluntary contributions in a little more than two months indicated patriotism was running higher than in any of Japan's previous wars. Records showed the public contributed 2,918,000 yen during 18 months of the Chinese-Japanese war of 1894-'95; 3,747,000 yen during 18 months of the Russo-Japanese war, and 25,487,000 yen during the Manchurian campaigns of 1931-'33.

JAPANESE SEIZE U. S. REPORTER ON BICYCLE AS A SPY

Writer Tells of Capture of Walled City.

BY HALDORE HANSON.

WITH THE JAPANESE ARMY BELOW PEIPING, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The arrest of this writer as a spy behind the Japanese lines some forty miles south of Peiping today brought to an end a long bicycle tour of the battlefields of the Japanese army's great offensive along the Peiping-Hankow railway.

Blindfolded, I was brought back in an ambulance filled with Japanese wounded to Huangtsun, railway point ten miles from Peiping, where I was subjected to three hours of intensive questioning.

Finally I was released. My treatment by the Japanese military throughout was most courteous.

Passes Truckloads of Dead.

On my ambulance ride to the rear I passed truck after truck loaded with Japanese dead. They could be identified by the odor and the remarks of wounded Japanese companions.

Before my arrest I had bicycled southeast from the railway over twenty-four miles of muddy roads to reach Kuanhsien, which fell before the first rush of the Japanese army's great drive. This lies just below the Yungting river some thirty miles from Peiping.

I found that although Japanese headquarters had announced the capture of Kuanhsien early Wednesday morning the walled city had been held two days longer by a stubborn Chinese regiment belonging to the 91st army and commanded by a Col. Wang, hitherto unknown to fame. Two thousand survivors of this regiment retired from Kuanhsien early Friday.

Gate Town Shattered.

The heavily bombed gate tower of the city was shattered and collapsed. More than twenty Chinese soldiers had been buried under the debris and many arms and legs still projected from the ruins. Temporary Chinese officials said they had counted seventy-six bodies of Chinese civilians killed in heavy Japanese bombardments of the city.

On the road to Kuanhsien I passed a regiment of Japanese engineers celebrating completion of a new pontoon bridge over the Yungting river. Clad still in swimming tights, their bodies glistening in the sun, the soldiers sang and romped across their bridge while artillery thundered in the distance.

Main Body Deserts Dugouts.

Peasants said the main body of the Chinese 91st army under Gen. Feng Chan-hai deserted miles of dugouts along the Yungting river Tuesday without firing a shot, leaving Col. Wang and his soldiers in the walled town.

Approaching Kuanhsien I saw more than 500 empty shell cases left from the Japanese bombardment of the town. The 20 foot walls had been demolished in a dozen places. All gates were closed and heavily sandbagged, but there were plenty of breaches and through one of them I followed Japanese soldiers into Kuanhsien.

The Japanese were smashing open all closed doors and threatened to shoot townspeople who did not wear armbands welcoming the conquerors. I was told two frightened Chinese had been shot in the back while attempting to flee.

Peasants encountered on the road told me there had been many executions in the villages where the Japanese had tried to impress coolies for labor. The Chinese, frightened and unable to understand orders in the Japanese tongue, balked. Executions followed. Forty-six were reported killed in this manner at the town of Hsiyuan. I saw two groups of corpses of Chinese farmers with their hands tied behind their backs.

Wedding Cost High

JUDITH ALLEN.

MRS. DELPHINE GOODE.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Jack Doyle, Belfast's boxing baritone, declared indignantly that it may cost him $50,000 to marry Mrs. Delphine Dodge Cromwell Baker Goode, heiress.

That, he explained, is the amount his estranged wife, Judith Allen of the films, wants to accept service on his divorce suit.

"Too much," he declared.

Doyle and Mrs. Goode recently announced their intention of getting divorces so they could wed. Doyle said he is here to persuade Miss Allen to coöperate.

"But if I don't get any better coöperation than this, the wedding bells may be a long way off," he said.

Limb Breaks; Apple Picker Falls 18 Feet to His Death

Waukesha, Wis., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—An 18 foot fall from a crab apple tree proved fatal today to Homer Pearson, 39, of West Bend. STOPS TO SAVE DOG; BABY TWIN DIES IN CRASH

A motorist's attempt to save a dog led to the death of a baby girl last evening. She was Margot Craig, 11 months old, one of the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Craig, 1646 South Harvey avenue, Berwyn. The accident occurred in Harlem avenue near Adams street on the Forest Park-Oak Park boundary line.

Craig was driving south in Harlem avenue. His wife, sitting beside him, was holding Margot in her lap. The other twin, Marcia, was asleep on the rear seat. Just ahead of Craig was a car driven by Edward Davis, 2228 56th avenue, Cicero.

One hundred feet north of Adams street Davis stopped abruptly to avoid hitting a dog. Craig crashed into the rear of the Davis machine. Margot, thrown out of her mother's lap against the dashboard, suffered a fractured skull. She died two hours later in the Oak Park hospital.

Teacher Dies of Injuries.

Miss Maude Post, 40 years old, 3146 Lake Park avenue, one of five women teachers of Lucy Flower Technical High school injured in an automobile collision near Crystal Lake last Wednesday, died yesterday in Sherman hospital, Elgin.

The accident occurred in highway No. 14 when the car in which the teachers were returning to Chicago from Lauderdale lake, eight miles north of Elkhorn, Wis., crashed headon into another driven by Fred Smith, a salesman living at 3723 Division street.

Driver Flees Death Crash.

William Kasmierczak, 2326 Madill avenue, a shipping clerk, was killed and his wife, Loretta, and a couple riding with them were injured in a collision at Cortland and Leavitt streets. The occupants of the other car fled. There were no license plates on this car.

The passengers in the Kasmierczak car were Miss Evelyn Anders, who lives in their home, and Clarence Kruse, 2336 Shakespeare avenue. All were taken to St. Elizabeth's hospital.

Charles Lynde, 66 years old, 1340 West 104th street, died in the Little Company of Mary hospital of injuries suffered in an automobile accident at 104th street and Vincennes avenue on Friday. According to police, he walked against the side of a moving car driven by Rachel Hampden, colored, 1858 West 118th street.

Telegraph Messenger Killed.

Shirrel Hastings, 1513 East 86th street, a messenger for the Postal Telegraph and Cable company office at 5307 Hyde Park boulevard, was knocked from his bicycle and killed when he was struck at 43rd street and Michigan avenue by a truck driven by Samuel Wade, colored, 4320 St. Lawrence avenue. Wade was held by the Wabash avenue police.

Five persons were injured yesterday in a collision in Washington boulevard, 150 feet east of Hamlin avenue. One car was driven by Mike Trant, 24 years old, 3411 Franklin boulevard. According to Sergt. William Uher of the park district, Trant had been drinking. He was placed under guard at Garfield Park hospital, where he was treated for minor injuries. He was charged with reckless driving.

Driving the other car was Mrs. Lillian Moring, 17 East Stevenson street, Freeport. With her were her husband, Samuel, and Mr. and Mrs. Max Howe, also of Freeport. They were taken to Robert Burns hospital. According to Sergt. Uher, Trant, driving west, was on the wrong side of the street.

The body of a man killed by a nonstop motorist at 38th street and Union avenue Saturday night remained unidentified yesterday at Mueller's undertaking rooms, 3224 Armitage avenue. The victim was about 43 years old.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 747 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 576 were killed in Chicago, where 16,205 were injured in the same period.

SCHOOLS REMAIN CLOSED TO AWAIT PARALYSIS WANE

Bundesen Unable to Tell Opening Date.

LESSON BROADCASTS.
The schedule for today's lesson broadcasts for Chicago elementary school pupils, with stations, times, and subjects listed according to grades, appears in this edition with the other radio programs on page 21.

Chicago's elementary schools will remain closed today because of the prevalence of infantile paralysis among children under 13 years old. Beyond that Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, yesterday would make no prediction.

"It may be possible by Tuesday to consider a different recommendation to the board of education, but because of the increase in the number of cases on Saturday the time for any action to open the schools is unpredictable," said Dr. Bundesen. "Certainly the setting of a date is not justified now."

He referred to seven new cases and eight suspected cases of infantile paralysis reported Saturday, after a decline on Thursday and Friday to four new cases each day.

"I am watching the situation, particularly the allocation of respirators, or iron lungs, from hour to hour," he said.

Calls Reports Guesswork.

In reply to a report that 320,000 grade school pupils might be able to return to school tomorrow or Wednesday, Dr. Bundesen said:

"Any one who says the schools will open on such and such a day is just guessing. There is no basis whatsoever for such statements."

James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, said yesterday that determination of a safe time to open the schools is entirely in the health board's hands.

Opening of the elementary schools, scheduled for Sept. 7, has been postponed because 90 per cent of an estimated 270 cases of paralysis dating from Aug. 1 have been among children under 13. High school openings were delayed until last Thursday when the board of health judged it safe for older pupils to attend classes.

Continue Radio Lessons.

Meanwhile grade school children are receiving lessons over the radio, and this practice will continue.

Parochial grade schools will remain closed as long as the board of health considers there is a danger, said the Rev. Daniel F. Cunningham, superintendent.

The Starrett school for girls, 4515 Drexel boulevard, a private boarding and day school for girls of high school age, will open today after a week's postponement because of the epidemic.

The two elementary schools of Elmwood Park will open today. George N. Wells, superintendent, said there has not been a paralysis case in Elmwood Park and the suburb's board of health considered it safe for classes to begin.

secretary, Jack Whalen, heard the sound of raised voices and fearing trouble he telephoned the captain's office. By chance the receiver hand been left off the hook and Whalen heard Davis' demands.

Quickly, Whalen telephoned the guard towers.

"They'll probably bring Larkin and the guards out," he said. "As soon as they get in the clear, start shooting."

Larkin, meanwhile, had refused to telephone the guard tower, and the convicts forced the trio into the yard, where the beleaguered men made a sudden attempt to fight away.

They drew their clubs, the only weapons they carry regularly, and began to beat off the convicts, who began slashing furiously with their knives, the source of which is a mystery.

Instructed to Disobey.

The tower guards, watching opportunities to fire on the convicts, meanwhile sent ten or twelve bullets whistling into the riot. Whether the shots were effective could not be determined. Stringent measures were taken to prevent disorder among any more of the 2,800 convicts.

Whalen recalled that Larkin in a recent address to guards instructed them what to do in such an emergency.

"If I am ever kidnaped," he said, "and I order you not to shoot and you obey my order you won't be here the next day. No matter what I tell you, you start shooting."

After the rioting had been quelled guards said they found a total of nine knives and a steel bludgeon among the convicts.

In November, 1927, 1,200 of the 2,800 prisoners in the Folsom penitentiary revolted, and battled for hours with guards and hastily called deputy sheriffs. The riot was ended only after troops had been called in. During the fighting ten convicts and a guard were killed. Five men accused of being ringleaders in the Thanksgiving day break were convicted of murder and hanged.

Wounded in Lansing Break.

Lansing, Kas., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Ed Davis, wounded in the thwarted Folsom, Cal., prison break today, escaped from the Kansas state penitentiary here with ten other felons on Memorial day of 1933.

That break, led by Wilbur Underhill, since slain in Oklahoma, and Harvey Bailey, serving life in Alcatraz for the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil man, was marked by the kidnaping of Warden Kirk Prather and two guards.

All his associates in the Kansas break had been killed or taken when Davis was captured in Los Angeles in March, 1934. He had been sought as an alleged member of the Charles [Pretty Boy] Floyd gang.

PARADE IN ST. MIHIEL CELEBRATES VICTORY OF DOUGHBOYS IN 1918

ST. MIHIEL, France, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The former doughboys now gathered in New York for the American Legion convention were remembered today as the Meuse region celebrated the capture of this town by American troops. Peasants and townsfolk lined the streets to applaud a parade, in which a large delegation of American war veterans from Paris marched at the head of infantry and artillery units of the French army. Today's events climaxed a two day celebration of the battles of Sept. 12-15, 1918, in which the American first army wiped out the St. Mihiel salient.

ITALY AGAIN PUTS 'PARITY' DEMAND BEFORE POWERS

Seeks Naval Rights Equal to Britain, France.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—British cabinet ministers will interrupt their vacations again this week to attend a special meeting of the cabinet which probably will be held Wednesday. Foreign affairs, particularly the Mediterranean situation, will be discussed.

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, who will return to London tomorrow from Birmingham, will preside, and Capt. Anthony Eden, foreign secretary, is expected back from Geneva in time to report to his colleagues.

The meeting, according to present indications, will be mainly concerned with Italy's terms for sharing the Mediterranean "anti-piracy" patrol.

Replies to Powers' Request.

Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, replied today to the request of France and Britain for a further explanation of Italy's note of Tuesday concerning the recent agreement made by nine powers at Nyon, Switzerland, for dealing with attacks on shipping.

Ciano's reply was an announcement that Italy would participate in the patrol only on the basis of absolute equality with Britain and France.

Diplomatic circles in Rome, according to reports reaching London tonight, interpret the French-British move in seeking more precise details from Italy as meaning that both London and Paris are ready to grant the Italian demands.

Anxious to Patch Up Rift.

While official quarters here were silent on the subject observers have been expecting right along that Italy will be allowed to share the patrol in equal terms in view of Chamberlain's anxiety to patch up Anglo-Italian relations. It still is doubtful, however, whether British public opinion will allow the government to yield completely to the Italian demands.

Reports from Italy said there were warlike scenes in Italian forts as ships took aboard soldiers detailed to colonial Libya.

Apart from discussing the effect of the Nyon conference on Anglo-Italian relations, the cabinet also will be preoccupied with the question of recognizing Italy's conquest of Ethiopia and the forthcoming Anglo-Italian talks in Rome.

GUILTY OF MURDER

TRIES TO KIDNAP OWN DAUGHTER; FATHER SEIZED

Valparaiso, Ind., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—William O'Neill, 42 years old, was arrested here yesterday on a charge of attempting to kidnap his own daughter, Mary Helen Kenyon, 14 years old. He was seized by the police after he had dragged the girl into his car with the intention of taking her to Chicago. He was released in $2,000 bonds.

O'Neill as a baby was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kenyon of Valparaiso and until a few months ago was known as Noel Kenyon. Then he discovered his real name is O'Neill and that he has a brother and sister in Chicago. All were taken from St. Vincent's orphanage for adoption.

O'Neill said he wished the girl to go to Chicago and live with his relatives. But Mrs. Kenyon had adopted his daughter and she is pressing the kidnaping charge. Mary Helen prefers, according to her own statement, to remain with her foster mother.

Burglars Get $3,500 from Sears Store at Waukegan

Burglars stole $3,500 in cash and $500 in checks last night from the Sears, Roebuck & Co. store at 133 South Genesee street, Waukegan. The theft was discovered by A. L. Lynn, 1318 Chestnut street, Waukegan, a clerk there. Lynn parked his car in back of the store last night and went to a movie. When he returned for his car he noticed the back door of the store had been smashed open. Investigating, he discovered the safe open and the money gone.

Parents See Their Boy, 7, Killed by Falling Timber

Richard Villafan, 7 years old, was killed yesterday on a North Western railroad sidetrack at Thatcher avenue and Hawthorne street, near River Forest. As the boy was walking along the tracks near huge piles of timber used in a Des Plaines river intercepting sewer project, several of the planks fell from the pile, striking him on the head. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Villafan, the parents of six other children, who have lived in a box car on the siding for several years, saw the tragedy.

NAB 4 OF SPANISH CREW WHO TRIED TO STEAL U-BOAT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BREST, France, Sept. 19.—A daring attempt of sympathizers with the Spanish rebel leader, Gen. Francisco Franco, to seize a submarine belonging to the Spanish loyalist government from the repair dock here was frustrated last night.

One of the raiders, a native of San Sebastian, Spain, was killed in the fight that ensued. French police at Bordeaux today arrested a captain and three sailors who were members of the raiding party, and rescued the commander and first officer of the submarine who had been kidnaped by the raiders.

The submarine C-2 was brought here three weeks ago for repairs which were completed yesterday and the craft pronounced seaworthy.

Pose As Friendly Visitors.

The submarine C-4, nominally a Spanish government submarine, but whose officers and crew were sympathetic to the rebel cause, put in several days ago at Bordeaux for repairs. Yesterday Capt. Jesus de la Hara and eleven members of the crew drove to Brest.

At 10 o'clock last night the twelve men dressed in civilian clothes came alongside the C-2 in a launch and Capt. de la Hara explained he had come to make a courtesy call.

After introductions inside the C-2 De la Hara explained he was eager to get back into the war and offered the C-2's commander, José Luis Fernando, a sum of money to exchange submarines. The C-2's captain refused, saying he, too, was eager for action.

Sentry Begins Firing.

The raiders began tying up the C-2's crew, but attracted the attention of the sentry on deck who sounded the alarm siren and began firing into de la Hara's men killing one. The raiders seized Capt. Fernando of the C-2 and his first officer, jumped into the launch and fled.

WIFE TRIES AGAIN FOR RELEASE OF AVIATOR DAHL

CANNES, France, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Harold E. Dahl telegraphed a new appeal today to Generalissimo Francisco Franco for the release of her aviator husband, held by the Spanish rebels as a prisoner of war. Dahl, an American from Champaign, Ill., was captured in July while flying with the Spanish government air force.

Although his pretty young wife has been informed that her previous letter of appeal reached Gen. Franco and resulted in his agreeing to exchange Dahl for a rebel aviator captured by the government, she said her new message was "just to make sure."

She said she had received a letter from her husband in which he expressed hope her letter to Gen. Franco had done "some good." He said he was suffering from a stomach ailment. Mrs. Dahl has considered going personally to rebel headquarters at Salamanca to work for her husband's release, but she wanted to make certain Gen. Franco had received her messages before doing so.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A strong earthshock was felt here today. It caused a panic among residents, but no damage was reported.

Student Pilot Killed on Stolen Aerial Joyride

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Joseph Okoski Jr., student pilot 22 years old, was killed this afternoon when his instructor's plane crashed at an airport here. F. J. Fleck, who operates a flying school, said Okoski had taken the plane up without his permission.

REBELS PROMISE QUICK DRIVE TO RELIEVE OVIEDO

See Early Cleanup of Push in North Spain.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Spanish rebel army leaders predicted today the 14-months' siege of Oviedo's rebel garrison would be lifted within two weeks and Gijon—last important government-held city in northwest Spain—would fall soon thereafter.

Encouraged by the easy victory in Saturday's battle of Mount Pajares, on the southern boundary of Asturias province, rebel troops pushed rapidly northward along the main highway to Oviedo and Gijon, encountering only feeble resistance from disorganized Asturian defenders. They were little more than 30 miles from Gijon, on the Bay of Biscay.

3,000 Troops Pocketed.

Around Mount Pajares rebels were mopping up 3,000 Asturian soldiers pocketed when other government troops retreated northward to Lena and Mieres, the last two towns of any size en route to Oviedo and Gijon. Rebel dispatches said the 3,000 trapped Asturians faced surrender or destruction.

Less than a third of Asturias Province remains in government hands, rebels report. Columns closing in from the east and west, in connection with the one advancing northward from Pajares, were steadily reducing this triangular area. The columns advancing from the west captured the town of San Antolio.

Rebels said their lines run roughly northwest from Pajares to Pravia, on the Bay of Biscay coast some 30 miles west of Gijon. On this western Asturias front, rebels reported seizing trench lines south of Oviedo and inflicting heavy losses on government troops. Forty rebel planes bombed the area.

Surround Inland Towns.

To the east, where a rebel column is approaching Ribadesella, 32 miles east of Gijon, rebels said they enveloped Posada and other inland towns in the hills.

However, Asturians sprang a furious surprise attack on the rebel line along the valley of the Sella river. Military dispatches said it was the heaviest battle to date in the rebel campaign. Both sides suffered heavy losses. The rebels were thrown back by the sudden infantry attack. Finally reenforced, they fought back to their original positions. Fighting continued during the night.

Four Warships Battle.

MADRID, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Spanish government reports said tonight the rebel cruiser Baleares battled three Spanish government destroyers off the eastern Spanish coast at Cartagena. Brief government dispatches said two of the destroyers were hit by shells, but the extent of the damage was not reported.

It was also reported a government supply ship had run the rebel blockade to besieged Minorca island, off eastern Spain, evading attacks of the rebel cruiser Canarias. Two of three convoying destroyers engaged the Canarias, while the third escorted the ship to the island.

SAFETY BOARD TO BACK DRIVING LICENSE BILL

Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, who was named chairman of a special Illinois highway safety commission Saturday by Gov. Horner, yesterday was awaiting acceptances from the other 175 Chicago and downstate leaders appointed to the commission. These are expected within a few days, he said, and a conference will then be called to map a definite program. Hayes said it was generally agreed the program will include efforts to secure passage of drivers' license and drivers' financial responsibility bills at the next session of the legislature, whether this be a special or a regular session.

FANFARE AND ADIEU

By CALEB

"THE greatest laugh-maker ever produced—the funniest, laughingest film that ever left Hollywood. A hilarious, uproarious wow! Here are funny people and funny incidents—funnier than ever—a picture tenfold funnier than its funniest predecessor."

Thus do movie makers bill their productions.

Or—"The sweetest story ever told. Here is romance, love, suspense, revenge, adventure, and mystery, in the greatest emotion-provoking production of the century. Here is the love story of all times—the most tender love experiences of the world's celebrated lovers eclipsed by the love of a modern boy for an old-fashioned girl! A thrill in every heartbeat! Glamor and glory in a touch-and-go with gore and grief—and a climax such as no other picture ever produced could sustain. This picture will capsize and submerge you, and do things to you you never believed anybody or any picture could!"

Thus do the movie-makers work off their fever and flair for fabulous announcements. But their creations do not always live up to the tremendous birth applause of their creators. The fanfare is often followed by a peaceful, quiet slipping into limbo. Fanfare and then adieu!

A department store is a staid and sober, plugging sort of advertiser compared with picture producers. Their style adapted to an advertisement for a dress might exuberantly say, "The most beautiful dress ever designed. Makes fat people look thin, and thin people look plump. It will hide every defect and magnify every charm. Eighteen yards long, sixteen hands high—it will wear like iron and look like paradise in May. Made with loving care! Every stitch a masterpiece! The braid and buttons materialize the happy sighs and creative thoughts of artists who live and die for just such creative accomplishments!"

Well, I suppose the department store is better off as things are. Each cobbler to his last.

Reënactment of the attack on Fleville during the Meuse-Argonne offensive of the world war before 20,000 veterans of the First Division, A. E. F., who took part in the battle, will be one of the most colorful of all the events during the convention. The program will take place at Governors Island Wednesday afternoon.

500 of Unit from Illinois.

More than 500 Legionnaires of the First division from Illinois, including 200 from Chicago, are here for the largest reunion of the famous fighting unit. Among the Chicagoans participating in the ceremonies is Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, retired, now vice president of a large department store. The entire membership of the Cantigny First Division post, American Legion of Chicago has arrived for the event.

The wartime commanders of the division, Gen. Parker, Lieut. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, retired, and Lieut. Gen. Robert Lee Bullard, retired, will be guests of honor and will witness the reënactment of the battle. A company of the 16th infantry, aided by machine gun and howitzer platoons, will stage the Fleville attack which took place on Oct. 4, 1918. The event will be described over a nation-wide hookup.

ENGINEER ENTERS MIXER; IS KILLED WHEN IT STARTS

Ralph Jilly, 34 years old, safety engineer for the Orenda corporation in Wilmington, Ill., died yesterday in the Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, the victim of an unusual accident. Jilly, whose home is in Wilmington, went to the Orenda plant yesterday forenoon to take measurements inside an asbestos mixing machine. Before entering the mixer, Jilly shut off and locked the switch that sets the machinery in motion. While he was inside, John Wilson, plant foreman arrived to clean and inspect the machinery. He unlocked the switch and turned on the current.

He discovered the accident when a fuse blew out. He found Jilly still alive. The victim is survived by his widow, Doris, and a small son.

ARRESTED CARRYING STOCK OF GOODS.

Thomas Budrik, 36 years old, 3044 South Tripp avenue, was arrested yesterday carrying a radio and a large stock of tobacco, cigars, and cigarets. Budrik said he had found the merchandise.

Chicagoan Is Seized as Postal Raid Suspect

Clintonville, Wis., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Sherif Duncan Campbell of Waupaca county tomorrow will question a man who gave his name as Emil Mulhausen and his address as Chicago, in connection with the robbery of the postoffice here yesterday. He was arrested at Bear Creek Corners, near here, because he answered the description of the driver of the bandit car. Officer Leo Kesting said the suspect has been employed at a lumber camp and when arrested was wearing lumberjack clothes. He doubted Mulhausen was one of the two bandits.

WHEN TOWN DIES, MOVE IT, NATION'S PLANNERS URGE

Find No Excuse for Cities Without Industries.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A presidential committee suggested today that economically decadent cities be reorganized or their inhabitants resettled.

The recommendation was made by a subcommittee of President Roosevelt's national resources committee in pointing out what the President termed "the ways of dealing with many emerging and critical trends of urban life."

Existence Unjustified.

Studying the subject of depressed cities and industries, the committee reported:

"Generally speaking, the continued existence of a community and an industry cannot be justified if in the long run it fails to afford its inhabitants or workers a minimum level of existence consistent with an expanding American standard of living. Such communities and such industries are liabilities to the nation because they do not make their full contribution to our national life. . . .

"In order to decrease the dangers to family, community, and national life inherent in decadent communities and chronically depressed industries, the committee recommends that the federal government periodically undertake an appraisal of the standards of life in urban communities. . . .

Jobs May Be Provided.

"If private enterprise cannot or does not solve the problem of submarginal communities, then the government should supplement in appropriate cases the local resources or opportunities for employment, as it is doing in the case of depressed rural areas. . . .

"Where, because of a disappearing economic base, the conditions seem to be chronic and appear to offer no promise of self-support at an acceptable minimum standard, the reorganization of the community or a program of resettlement will have to be undertaken jointly by the several governmental units involved."

Proving Overwhelming Preference for FULLY AUTOMATIC GAS HEAT!

● A survey shows that Gas Heat was chosen for slightly more than 80% of the new homes with automatic heat built for occupancy or sale in Chicago during the past year.

This overwhelming preference for Gas Heat is due to the comfort, convenience, cleanliness and economy it gives the user. But it must be remembered also that the selection of Gas Heat in most instances was made not only at the wish of the home owner or builder, but on the recommendation of his architect or contractor, or both!

Among real estate operators who develop subdivisions by building houses for sale, the swing is to Gas Heat. One development of 20 homes went 100 per cent Gas—for heating, refrigeration, automatic water heating, and, of course, for cooking. Another development of 120 homes went completely Gas Heat . . . and so on.

One of the reasons for the swing to Gas Heat is because accurate cost records prove that its unparalleled service is actually low in cost. The average bill for heating Chicago homes with gas in 1934-35 (Mild Winter) was $155; in 1935-36 (Extremely Cold) $174; in 1936-37 (Normal Winter), $158. Many, many homes were heated for far less than the average cost. But, even where the cost is a few dollars more, Gas Heat is worth much more, because Gas is the Only Fully Automatic Heating Service.

One of the many new home developments in Chicago having automatic heat, of which more than 80% are gas heated

ROOSEVELT SETS OCT. 5 FOR LINK BRIDGE SPEECH

Confirmation was received in Chicago last night that President Roosevelt will be here on Oct. 5 to dedicate the new outer drive bridge. His speech will be delivered in a tensely dramatic setting.

The Supreme court is to meet on Oct. 4, and it will be known before Mr. Roosevelt's arrival in Chicago from the west coast whether Justice Hugo Black is to take his seat. Whatever the outcome of the Black-klan imbroglio, the President's words are certain to be weighed carefully for some hint of his views.

A definite announcement that he would speak here and at Bonneville dam, on the Oregon-Washington line, was made last night at Hyde Park, the President's New York estate.

Mayor Kelly in the morning had extended a personal invitation to the dedication and also to a luncheon. It was not certain that the President would attend the luncheon.

May Stop Only an Hour or Two.

The presidential special, rolling eastward after his visit to his daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger, and his grandchildren in Seattle, probably will arrive here about noon. It was indicated that Mr. Roosevelt might stay only an hour or two.

Plans for his western trip are now regarded as virtually complete. He is to leave Hyde Park Wednesday night and pass through Chicago on Thursday. It is expected that the westward journey will be by way of Minneapolis and through North Dakota and Idaho. The return trip probably will take Mr. Roosevelt through Wyoming and Nebraska.

Dedication Plans Hastened.

The transcontinental trip, it is believed, will be used as a medium of carrying on the presidential fight for what the administration calls a liberal, or layman's, interpretation of the constitution. This, coupled with the Supreme court meeting on Oct. 4, may make the Chicago speech the most important on the trip.

Chicago's officials and the Charter Jubilee committee hastened their plans for the bridge dedication.

Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes said that the entire program that had been formulated for Saturday, Oct. 9 would be presented on Tuesday, the 5th.

Pageant Is Planned.

"This will entail extra work," he said. "The parade preceding the dedication will be a pageant display ing the history of Chicago transportation, from the Indian canoe to the automobile and the airplane."

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, who first carried Mayor Kelly's invitation to the President, and Harry Hopkins, federal relief administrator, will be present for the dedication. The bridge is an $11,000,000 structure that is to relieve north-south arteries.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the Chicago parks district, announced that he and members of the jubilee committee, of which John McKinlay is chairman, would meet today to outline the ceremonies more clearly.

Cross Burns Again

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

York, Pa., Sept. 19.—(AP)—White robed delegates of the Ku Klux Klan in Pennsylvania voted in state convention yesterday to support President Roosevelt in the controversy over his appointment of Senator Hugo L. Black to the Supreme court.

The grand dragon, who declined to divulge his identity except to say he is a southeastern Pennsylvania businessman, was the spokesman for the convention. He announced at noon that a statement on the Black incident would be issued at the close of the conclave. He asserted the attitude of the klan was to support the President "four square" in any action he might take.

The grand dragon said the Pennsylvania klan could see no reason why there should be any discrimination against their members holding public office.

ROOSEVELT ACTS REVIVE TALK OF PARTY ALLIANCE

Court and Klan Add to Democrat Cleavage.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Events of the last week have produced more discussion in political circles of a party realignment, in which the conservative and constitutional liberal Democrats would unite with the Republicans against the Roosevelt radicals, than has been heard since the 1936 election.

The incident giving greatest impetus to these discussions was the disclosure that Hugo L. Black, President Roosevelt's first appointee to the Supreme court, is a member of the bigoted Ku Klux Klan. The Black-Klan scandal, however, was merely a climax in the great political drama growing out of Mr. Roosevelt's scheme to pack the Supreme court.

The President's Constitution day address, demanding interpretation of the fundamental document as a "layman's charter," fits into the same picture, and so does his forthcoming trip to the west coast, which will carry him through the home states of half a dozen Democratic senators who opposed the court packing scheme.

Another development of the week which increased the talk of a political realignment was the New York primary election, which, according to Senator Royal S. Copeland, anti-Roosevelt Democrat who was defeated for the mayoralty nomination, left no place for the conservatives of both parties to go in November.

The fifth important political event of the week was President Roosevelt's conference and apparent rapprochement with John L. Lewis, dictator of the radical C. I. O., the affiliated unions of which contributed more than $600,000 toward the reëlection of the President last year.

The most significant political realignment statement of the week came from Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], who has been regarded as the most logical Republican standard bearer in 1940.

Senator Vandenberg referred at Bay City, Mich., to the coalition of Republicans and Democrats which was responsible for the disastrous defeat of Mr. Roosevelt's court packing bill; to the emasculation in the senate and the shelving in the house of the administration's wages and hours bill; to the drastic modification of the Wagner housing bill; to the sidetracking of the revolutionary government reorganization scheme.

It is known that Senator Vandenberg for some time has been discussing the desirability of a political realignment, but he did so publicly for the first time this week.

ISOLATION HIT BY HULL; SEEKS TRADE TREATIES

Eden Confident Pact Will Be Made.

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Hope that a reciprocal trade agreement between Great Britain and the United States would be concluded soon was expressed today by Anthony Eden, British foreign minister, in the course of an international radio broadcast under the sponsorship of the national peace conference. This expressed hope was given indirect support by Cordell Hull, secretary of state, who warned against the inherent dangers in an American policy of extreme isolation.

Eden, who spoke from Geneva, Switzerland, declared he was confident that an agreement between the two nations for the reduction of customs duties on a most favored nation basis "would surely redound not only to our advantage but to that of the whole world."

Hull on Same Program.

Secretary Hull, who spoke from a New York studio in the same broadcast, warned the nation that a policy of extreme isolation would be doomed to failure and called for the rebuilding of international commerce through the medium of trade agreements as an aid to the maintenance of peace.

Mr. Hull summarized the "real terms of peace," to which he said the United States was pledged, as follows: "National and international patience and self-restraint; avoidance of force in the pursuit of policy; noninterference in the internal affairs of other nations; the use of peaceful methods to adjust differences; the faithful observance of agreements; the modification of such agreements, when essential, by mutual understanding and orderly process; the reduction and limitation of overburdening military armaments, and coöperation and interchange in the economic field."

Premier Camille Chautemps of France, Prime Minister William L. Mackenzie King of Canada, Premier Paul van Zeeland of Belgium, Premier Mylan Hodza of Czechoslovakia, and President Alfonso Lopez of Colombia also were heard, while a statement was read on behalf of Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg of Austria.

Willing to Coöperate.

The speakers united in setting forth their faith in the revival of international trade through the reduction of governmental intervention and each of them declared the willingness of his government to follow a policy of economic coöperation, although several qualified these statements.

The program was arranged by the national peace conference, composed of forty organizations with a membership of 60 million persons. Meetings in more than 500 cities and towns in the United States were organized to listen to the broadcast.

Peace Demand Grows.

Hull opened the discussion by asserting that the forces demanding peace have grown tremendously in recent decades, but that they now face a testing time.

Declaring it was a great temptation for some countries, including the United States, to attempt a policy of complete isolation, Hull said this would be as ineffective in its ultimate results as the opposite extreme of constant intervention in the affairs of other nations.

Without specifically referring to the Sino-Japanese conflict, Mr. Hull declared that "any nation which shows no concern for the safety or activities of its nationals abroad would soon expose itself to the flouting of elementary rights."

British Praise Hull Speech.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 20 [Monday].—The British press this morning seized upon the anti-isolation speech of Cordell Hull, American secretary of state, to urge closer ties between Great Britain and the United States.

Hull's pronouncement, coming on the heels of President Roosevelt's denunciation of dictators, is interpreted by British officials working for closer coöperation with America as indicating a change in the American attitude toward the outside world.

The speech was given prominent play in all the London papers, and Hull lauded as a "courageous" exponent of American foreign policy by those who would like to see the United States dragged into European affairs.

Unfinished Journey

(Story in adjoining column.)

Black line shows 4,800 mile route by plane and train by which Col. Jesus Ugarte hoped to reach Rochester clinic in fight for life. The dotted line between Chicago and Rochester shows all of the journey that was left to be traveled when he died on a train in Chicago.

SYPHILIS TESTS TO BE INCREASED TO 5,000 A DAY

Dr. Louis Schmidt, secretary of the board of health and chairman of Mayor Kelly's committee for control of venereal diseases, announced yesterday that plans are going forward which will enable public and private laboratories to handle 5,000 syphilis tests a day by Oct. 15. An average of 1,000 tests are made daily at present. Coöperation of 5,000 physicians of the Chicago Medical society and the adoption of Kahn tests in place of the slower Wassermann method are to be important factors in increasing the number of examinations for syphilis.

Two Men Drowned in Lake at Bloomington

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—William A. Schliph, 26 years old, farm implement dealer of El Paso, Ill., drowned today in Lake Bloomington when he attempted to rescue an employé, George Klimartin, 28, of Bloomington, who also drowned.

HIGH PERUVIAN ARMY OFFICER DIES IN CHICAGO

Col. Jesus Ugarte on Way to Rochester Clinic.

A dramatic 4,800 mile race against death by airplane, ambulance, and railroad train across two continents, and over open seas ended in Chicago yesterday with death the winner.

The loser was Col. Jesus C. Ugarte, 53 years old, of Lima, Peru, distinguished South American soldier, commander of the Peruvian cavalry, and brother-in-law of Federico Hurtado, Peruvian minister of war. He died on the Dixie Flyer of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad, inbound from Miami, Fla., when it was 10 minutes out of the Dearborn street station. He was on his way to the Mayo clinic in Rochester, Minn.

Col. Ugarte's thrilling race with death started in Lima early in the week after his condition from a long ailment had grown acute. He was suffering from lymph lukemia, a blood disease characterized by an insufficiency of white corpuscles. Nothing more could be done for him at home, and his medical advisers as a last resort ordered an emergency flight to the United States.

With high Peruvian officials wishing him good luck, Col. Ugrate was placed aboard a chartered plane at Callao, port of Lima, and headed for Miami, approximately 3,000 miles away. Col. Roberto Lopez, member of the Peruvian war ministry, accompanied him. The race over seas, mountains and jungles was speedily accomplished, but Col. Ugarte was losing ground.

Doctor Arranges Trip.

At Miami the stricken soldier was given into the care of Dr. Donald A. Marion, who hurriedly arranged the last laps of the race to Rochester, home of the Mayo clinic, 1,839 miles distant.

Col. Ugarte was put aboard a train, it being decided to sacrifice the precious speed of a plane for the sake of his comfort and the better care that was possible. Dr. Marion and Col. Lopez went along. At Jacksonville, Fla., a transfer was made to the Chicago bound Dixie Flyer by means of a special air-conditioned ambulance. Miss Josephine Cline, an interpreter, was taken aboard there.

346 Miles from Goal.

On the 1,493 mile train journey to Chicago it became apparent that death would be the victor in the race, although not a necessary hour had been lost. At 7:25 a. m. yesterday, as the train was almost in sight of the Chicago station, Col. Ugarte died—346 miles short of his goal.

Dr. Marion immediately notified Volney Foster, Peruvian consul to Chicago, of Col. Ugarte's death, and the latter cabled the Peruvian government. According to Mr. Foster, Col. Ugarte was one of Peru's leading military and political figures, and particularly distinguished as a cavalry officer. He leaves a widow and a young daughter, Dora. The body was taken to the Kowske undertaking rooms, 1503 West 51st street.

CONVOY YACHT JOINS IN HUNT FOR ENDEAVOUR

Newport, R. I., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—The yacht Viva II., having been refueled, left the harbor here this morning in command of Captain Wallace Grint, bound home to England. On her way across the Viva will search for trace of Endeavour I., which broke away from Viva last Monday night in a hurricane blow and has not been reported since.

The weather was clear at the time of departure, but later in the day clouds appeared, the wind picked up and there were intermittent rain squalls.

Watchers on two sides of the Atlantic pinned chief hope for the safety of the Endeavour and her twenty men on the possibility the craft might have continued to England after losing her convoy.

JOANNA DE TUSCAN, fencing champion: "I enjoy smoking so much—and I find that with Camels I can smoke often. Camels don't give me ragged nerves."

FRED McDANIEL, Texas rancher: "Me and Camels have been getting along mighty fine now for over 15 years. I never saw the beat of Camels for tastiness."

HERB LEWIS, Detroit ice hockey star: "I go for Camels in a big way. After an exhausting game—extra periods and all—they raise up my flow of energy—give me an invigorating 'lift.'"

IRENE SHERWOOD, shopper: "Noon-time is one of my busiest times. 'For digestion's sake—smoke Camels' means so much to me. A Camel or two, and my luncheon goes smoothly."

CAN PEOPLE REALLY TELL THE DIFFERENCE IN CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCOS?

The Best Answer is This...

Camels are the Largest-Selling cigarette in America

Year in and year out, Camel pays millions more for finer tobaccos. And smokers do appreciate the added pleasure this means to them!

CAMEL'S use of choicer, costlier tobaccos has been the subject of much discussion. The question has often been raised as to whether or not people could tell the difference.

The way smokers feel toward Camels gives the answer! Camels enjoy a special regard among smokers. They are the largest-selling cigarette in America...or the world.

If you are not a Camel smoker, perhaps you, too, would enjoy a cigarette with a richer, cooler taste. Turn, then, to Camels. Judge them critically! Put them to the severest test—smoke them steadily. As you enjoy your Camels, you'll realize how true it is that there is no substitute for costlier tobaccos.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS IN A MATCHLESS BLEND

Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic. The skillful blending of leaf with leaf brings out the full, delicate flavor and mildness of these choice tobaccos. That's why Camels have given more people more pleasure than any other cigarette.

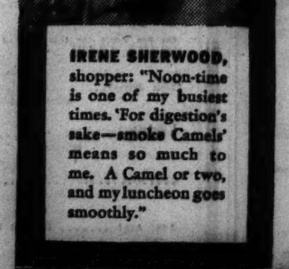
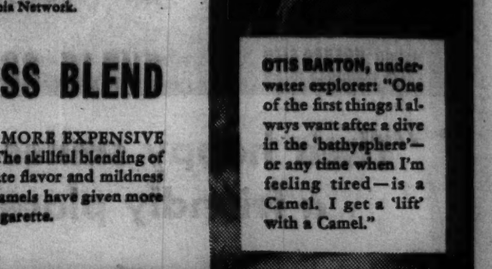
MRS. J. W. ROCKEFELLER, JR., society aviatrix: "I prefer Camels for steady smoking. I can smoke as many as I please—they don't get on my nerves. And I get a 'lift' with a Camel."

OTIS BARTON, underwater explorer: "One of the first things I always want after a dive in the 'bathysphere'—or any time when I'm feeling tired—is a Camel. I get a 'lift' with a Camel."



HENRY SHOWDON, college wrestler: "After a tough match—or any time I'm feeling tired—I get a 'lift' in energy with a Camel. It's a mighty pleasant feeling."

MRS. VINCENT MURRAY, home-maker: "Believe me, I appreciate how mild Camels are! I smoke steadily and Camels don't have any 'cigaretty' after-taste."



RAY WINTERS, radio announcer: "Camels suit me! And that goes for my throat especially. Can't remember when Camels ever scratched my throat."

POLITE COP GIVES TRICYCLE TRAFIC A HAND; WINS $5

Smiles Through Barrage of Questions.

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

Chicago policemen are polite. Twelve of them, harried with Sunday's heavy trafic, proved that beyond doubt yesterday when each of them answered a barrage of questions put by an inquiring reporter. But to one, because of his thoughtfulness for a little girl, goes THE TRIBUNE'S daily politeness award of $5.

He is Frank Brilla, 2713 Southport avenue, a park policeman who has directed trafic at Diversey parkway and Sheridan road for three years. The little girl was one of thousands who come to cross his corners during the busy summer and fall months. Mr. Brilla is a quiet spoken man, 44 years old, and somewhat weatherbeaten.

He Knows the Answers.

He answers hundreds of questions daily, designating hotels and streets, and giving other directions to strangers. He assists apartment hunters who seek his advice, and spends a great deal of his time pointing out the nearby sign indicating the Lincoln park zoo. The reporter asked him that one again yesterday and got a courteous reply.

"And the Brookfield zoo?" he was asked. "Where is it, in Jackson park?"

"O, no," he answered, "the Brookfield zoo is way out. You take . . ."

And he painstakingly explained the route to Brookfield.

"I want to see the Field museum and that Planetarium, too," the reporter said. "Is that the one that has tha coal mine in it?"

Mr. Brilla looked amused. "Now what would a coal mine be doing in a place where you study the stars?" he chided. "That coal mine is at the Rosenwald Museum of Science and Industry on the south side. The Planetarium, the Aquarium and the Field museum are the three you see together. You take any bus that comes along here and transfer at Wacker drive. Just tell the driver where you want to go."

Questions Keep Coming.

He turned away to help a woman pushing a baby carriage.

"But I've heard of a place downtown that nobody can ever find," his inquisitor continued. "The Goodman theater . . . where is it?"

"The Goodman, hmmm," he pondered, "that's at 8th street, I think. Wait, I'll see." He pulled out a worn typewritten list and scanned it quickly. "No, I'm wrong! That's at the back of the Art institute. You have to go over to Monroe street to get in."

Then he interrupted the interrogation. A child mounted on a shiny red tricycle was waiting at the curb. Quickly, with an arm raised, he stopped the stream of automobiles and strode to her. Gravely he set her velocipede down on the pavement. Then walking beside her while she pedaled along he escorted her to the other side of Sheridan road. He bowed seriously and turned back.

Then—That's Better!

As he rejoined his questioner at the safety island, and motioned for trafic to proceed, he watched the little girl wheel away on the sidewalk.

"What's a copper for," he asked, "if he can't help a lady across the street?"

VICTIMS IDENTIFY ROBBER KILLED IN HOME BARRICADE

Felix Keren, 23 years old, escaped convict, who was fatally wounded after he had barricaded himself in a Rogers Park home at 2557 Farwell avenue and for an hour withstood a tear gas bomb and gun siege Saturday night, was identified by other robbery victims yesterday. He was burglarizing the home when the police surrounded the building.

Keren was found in the basement of the home, shot through the abdomen, when the police forced an entrance through a basement door. He died later at Bridewell hospital.

At the county morgue his body was viewed by Dr. Gerritt Cotts, 2701 Farwell avenue. Dr. Cotts identified him as the burglar whom he surprised robbing his home last Wednesday.

Another victim who identified the convict was Frank Gibbs, 538 North Cuyler avenue, Oak Park, who said Keren held him up back of his home Sept. 10 and drove away with his car after taking $8 in currency.

BOY EATS PAINT FLAKES; DIES.

Raymond Mitchell, 2 years old, who was seized with convulsions Friday after he swallowed flakes of paint from the porch of his home at 3441 Emerald avenue, died yesterday at Evangelical hospital, supposedly of lead poisoning.

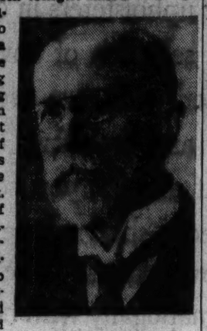
CZECHS WAIT IN RAIN TO GLIMPSE MASARYK'S BIER

Three Mile Queue Holds Fast During Storm.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 19.—A rainstorm tonight failed to budge tens of thousands who stood in a queue three miles long awaiting their turn to file past the coffin of Dr. Thomas Garrigue Masaryk. The body of their liberator and former president, who died Tuesday, rested in the old imperial castle on a hill overlooking Prague.



Dr. Thomas G. Masaryk.

Only after great efforts did police officers and the Red Cross succeed in inducing children and the aged to leave the queue and return to their homes instead of remaining out in the storm.

Pour in from Provinces.

More than 200,000 persons in the last 36 hours paid their last homage to the man to whom they feel they owe their liberation as a nation. Many of them came from the provinces in special trains and buses.

Prague expects another 250,000 to pour into its picturesque walls tomorrow and Tuesday for the final ceremony. Burial will be in Lany village. Tomorrow the senate and the chamber of deputies will hold a session at which tribute will be paid to Dr. Masaryk. Deputations from France, Rumania, and Jugo-Slavia arrived today and more will come tomorrow.

Flags and Wreaths from U. S.

American flags which adorned the wreaths sent by friendly organizations in America caused a flutter of excitement among the downcast crowd.

The mourners packed the streets so closely that automobiles avoided many of the main thoroughfares because they were unable to inch their way through the crowds.

HONORED IN CHICAGO

More than 4,000 persons crowded into the Chicago Civic Opera building and loud speakers were erected outside for an overflow crowd that attended the impressive memorial services yesterday afternoon for Thomas Garigue Masaryk, first president of the Czechoslovak republic, who died recently in his European home.

The services were in charge of Dr. Jaroslav F. Smetanka, Czechoslovakian consul general in Chicago, the Czechoslovak National Council of America, and other Czechoslovak organizations of Chicago.

Mayor Kelly Represented.

John A. Toman, sherif of Cook county, represented Mayor Edward F. Kelly. Other prominent persons present were Congressman A. J. Sabath, Attorney General Otto Kerner of Illinois, and Judges Joseph Sabath, LaBuy, Drucker, Weiss, and Chief Justice Sonsteby of the Municipal court. Various Chicago consuls of foreign countries attended.

War veterans massed their colors at the rear of the stage, and taps was blown at the beginning of the service.

Dr. Smetanka Speaks.

Assisting in the arrangements of the program were John A. Cervinka and V. F. Cipra, president and secretary of the Czechoslovak National Council of America.

HITLER APPOINTS FOREIGN CHIEF TO HIS BODYGUARD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German foreign minister, has been granted the honorary rank of Gruppenfuehrer [group leader] of the Schutz Staffel [picked guards] by Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

In Nazi circles this is regarded as the highest honor that can be paid, as Von Neurath also becomes an honorary member of Hitler's bodyguard and is entitled to wear a ribbon with the inscription: "Adolf Hitler" on his new black uniform.

Von Neurath already wears the golden party badge awarded to him by Hitler, although he is not a member of the Nazi party. The new honor, it is said, shows the Fuehrer's complete confidence in his foreign minister.

GUN VICTIM DIES WITHOUT SEEING HIS HEROIC SON

Samuel Speredes, 44 years old, 1448 Wilmette avenue, Wilmette, died at the Mother Cabrini hospital yesterday of bullet wounds suffered in a battle with three colored robbers early Saturday in his tavern and restaurant at 1307 Roosevelt road.

Speredes' son, John, a student at the New Trier High school, who was wounded in the chin and right shoulder when he went to the aid of his father and grappled with one of the robbers, is under treatment at the County hospital.

Several hours before his death the elder Speredes requested that he be allowed to see his son. Physicians at the County hospital held that John's condition was favorable enough to warant the trip and friends took him to the Mother Cabrini hospital in an automobile, but when he arrived his father was dead. Young Speredes was then returned to the County hospital.

ILLINOIS LABOR FEDERATION TO CONVENE TODAY

Report Gain in Members for Year.

More than 800 delegates, representing 400,000 union members, will gather in La Salle today for the opening of the 55th annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Labor. At meetings during the week all phases of current labor issues will be discussed.

The convention promises to be one of the most important held by the state labor group because it is the first since the unions affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization were expelled.

Tells of Membership Gain.

Reuben G. Soderstrom of Streator, president of the state federation, asserted that the Illinois group of the American Federation of Labor has increased its membership by 43,000 in the last year. This gain was accomplished despite the loss of unions ousted because of C. I. O. affiliation.

Soderstrom said 17,000 members were added when the Progressive Miners of America became affiliated with the federation. The Progressive miners' group is a rival of the United Mine Workers of America, which is dominated by John L. Lewis, C. I. O. leader.

The federation lost the United Mine Workers, Amalgamated Clothing Workers, the Flat Glass Workers, and the International Ladies' Garment Workers unions. All went over to the C. I. O.

Green to Address Delegates.

Soderstrom will make his report to the convention during the morning sessions. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, will address one of the meetings during the week. Other speakers will include Gov. Horner, Judge Oscar Nelson of the Circuit court, State Senator John M. Lee of Chicago, and Speaker Louie E. Lewis of the Illinois house of representatives.

NAME JOSEPH KEENAN AS SECRETARY OF CITY FEDERATION OF LABOR

Joseph Keenan.

Joseph Keenan, secretary of the Electrical Workers' union, Local 134, was elected secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor yesterday to succeed the late Edward Nockels, who died last February. Nockels had been secretary of the federation for 34 years. The other officers who were elected with Keenan without opposition are John Fitzpatrick, president; Maurice Lynch, financial secretary; L. P. Straube, reading secretary; Christian M. Madsen, treasurer, and Charles Hayman, sergeant at arms.

CITY'S LIBRARY IS WEEDED OUT FOR NEW STOCK

If a book doesn't earn its keep on the shelf it's time to discard it, Frederick Rex, municipal librarian, has decided. His shelves on the 10th floor of the city hall are crowded, and on chairs and desks are books, books, books.

To stay within the library's alloted 5,000 square feet of space, many of the 10,000 books and pamphlets received annually are discarded.

"You might call it a high utility library," Mr. Rex said. "We could, like many other libraries, stack up books like bodies in cemeteries—if we had the space. But we continue weeding them out."

The 163,000 books and pamphlets that remain in Mr. Rex's domain deal mostly with Chicago and municipal subjects. They are used by the mayor and other city officials and by high school and university students.

FOUND HANGED IN COAL SHED.

Joseph Chanczyk, 60 years old, was found hanged in the coal shed at the rear of his home, 1315 Cortez street, yesterday. His wife, Eleanor, said he had been despondent over health and finances.

SUSPECT IN OLD MURDER KILLED ON 1 WAY RIDE

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Eighteen months ago Julius Pulvino was found murdered in a bar in Brooklyn. Police arrested Frank J. Keenan, 26 years old, a longshoreman. Then reluctantly they released him, unable to prove him guilty of the murder of Pulvino.

Early today the body of Keenan, horribly mangled, was tossed from an automobile in the lonely Bath Beach section of Brooklyn. Both legs were broken, the skull was fractured, and there were three bullets in his brain.

Detectives announced they would question Pulvino's former associates in an effort to solve the Keenan murder.

IMPORTED REPRODUCTIONS OF ORIENTAL RUGS

with distinctive characteristics of precious antique Persian rugs

About 9x12 $98.50

We consider this one of our most important rug events of the season, because:

1. These rugs are reproductions of some of the rarest Persian designs.
2. They reproduce exactly the mellowed, lusterless beauty characteristic of the finest antique rugs.
3. Only the best wool yarns and dyes are used, hence the colors are true to type. The yarn is combed as well as carded to make it especially fine.
4. Because they were ordered many months ago, these rugs are priced at figures which we could not duplicate today.
5. They are precisely the type of rug which should be used with 18th century furniture reproductions.

Supreme Authority of the English Language

The World's Greatest Dictionary

10 HUGE VOLUMES

300,000 DEFINITIONS

2,500 PAGES, 5,000,000 WORDS

WEIGHING 21 LBS.

Compiled from 5,000,000 Excerpts Representing an Investment of Over $1,500,000. Backed by More than Seventy-five Years of Active Preparation.

AMAZING GIFT OFFER
EXCLUSIVE to READERS of the Chicago Tribune

HERE in ten mighty volumes is the whole of the English Language—every word and phrase of it at your finger tips—practically as a gift and available because you read the Chicago Tribune. Within your grasp is the opportunity to become the proud owner of this splendid ten volume edition of the world's greatest dictionary . . . yours almost for the asking.

An inexhaustible treasure trove of words it is "the one essential dictionary of the English Language for the private library," as one authority has put it. It is the greatest piece of dictionary making ever known in America. "It is," as William Lyon Phelps says, "One of the Wonders of the World."

But even such praise cannot tell the whole story. HERE IS POWER! The power of absolute accuracy and authority! Remember this gigantic work is in truth the last word on words, the supreme law on English definition, the latest, greatest, most absolutely authentic dictionary of its type in the world.

A BOON FOR EVERY HOME

How many times have you felt some lingering doubt in your mind as to some word or phrase! How many times have you put off the search for an accurate definition or pronunciation because an authoritative source of work was not to be had. The answer to these ever-present problems is at hand. And we bring it to you in the Oxford Universal English Dictionary almost as a gift!

AN INSPIRATION FOR YOUR CHILDREN

Your growing boy or girl—how can you possibly deny them the one essential item to help prepare them to face the world? You know, more than any one, the need of a thorough and unerring knowledge of the mother tongue in their grown-up business and social contacts. Certainly you would not dream of handicapping them—through lack of such assistance as this magnificent work can give!

Ask the teachers of your boy and girl how important such a handy, unimpeachable work of reference would be in your home library!

You simply must have this Dictionary! And you can! It is yours—as a reader of The Chicago Tribune—practically as a gift.

THE "LAST WORD" ON WORDS

You might have a dozen dictionaries in your home and still not find the one word, the clear, concise, perfectly understandable definition you require. Common words, yes, although with ambiguous brevity. But the word you seek is usually the uncommon, the hard-to-find word, the understanding of which you must put off to some vague, future time.

That is where you will find the "Oxford" invaluable, for the Chicago Tribune Readers' great presentation work is indeed not simply a dictionary—it is a veritable storehouse of the culture of the world since the beginning of all time. It is the only dictionary published in America that can be called the final authority on the English Language.

Think what a thrill it will be to bring it into your own home, give it to your family, make it instantly available to the growing minds of your children.

What new worlds will be open to you and to them . . . all the sciences, astronomy, geology, botany, physics, chemistry, and many more—the pseudo sciences, too; phrenology, astrology, palmistry, numerology, and others—the fascinating intricacies of philosophy—all the words used from Chaucer through Shakespeare right up to the most modern of writers. And, as the reviewer in the Boston Transcript wrote, "Americanisms are included, of course."

For the first time, this tremendous work is within your reach—because you are a reader of the Chicago Tribune—for hardly more than the asking! BUT YOU MUST ACT NOW. This dream-come-true cannot last forever. The Oxford English Dictionary is closely protected—it is published with the special sanction of the world's greatest institution of learning—The Oxford University—and is, of course, enormously expensive to produce. We can distribute only a limited number of the Dictionaries on give-away terms. It is strictly a case of first come, first served! Don't delay! Read, on the facing page, the simple instructions which tell you how you can secure the Oxford English Dictionary almost for the asking. Then act immediately as directed. Hurry! Remember the edition is limited and every one of these magnificent Ten Volume Dictionaries is sure to be snapped up immediately by the thousands who are even now reading this announcement.

HEY FELLERS! LOOK!

Chicago Tribune Readers are today invited to accept the Oxford Universal English Dictionary—they may at the same time secure, almost as a gift, the complete works of America's Prince of Laughter . . . Mark Twain. Every word the great genius ever wrote . . . yours, in twenty-four volumes, almost as a gift. Check the special panel in the Dictionary Coupon at right and mail today for full details. Start qualifying today—clip your first reader-reward certificate on page 6.

The OXFORD UNIVERSAL ENGLISH DICTIONARY! What a set of books—fabulous in scope—gigantic in content—representing an investment in compilation alone of over $1,500,000!

The Oxford Dictionary is endorsed for its accuracy and completeness by every outstanding English scholar, historian, and writer throughout the world! "It is," declares the New York Times, "complete beyond the dreams of any other dictionary in its field."

"There is," says the London Times, "no other dictionary in the world to compare with it." The English-speaking press the world over acknowledges the Oxford Dictionary to be the world's greatest authority on the English language.

"One of the Wonders of the World"

—Says William Lyon Phelps

HERE IS WHY:

It represents an investment of over $1,500,000.

It is the result of over seventy-five years of active preparation.

It is based upon the findings of hundreds of scholars the world over who read thousands of works and assembled a collection of over 5,000,000 excerpts of English Literature of every period.

It is a dictionary of all English, including that used in the days of Chaucer through Shakespeare to that used by our most modern writers.

It stands unique in its historical methods of treatment—the only dictionary giving a history of words.

50,000,000 words.

What Famous Critics Say—

"No other dictionary . . has ever done the job so well . . it is quite indispensable to every one." —H. L. Mencken in the American Mercury.

"Complete beyond the dream of any other dictionary in its field."—N. Y. TIMES BOOK REVIEW.

"The greatest single enterprise of scholarship the world has ever known."—London Spectator.

"There is no other Dictionary in the World to compare with it."—LONDON TIMES.

MR. ROOSEVELT ON THE CONSTITUTION.

In his Constitution day address Friday the President asked the American people to "rejoice in the wisdom of their constitution," that "they guarantee the effectiveness of each of its parts by living by the constitution as a whole," that "they give their fealty to the constitution itself and not to its misinterpreters."

In that appeal every opponent of the President's program or proposals will heartily join him. But who are the misinterpreters of the constitution? Mr. Roosevelt has made it very clear who he would have the American people believe they are. They are all those who disagree with Mr. Roosevelt and, especially at this moment, all those who have opposed his project of packing the Supreme court by the simple device of increasing its membership and appointing a majority who can be relied upon to approve his proposals.

Are the opponents of Mr. Roosevelt misinterpreting the constitution when they oppose Mr. Roosevelt's effort to control in advance the judgment of the Supreme court and abolish its freedom as an independent and coequal branch of the government? Is it misinterpreting the constitution to resist Mr. Roosevelt's effort to make the judicial branch of the government subservient to the executive? Is it misinterpreting the constitution to insist that it was founded and for 150 years has been maintained not only to establish the necessary organs of national government but to limit and restrain its powers?

There is nothing in Mr. Roosevelt's exposition of the constitution to indicate that his view of his powers and responsibilities includes a conception of the American government as a government of limited powers. The framers of the constitution had that conception of our government, and the people had that understanding of it or they would have promptly refused it. But Mr. Roosevelt has from the beginning and has still a resentment against any restraint upon the purposes he is so confident cannot be honestly doubted or, save for evil motives, opposed.

Despite Mr. Roosevelt's glittering generalities in praise of the American constitution, his attitude toward the restraints of law and toward the agency of government intrusted by the constitution with the duty of interpretation is precisely that of a Hitler or a Mussolini. They, too, are convinced of the rectitude of their purposes. They, too, are convinced that they are saving their people and that salvation depends upon the immediate and unrestrained exercise of a dictatorial authority.

Mr. Roosevelt's interpretation of the constitution is not in accord with that of the framers of that document, nor with that of the courts whose duty it has been to interpret it, nor with that of the great majority of American citizens who have lived under it for a century and a half. Mr. Roosevelt, not only by his attempt to dominate the judicial branch of government but by his persistent impatience with any restraint upon instant compliance with his will and by his savage condemnation of all dissent or opposition, has shown that his concept of government for the American people is not one of limited powers, but of powers limited only by the will of any man invested with authority by the votes of the majority of the moment.

Mr. Roosevelt declares that the government of the United States, that is, his government, "refuses to forget that the bill of rights was put into the constitution not only to protect minorities against intolerance but to protect majorities against the enthronement of minorities." This is a novel reading of our history, which would have astonished Jefferson, the author of our bill of rights. Jefferson thought he was protecting the individual and minorities from the possible oppression of government. But Mr. Roosevelt has his own interpretation of the rights of minorities, and it is worthy of reflection by our citizens. He declares that his government has never taken away, although there is a pants presser and a poultry dealer and a good many other citizens who may dissent from that, and never will take away, any liberty from any minority—"unless it be a minority which so abuses its liberty as to do positive and definite harm to its neighbors constituting the majority."

And who is to determine whether a given minority is doing positive and definite harm to its neighbors, the majority? Why, the majority and the government put in office by the majority.

This may be the theory of the rights of individuals and minorities under Hitler and Mussolini. This will be the practice in America when the courts are made subservient to the elective executive and his congress. There is nothing to prevent its being the practice when the Supreme court is made up of judges whose obedience is not to the constitution or the bill of rights but to the will of the President, or of judges who have shown as little regard for civil right as the latest appointee to the Supreme court.

DECK CHAIRS.

The tide of American tourists which flowed over Europe this summer is now returned to its source leaving, like the overflow of the Nile, a rich sediment. Americans are the most liberal spenders in the world and, in spite of inevitable exceptions, perhaps the most good natured in accepting the petty exactions practiced upon strangers in every land. Most of these exactions they realize they cannot prevent or evade, at any rate without more trouble than a hurried American is willing to take.

But among these there is one which may be in reach of protest. It is the deck chair racket. Why should a passenger, who has paid for a week's transport by sea, pay extra for a seat on the deck? Happily he does not pay extra for his seat at table or in the smoking room or lounge. He doesn't have to pay, in fact, for his deck chair. He can lean against the rail or he can stay indoors. But if he wants a comfortable seat and fresh air he will have to see the deck steward.

To the well-to-do passenger this is a small matter and if he is alert it has the advantage of securing for him a location he approves. A vote in this class of travelers would probably approve this exaction, but there are thousands of travel-loving Americans to whom the voyage is a luxury, obtained by some sacrifice from small incomes. To these passengers, who are an increasingly substantial factor in the revenue of steamship companies, the deck chair racket must seem unreasonable. A passenger ship ought to provide comfortable accommodations on deck for all its patrons as it provides chairs in cabins and rooms indoors. We have a notion that companies catering to people of small means would do well to abolish the deck chair racket.

PARKING METERS.

The owners of the automobiles that line the curbs of our business and residential streets may be divided into two great classes—the considerate and the thoughtless. A member of the first group would not think of leaving his car in front of a neighbor's home or place of business unless he is making a call. He does not drive to work unless his firm offers storage for employé automobiles or he can afford space in a private lot. He does not use his car to attend a movie unless the theater owner offers parking facilities. In short, he is embarrassed when encroaching on the frontage of others.

The attitude of class number two is just the reverse. He considers that the city should provide storage as well as operating space for his vehicle, and that his license fee pays for the accommodation. He will not hesitate to leave his car in front of a retail establishment for hours. If no curb space is available in the vicinity of his destination, that fact in itself is sufficient excuse for parking double or at an angle. It is a fair guess, however, that he will resent a similar appropriation of the curb space in front of his own home or place of business.

Of course there are many shades between the two groups, and even the most courteous in group number one will occasionally find it necessary to strain a point when the space he intended to use is occupied. In this manner the parking hog is enabled to force his attitude on others, which brings to the surface the only available remedy—limited parking.

Admittedly the best way to enforce limited parking is through police control, but it is not easy and requires a large number of men. The officers, too, must be combination timekeepers and bookkeepers. How much simpler is the parking meter system, which affords limited time curb space at a low fee in a manner that can be easily patroled.

The automobile created a necessity for the hard road. Car owners are paying for this essential through license fees and gasoline taxes. In storing his car on the pavement for a long period the automobile owner is violating two great principles of the road. He is using space for a purpose not intended and also utilizing the highway in such manner as to deny the same privilege to others. Logically there can be no objection to the small fee exacted by the meter system for limited time space. The receipts from the coin boxes will pay for the patrol.

THE TRIBUNE believes that parking meters should be given a trial, particularly as the manufacturers seem willing to wait until the machines pay for themselves.

RIDDING RELIEF OF "MOOCHERS."

[Milwaukee Journal.]

Direct relief must be constantly curtailed if the recipient is to be rehabilitated.

That statement was made by the archbishop of St. Paul, interviewed at the national conference of Catholic charities. It was concurred in by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John O'Grady of Washington, secretary of the conference.

"The relief problem is like a child," said the archbishop. "If a mother babies her child the child may remain a baby. So with the relief client. Many of those on relief seem to lose their initiative to support themselves and their families."

Those who have watched the problems of relief as they have developed will understand exactly what the archbishop means. If remaining on relief is too easy and conditions under relief are too comfortable the relief rolls will not diminish as rapidly as they should. The answer is to make qualification for relief increasingly difficult as conditions improve and to reduce somewhat the supplies given to families where there are able bodied members.

The taxpayer has borne relief burdens without complaint because he realized the temporary need for adequate relief to many. He is now bearing the load with less patience, for he feels that to some extent he is being gypped. He feels that some relief clients have measured the relative advantage of subsistence with leisure and independence with work, and have decided for the former, preferring to live on little without work to making their own way again in the world. The taxpayer does not propose to permit any such choice. The authorities should not expect him to. They should be considering plans to rid the rolls of the "moochers" at this time.

NO LESSER ROLES FOR HIM.

[Philadelphia Inquirer.]

To thousands of moviegoers who saw "Green Pastures" there will come poignant regret that Rex Ingram, who played the rôle of De Lawd in the film masterpiece, is now in penury. He has filed as a bankrupt in New York City, admitting that he has been offered minor screen parts, but has spurned them because they portrayed the Negro in comical and nonrealistic fashion.

Rex Ingram is a physician, but is primarily an actor. He drew little stage attention until he characterized a fanciful version of how De Lawd might preside in a heaven enlivened by fish fries and astonishingly human idiosyncrasies. One imagines the Negro actor as being permanently uplifted by this celluloid rôle; it is understandable that he could never play a roustabout or cotton hand part again. From such a height, figurative or literal, low comedy would be too low for Rex Ingram.

Yet men must eat. The theater motif is exalting, but a sublime spirit ill nourishes the body. Logic steps in sonorously, but sentiment and sentimentality have thrust logic aside ere this. De Lawd knew his Green Pastures. Anything less now seems unworthy.

THE OTHER HALF.

You might not think that the gentlemen who beg dimes by night would be so fastidious, but some of them are. In the very gray dawn, long before you've thought of getting up, they carry their shaving kits into the railroad stations west of the river and get ready amid the marble furnishings for another day. They shave very carefully, too, and most of them use advertised brands of shaving cream. Any time now the attendants expect one of them to pop up with an electric razor.

HERE'S ONE about that cigaret contest that hasn't been told: A boy and a girl who met in one of the clubs that formed to solve the puzzles have just announced their engagement.

THUH BEAR AND THUH LUMBERJACKS.

"About that bear that pinches the blueberry pies from the cook's shack at the lumber camp," writes Jack Mylrea from Rhinelander, Wis., "the boys up here wouldn't swear to it now that it's a bear. The last time some pies disappeared, smoking hot, they thought they were on Mister Bear's trail when they heard a splash. 'Mister Bear, he's in the well,' said one of the lumberjacks, clapping his little hands. He was only half right, though. It was a polecat. He crawled out and shook himself, and walked off looking disgusted. Nobody stopped him. Now the water's no good, and no one seems very interested in bear hunting."

We do hope they're not forever talking about their family trees.

WELL, SIR, here we are back from our fishing trip along the Canadian border. Fishing this year was better than I had expected, but I thought it would be. And I took off 22 pounds. It's fine to be able to walk along and see my feet again. I have been walking pigeon-toed for two years and didn't know it. Of course, there's no place around here for exercise like carrying a canoe over uncharted trails, so I have taken up calisthenics. That reminds me. The first morning of our sudden cold spell our oil burner popped on and the house was as warm as toast when I got up. . . . Bending-over exercises should always be taken facing the radiator. Charles not Charlie.

DO I KNOW YOU?

There must be something simple and appropriate to say when you find a strange man has crawled into bed with you while you were asleep, as that couple out in South Shore did. "Odd, meeting you here!" isn't just it. "Small world, isn't it?" might be better.

SIR: Mr. Leekley's our plumber here in Mount Morris, Ill., and the butcher at Coleta is Mr. Frankfurther. Irene of M. M.

We're glad to welcome Mr. Leekley into the Fittin' and Proper club, but, frankly, we can't further Mr. Frankfurther's application.

Tell me, pretty maiden,
What thought your fair mind graces,
When that lambent look is in your eyes
With their hint of far-off places—

Or else don't seem to care,
On a new love are you brooding—
Or a new way for your hair?

HOW TO (AL)LAY SHINGLES.

MANY of us are familiar with a common type of herpes—herpes simplex or herpes labialis. The lesions occur chiefly about the face but especially on the lips, and are called fever blisters or cold sores.

But it is herpes zoster or shingles which gives us the greatest amount of discomfort. This disease is characterized by inflammation of a nerve depot [ganglion] near the spinal cord, brought on in all probability by a filterable virus. The inflammatory process extends along one or more nerves which lie beneath the skin, usually in the region of the chest. As with fever sores, fatigue, or overwork—in fact, anything which lowers resistance—predisposes to the disorder.

The symptoms include pain, which is ordinarily mistaken for neuralgia, and may be so severe that medical care is sought without delay. As the irritation spreads, reddish areas followed by watery blisters will appear. If the patient has had chills and fever, these complaints cease as soon as the skin eruptions develop. The lesions may overlap one another, hence the name, shingles. They may persist for a week or two, then dry up, forming a crusty-looking mass.

The most frequent sites are along the sides of the trunk, although the nerves which come from the brain are sometimes involved and thus the cornea of the eye may be affected. Just as soon as the rash becomes visible the diagnosis is generally obvious.

With the appearance of the first signs the skin should be kept as dry as possible with some mild antiseptic dusting powder, one that contains camphor, boric acid, and chalk. As a rule little attention need be paid to the fact that these affairs may become infected. However, if pustules materialize, compresses soaked with permanganate solution may be used for an hour or two and, later, ammoniated mercury ointment.

For the pain, some one of the salicylic derivatives will be beneficial and sodium salicylate is as good as any. Many authorities have advised small doses of X-ray. In less than half of the cases this may prove salutary, but it is not by any means a cure; neither will it unfailingly alleviate discomfort. At best, it may be said that it has a tendency to shorten or abbreviate the course of the affliction.

Pituitary extract, on the other hand, probably has more advocates than all other remedies, the very multiplicity of which shows the unsatisfactory character of the treatment. Some authors report that within a few hours after the injection of pituitrin the pain is eased, while still others using the drug faithfully have been unable to demonstrate the slightest influence.

In a recent series of cases, one writer records that relief after pituitrin was striking in about half of his cases. The other half, while showing improvement, still experienced pain. In administering the substance the physician will caution the patient about its effect on the intestinal tract.

About as much comfort is offered by physical therapy as with any other method, and dry heat, particularly that derived from infra-red or diathermy, is recommended. Exposure to direct sunlight or to artificial ultraviolet to the point of sharp redness of the surrounding skin is helpful also. Sodium iodide given intravenously, injection of the patient's own blood, arsphenamin, and numerous other plans all have their advocates.

There is a general agreement that the patient should receive a brisk cathartic with the appearance of the malady. Then rest, a nutritious diet, salicylates for pain, and protection of the skin will, for the most part, bring about prompt healing. If the eyes are disturbed a skilled ophthalmologist should be consulted.

MAY BE ALKALOSIS.

J. S. writes: What is the cause of fruit—canned or fresh—bringing on a weak, gassy condition and constipation? The lack of what acid in the system would cause a continuous digestive disturbance?

REPLY.

Unspoiled fruit, canned or fresh, should not cause difficulties.

Spoiled fruit, of course, may cause trouble. Hydrochloric acid is necessary for digestion, but that is supplied by the stomach glands. If alkalis are used to excess, this essential acid may be neutralized. Are you a soda taker? You may be suffering from alkalosis as a result of too much baking soda. Citrus fruits supply alkalis. Perhaps you are taking too much.

IT'S A SYMPTOM.

M. M. writes: What causes elderly people to have to go to the bathroom three and four times during the night? Is there any remedy?

REPLY.

Frequent urination is a symptom of diabetes, Bright's disease, and of some nervous conditions. Drinking too much fluids before retiring may be responsible. The commonest cause, however, is an enlarged prostate gland which prevents a free outflow from the bladder. As a result, considerable urine is retained. This exerts a steady pressure as the bladder makes an effort to expel it. Relief depends on the cause. Much can be done for prostate sufferers, and operation—in some cases—is advised. Massage and heat are helpful.

CAUSES OF DEATH.

Mrs. S. writes: Will you list the causes of death in the order of their importance? There has been a discussion of this question and the consensus seems to be that cancer leads the van. Is this true?

REPLY.

Heart disease ranks first with over 300,000 deaths annually—more than double the second principal cause—cancer, which claims 140,000 lives. Diseases of the kidneys are third, apoplexy fourth, tuberculosis fifth, lobar pneumonia sixth, bronchial pneumonia seventh, premature infants eighth, diabetes ninth, and diseases of the arteries tenth. These figures are the latest available and are for the year 1934.

SLEEP.

D. H. C. writes: Why is it that a person can do with less sleep in the summer than in the winter months?

REPLY.

Is this true? Evidently the rule does not apply to every one. Many persons need more sleep and rest in hot weather, which is so exhausting. During the summer months people may get along with less sleep because there are so many things to take up their attention and they think they have less time to sleep. Furthermore, hot summer nights are shorter and are not as conducive to sleep. Actually, sleep is something that we need in about the same quantity all the year round.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON. — Britain's canals are booming. After a long period of neglect many of them again are becoming highways of commerce.

"There is no doubt that the canals are at the beginning of a revival," an official of one transport company said. "We estimate that the tonnage so far this year is about 15 to 30 per cent above that of last year.

"Canals are sharing in the general improvement in trade. They are benefiting by the rearmament program. Their trafic in iron and steel is particularly large."

One factor which, it is expected, will help the revival of Britain's inland waterways system is the decision of the Grand Union company to establish a new all-water transport service between this country and the continent.

Under this scheme steamships of 500 tons will ply between Antwerp, Belgium, and the Regent's Canal Dock in Limehouse. Their cargoes then will go straight over the sides to barges which will carry the goods to such places as Birmingham, Coventry, Leicester, Northampton, Derby and Nottingham.

On the other side of the North sea, canals and rivers link Antwerp and central Europe. For instance, it will be possible for automobile manufacturers to send their cars direct from Birmingham to Basel, Switzerland, without touching land.

The Masworth, the first of a projected fleet of cargo vessels, will introduce the new service from Antwerp. It will berth at Regent's Dock 24 hours after leaving the port. The journey by a Diesel engine barge from Limehouse to Birmingham takes three days.

There are still hundreds of miles of waterway left almost derelict. Most of the canals in this country were built during the industrial revolution. Hardly had they been completed when railways were invented. Many canals then were bought by railway companies and allowed to fall into disuse.

Foss Dyke, the oldest canal in England, was built long before the industrial revolution. Built by the Romans, it is still navigable and extends 11 miles from Lincoln to the River Trent near Torksey.

ANNULMENT VS. DIVORCE.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Please distinguish between an annulment of marriage and [2] a divorce?

3. Would the fact that a marriage had not been consummated facilitate dissolution?

4. How would one proceed to obtain either annulment or a divorce and [5] is an attorney essential? A. D.

1. Annulment is a court decree pronouncing that the marriage was invalid from its inception.

2. Divorce is a court decree terminating the marriage for grounds arising after the ceremony was celebrated in the ordinary case.

3. It would be one fact to consider with other facts.

4. Ordinarily the first step is to employ an attorney.

5. There is no statute requiring such employment, but most litigants do not have the capacity to handle the case for themselves.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Can an alien own real estate property in the United States?

2. If real estate property is willed to an alien can he retain ownership?

3. If orientals cannot become citizens, what is the status of a child born of an American father and oriental mother?

4. If women have equal rights with men do they ever lose their citizenship by any foreign marriage?

5. What is the status of their children? J. R. B.

1. It is a matter of state law. An Illinois statute prohibits alien ownership for more than seven years, but the attorney general is the only person authorized to act, and we know of no cases in which he has acted.

2. See 1.

3. Such child would be a citizen by the express wording of the federal constitution.

4. Not under present law.

5. See preceding answers.

THE DOG FIGHT.

Dubuque, Ia., Sept. 15.—H. E. Bartlett's challenge to dog lovers can scarcely go unanswered. Granted that there are approximately twenty diseases to which dogs are subjected, but why condemn a dog for this? Has not Mr. Bartlett had his share of measles, whooping cough, and even colic? If being refined means that my dog can't run to greet me nor follow my every footstep whenever he is permitted to do so, then I raise my thanks to the heavens that I am one of the multitude who prefers to be plain and common. C. M. GRAUES.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—Twelve years ago I rescued him from a puddle of water in a vacant lot. He was very sick and even too weak to crawl. I put him in a basket and took him home, nursing him back to health.

A year later our son was born, and our dog has been his constant companion, seldom leaving his side. He watched him carefully through infancy and when a stranger approached always gave an alarm. He is "plain" dog but a true friend, never wavering, always kind, affectionate, and ever watchful. How many of Mr. Bartlett's "supposed" friends give so much for practically nothing? ISABELLE C. FORNOFF.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—What a brave man you are, Mr. Bartlett, to incur the wrath of all these dog fanciers and owners. It is about time the city woke up to the fact that these lovable pets, our dogs, are fast becoming a sinister menace to health and happiness. The thoughtful janitors and owners of apartment buildings strive to keep their little parkways gleaming with green grass, and after it grows to nice proportions immediately comes Mr. Dog Owner with his immense big shepherd, police, St. Bernard, etc., combination out of a two room apartment and gleefully watches his vicious looking pet tear it up. T. J. F.

Arlington Heights, Ill., Sept. 15.—Because of their habits the city council should forbid some people from going in and out of stores. People are subject to about 2,000 diseases. The dirty habits and diseases of some people render them unfit companions for dogs and children. Barking people are pests and should be promptly eliminated. E. J. "RED" HARRIS.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—Did Mr. Bartlett ever hear of a dog in Tokio, Japan, who waited ten years at a railroad station for his master? The people erected a statue in his honor. Or of a dog that was abandoned by tourists from Indiana and walked home from the west coast? Or of dogs who save children's lives from drowning, from fire? There was one mentioned in Tuesday's TRIBUNE who saved a woman from poisoning. Not to forget the battlefields in the late war, the mountains in Switzerland, and hundreds of other instances. F. E. LETT.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—I agree with H. E. Bartlett on the subject of dogs. But why not rid the entire city of this pest instead of just stores? I live in the south shore district and occasionally like to shop on 71st street. On a warm summer day this business street is one of the most unsanitary places to be found in the city limits and heedless dog owners are to blame. MRS. CLAUDETTE B.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—In reply to H. E. Bartlett's "Anti-Dog" my advice to him is to read Senator Vest's "Tribute to a Dog," and then go out and get himself a "pup"; a curb setter would be all right to start with.

If he has fleas give him a good disinfectant bath and then start in to get really acquainted with him.

H. E. B. doesn't know dogs. He's got 'em all mixed up with humans. E. M. S.

INJUN SUMMER.

Chicago, Sept. 16.—In one of your issues you asked to inform you if we are interested to have a reprint of "Injun Summer," by John T. McCutcheon.

I am one who always looks forward to seeing it every fall. If you would have the cartoon framed I believe a number of people would purchase same. A. F. MADLENER.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 14.—It always takes me back to my happy childhood on my father's farm west of Athens, Ill. MRS. H. C. HENKES.

Winnetka, Ill., Sept. 15.—It is part of the autumn for us as much as the colorful woods and haze at dusk. Besides, let us not overlook the one bit of the whimsical that seems to be still alive in our world at present. The young folks need it! MIRIAM MCNITT GRUENSTEIN.

Ocean Springs, Miss., Sept. 14.—We are six in family and we tack that picture on the wall and leave it for weeks. MRS. J. R. VAN WINKLE.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Every one that knows the traditions of the middle west or loves nature will enjoy "Injun Summer" every year. A. B. CUNNINGHAM.

Decatur, Ill., Sept. 15.—I have read it year after year to my children and for my own enjoyment. MRS. W. A. NASH.

RAMSHACKLE BUSES.

Chicago, Sept. 15.—I ride the Jackson boulevard bus to work each day and I think I pay enough fare to warant a comfortable ride. The old buses that are still in use are a nuisance. This morning I tore a perfectly good pair of hose on a loose piece of tin stripping. I saw a gentleman tear the cuff of his trousers on the same thing. It's too bad the paying public has to stand for such service. MRS. J. S. REDPATH.

GIRLS COME OUT OF THE KITCHEN TO RACE IN AIR

Planes Zoom for Trophies Before 20,000.

A dozen women who are stenographers, housewives, or private secretaries in everyday life stepped into airplanes at Curtiss-Reynolds airport at Glenview yesterday and thrilled a crowd of 20,000 with their racing, stunting, and all around flying. The girls, only one of whom is a professional pilot, were participants in the third annual air carnival of the Chicago Girls' Flying club.

A strong northeast wind whipped across the square mile of airport, sometimes reaching a velocity of 40 miles an hour. Despite this handicap, which was especially noticeable because the contestants' planes were small with engines of relatively low horsepower, the events were flown with precision and the competition was keen.

Close Finishes Mark Races.

A difference of only ten seconds in time separated the first and second place winners in two races and in a third race the time differential between first and second was but 20 seconds.

The best race of the day—for the Thompson trophy—was won by Dorothy Ring, flying a Ryan monoplane with a 90 horse power Menasco motor. Her time was 15 minutes 44 seconds. A close second all the way around the 20 mile course was June Kraft, also flying a Ryan monoplane. She was clocked in 15:54.

The two girls were first away and they jockyed for position clear to the finish line. Third place in this race went to Marge McCormick in a Davis monoplane with a Lambert engine. Miss McCormick flew to Chicago from Pittsburgh to take part in the meet.

Three Land in 20 Seconds.

The first three flyers home in the crosscountry race over an 80 mile course from Glenview to Naperville and return, landed within 20 seconds of each other. Alice De Witt was the winner in a Rearwin monoplane, Le Bond motor, covering the course in 47 minutes. Helen Budwash, cashier in a Harvey theater, was second. Opal Anderson was third with an elapsed time of 47 minutes 20 seconds.

The last race of the day, two laps of a three mile course, was won by Miss Budwash, flying a Porterfield monoplane. Her time was 11 minutes, 10 seconds. Miss De Witt was second.

The spot landing contest was won by Emma Sprague of Wilmette. Among the others who took part in the meet was Norah Lee Madison of Danville, Ill., who at 19 is a licensed pilot.

Injured in Parachute Jump.

Miss Jerry Truesdell, 19 years old, 5402 Woodlawn avenue, suffered a sprained ankle when she made a parachute leap from 2,000 feet late in the afternoon. She was taken to the Will Rogers Memorial hospital for treatment. Miss Truesdell was competing for the Riverview trophy, offered for landing nearest a mark on the field. The winner was Miss Martha Stadler of Wilmette.

Richard M. Wessel, Actor, and Charlotte Brien Wed

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Richard M. Wessel, Hollywood actor, and Charlotte Louise Brien, stage and film actress, today were married in Yuma, Ariz., by Justice of the Peace Ed Winn, according to word reaching Hollywood friends tonight. Wessel said he was 24 years old and Miss Brien, a native of South Africa, gave her age as 28. She came to Hollywood two years ago.

PLANE SIGHTS SEVEN SEAS ON ITS SECOND RACE

New York, Sept 19.—[Special.]—Capt. Harold E. Gray, commanding the Pan-American Clipper which arrived here today from Bermuda, announced that while en route from the islands he had passed abeam of the square rigger Seven Seas. The Seven Seas and the Joseph Conrad are racing from Bermuda to Newport.

After a previous race the rival skippers both claimed victory on technical grounds. Han Milton of the Seven Seas charged the Joseph Conrad crossed the finish under power instead of sail. Capt. Alexander Tronin of the Joseph Conrad claimed he had won by 11 seconds. Walter S. Gubelman, owner of the Seven Seas, finally withdrew the protest and the New York Yacht club awarded the victory to the Joseph Conrad, owned by D. Huntington Hartford, Charleston, S. C.

Now the vessels are racing again. They left St. George Monday for the race to Newport.

ANDREW W. MELLON WILL IS EXPECTED TO BE FILED TODAY

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Executors of the estate of Andrew W. Mellon, Pittsburgh statesman, financier and philanthropist, are expected to file his will tomorrow.

The document will be filed for probate at the register of wills office, the first step in what may be a prolonged legal process that will involve inventory, payment of taxes, disposal of resources, and other adjustments.

Mellon's personal attorney, Donald D. Shepard, one of three executors, has said that the will contains no specific bequests. In the deed of trust creating the Andrew W. Mellon Educational and Charitable Trust, it was stated that Mellon "would like the executors to give careful consideration to the needs of those religious, charitable, scientific, and educational institutions in which the donor has manifested especial interest."

DROP SUPPLIES FOR LONG STAY ON SKY TEMPLE

Grand Canyon, Ariz., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Food and supplies for an extended stay atop Shiva temple, unexplored "forest in the sky," were dropped from an airplane today to Dr. Harold E. Anthony, studying the evolutionary effects of isolation on small animals.

Dr. Anthony, curator of mammalogy at the American Museum of Natural History, indicated in messages to the expedition's base camp on the north rim of Grand canyon that he would stay on the plateau for a week or ten days.

Edwin D. McKee, chief naturalist of Grand Canyon National park, expressed the belief Dr. Anthony was "meeting with success" in efforts to trap animal species believed to date from the last glacial age, when Shiva temple was severed from the mainland by water erosion.

The mammalogist has laid traps for rabbits, gophers, and other small animals he says inhabit the plateau.

WOMAN NAMED TRAFIC OFFICER FOR AIR LINES

United Air Lines yesterday appointed a woman trafic executive—the first to hold such a position for an air line in this part of the country. She is Miss Marion Gates, and directs the women's trafic department of the line. Following a course at the University of Wisconsin, Miss Gates entered the employ of the Milwaukee Automobile club. For the last four years she has been doing secretarial work in the Chicago and Milwaukee offices of United Air Lines.

Two words tell the evening story:

STREAMLINE or Romantic

Current thought on evening clothes runs in two directions. Our reports from the Openings showed both trends: streamline and romantic. While Molyneux did the slim princess thing, Chanel gathered her skirts about her. While Maggy Rouff played with fancy dress, Lelong went superbly simple. While Vionnet purified the Empire line, Mainbocher turned out a gown with a lace mantilla. And while all this excitement was going on in Paris, we joyfully accepted both predictions. Our evening collection, ready today, is proof that one is as lovely as the other.

WILLIAM LOEB, 71, IS DEAD AT GLEN COVE, N. Y.

Former Secretary to Teddy Roosevelt.

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—William Loeb, son of a German immigrant, who pulled himself up to fame and fortune much after the fashion of one of the fictional types made famous by Horatio Alger in the last century, died today of pneumonia in a hospital at Glen Cove, Long Island.

William Loeb.

Known nationally simply as "Loeb" in the political days of his friend and close associate, Theodore Roosevelt, he died near the old Roosevelt home at Oyster Bay at the age of 71 years. He had been ill twelve days.

Mr. Loeb carved out for himself an important niche in America's public and official life, but it was as Roosevelt's personal secretary that he earned his greatest portion of fame, friendship, and enmity.

He was a former collector of the port of New York and an industrial executive of note—director and official of numerous corporations—but Mr. Loeb's best remembered, sweetest, and bitterest share of fame, came to him through his long service with "Teddy."

Started as Stenographer.

Mr. Loeb's father was a small storekeeper in Albany. The boy, William, had to help the family; he became a messenger boy. In his spare time he studied shorthand. At 22 he was a stenographer in the New York state assembly. His chance came when Col. Roosevelt became governor of New York.

Loeb was called on to take shorthand notes for "Teddy" and became his first private stenographer. Soon he was private secretary. When Teddy became vice president Loeb went along as private secretary. In 1903, after the assassination of McKinley, Loeb succeeded George B. Cortelyou as secretary to the president.

He displayed great tact and facility in a position fraught with difficulty. He had to protect "Teddy" from the world and from himself, and many times, it was said, he prevented utterances of the President from reaching the public and letters of a more sensational character from being sent.

"Tell It to Loeb."

The phrase "Tell it to Loeb," or "Blame it on Loeb" became a by-word in the capital. He was secretary, go-between, and buffer.

He later was appointed to the New York port collector post, and here again he displayed his rare abilities.

Loeb set to work weeding out graft and smashing smuggling and generally shaking up a branch of the federal service which had been administered in a happy go lucky manner.

"The rich duty jumper is not going to get off any easier than the poor duty jumper," he said. "He may be a multimillionaire, but if he defrauds the government he is going to jail." And he did.

During his four years there, from 1909 to 1913, Mr. Loeb achieved his cleanup aims. From certain sugar interests, alone, he obtained refunds totaling $3,434,000. There were many indictments.

Afterward he joined the Guggenheim mining interests and became vice president of the American Smelting and Refining company.

Coast Guard Takes Off Freighter's Crew.

Frankfort, Mich., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—The Diesel freight boat C. E. Redfern sank in a high northwest gale near Point Betsie today shortly after coast guard cutters had taken off the fifteen members of the crew.

The freighter, a 200 foot boat of 726 gross tonnage, got in difficulty at 10 o'clock last night, five hours after leaving Nahna, Mich., with a cargo of pine pulpwood. Buffeted by the heavy waves the boat developed numerous leaks and the water rose above the pump machinery, disabling it.

Send Up Distress Signals.

Red flares were sent up. They were observed by Car Ferry No. 7, bound for Manistique. The ferry stood by and the coast guard stations at South Manitou and Grand Haven were notified. The coast guard cutters Escanaba from Grand Haven and Perry of Manitou Island hurried to the distressed vessel.

Capt. O. T. Olsen of Marinette, Wis., master of the Redfern, and his fourteen crewmen were rescued by crews from Frankfort and South Manitou and taken to Frankfort.

Guardsman's Arm Broken.

The Redfern was bound for Eller City, Mich. Owned by the Angwall & Olsen Transportation company of Marinette, Wis., she was valued at $20,000, while the cargo was valued at $4,000.

CO-ED IS FOUND DEAD IN BED AT MADISON; SUSPECT POISONING

Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A toxicologist's report was awaited tonight to shed light on the death of Barbara Martin, 18 years old, University of Wisconsin co-ed from Birmingham, Mich., who was found dead in bed in her room in Ann Emery hall, girl's dormitory.

Her body was found by a dormitory telephone operator about 10 a. m. today after the attendant had received a signal from the girl's room and heard no further sound.

Coroner E. A. Fischer said a postmortem examination had failed to reveal the cause of death, but he said there were no signs of violence.

Fischer explained that the girl went to a dance last night and returned early, apparently in good spirits.

CHINESE PREPARE AMERICAN BURIAL FOR THEIR MAYOR

A sombre Chinatown was quietly at work yesterday planning the funeral of its mayor.

Frank Moy's funeral will not be one of elaborate traditional ceremonialism. Nor will it be distinguished by costly trappings. On the contrary, in accordance with his oft-expressed request, it will be quiet in the American tradition rather than the Chinese. The rites will be Christian. And the money which might have gone toward a lavish ceremonial will go to the Chinese victims of Japan's war.

The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday in the hinese Christian Union church at 23d and Wentworth avenue.

HERRICK BURIAL TO BE TOMORROW IN FARMER CITY

Farmer City, Ill., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—The funeral of Justice Lott R. Herrick of the Illinois Supreme court, who died Saturday at Rochester, Minn., will be held here Tuesday.

The body arrived this afternoon accompanied by Mrs. Herrick and their daughter, Mrs. J. G. Thomas of Champaign, Ill. Relatives were at the train to meet the party and a conference was held on funeral plans.

Gov. Henry Horner telephoned from Springfield to indicate he would be present. Also expected for the services were Justice Herrick's colleagues on the court.

Justice Herrick, who was 65 years old, was elected to the Supreme court in 1933. He was born in Farmer City and spent his entire life here.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Sept. 19, 1937.

First Frost Appears.

FROST, the first of the season, appeared at the Wheaton farm last week. A few signs of Jack Frost were found early Thursday morning. Then Friday morning numerous tracks of this old leaf painter were found in low spots over the farm.

With the white crystals glistening over lower fields and pastures—nine days earlier than last year's first frost—men went out expecting to find the tender crops wilted. But after the sun melted the frost workers found that none of the crops had been seriously damaged.

Corn, soy beans and hemp are the only crops remaining in the fields and none of these was hurt by the frost. The foliage of soy beans, however, was darkened here and there in the Kingwa and Manchu fields that still are green. Corn growing in the fields is practically all safe from low temperatures. The late planted plots of South African, Argentine, and Indian varieties are green enough to be seriously injured by an early killing frost.

Wind Protects Field.

While the frost last week was quite heavy in many places, none of the crops in test fields A and B at the Wheaton farm were touched by frost. A south wind carried the warm air from a nearby canal across field A and protected such tender plants as tomatoes and cucumber vines. Sesbania, a southern legume, showed no signs of frost injury, although the cold weather last spring gave it a severe setback. Even cotton plants with immature bolls dodged the chilly fingers of Jack Frost.

Frost wilted some of the leaves of water lilies growing in the water around the edge of one of the farm's ponds Friday morning. The foliage of trees, shrubs and wild flowers in the woods came through without being seriously hurt.

Frost was the signal that started the men to filling silos at the farm last week. In opening the fields for the mechanical corn binder, workers cut down two rows of corn along the edges and down through the fields Thursday. Friday morning the actual work of filling the first silo was started.

Two Oats Crops.

Two crops of oats were grown on the same field of 11 acres at the Wheaton farm this year. Before the first crop was harvested grasshoppers moved into the field and cut many of the heads off. It was estimated that from five to 10 bushels per acre of oats were left on the ground. These oats came up as a volunteer crop and were harvested in the immature stage recently by turning sheep into the field for three days.

By grazing down the young oats they not only furnished valuable feed for the sheep but also prevented the crop from smothering the young alfalfa that was seeded in with the oats last spring. The grasshoppers ate the alfalfa to the ground after the oats were cut, stunting the legume plants so that the volunteer oats were dominating the field.

Bury J. H. Ryan, Editor of Decatur Paper, Tuesday

John H. Ryan, 68 years old, former editor and publisher of the Decatur Labor World, Decatur, Ill., who died Saturday night at his home, 838 Wrightwood avenue, Chicago, will be buried Tuesday morning at Acacia Park cemetery. Services will be held at 10 o'clock from the chapel at 2903 North Clark street. Mr. Ryan had been a newspaperman nearly all his life. For the last few years he had been connected with the Liner Circulation service, Tribune Tower. He is survived by his wife, three daughters and four sons.

Hattie White James, 85, Dies in Waukesha, Wis.

Mrs. Hattie White James, a resident of Chicago's north side for more than forty years, died yesterday at Waukesha, Wis., following a stroke. She was 85 years old. Mrs. James was the widow of Frank N. Leah Bradley, Newspaper Woman, Dies in New York

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Miss Leah M. Bradley, newspaper and publicity writer, died Saturday at her home in Brooklyn. Funeral services will be held Tuesday in Kingfisher, Okla. A graduate of the University of Wisconsin, Miss Bradley once was a reporter on the Grand Rapids press. Later she served on the Republican campaign committee publicity staf in Washington.

FINDS ABANDONED BABY IN SACK IN CEMETERY HEDGE

Girl of 6 Weeks Is Healthy and Hungry.

An abandoned baby girl, wrapped in a pink cotton blanket and stuffed into a brown paper shopping bag, was found at the Oak Ridge cemetery in Hillside yesterday.

The baby, apparently about 3 weeks old, bore no marks of identification. Chubby, with blue eyes and light brown hair, she seemed to suffer no ill effects from exposure—but she was hungry.

Attracted by Wail.

The discovery was made when George Shriver, 524 South Cuyler street, Oak Park, entered the cemetery to visit a family grave. It was the noon hour and the cemetery was deserted. Suddenly he heard a wail which seemed to come from a hedge dividing Oak Ridge and Glen Oak cemeteries.

"I thought I must be wrong," he later told Sergt. Adam Stang of the Hillside police, "but I kept on looking around and kept hearing the sound. Finally I saw the bag, looked into it and found the baby."

Map of Oak Ridge cemetery, where visitor found abandoned baby in shopping bag. It was taken to St. Vincent's orphanage.

Feet Slightly Burned.

The baby wore a shirt, diaper and flannel petticoat. Its feet were wrapped in large pieces of heavy, yellowish gauze. Upon examination later at the Hillside police station, Dr. Harold J. Tosney of Bellwood, Hillside health officer, said both the feet appeared to have been burned some time ago.

The burns might have been caused, he suggested, by bathing the infant in water that was too hot. The condition, however, was not serious, Dr. Tosney said, and seemed to be causing the child little pain.

Eats and Falls Asleep.

Dr. Tosney's first act was to feed the baby three ounces of prepared milk, water and syrup. This she took eagerly, and immediately fell asleep.

Later in the day, after Dr. Tosney had given the baby a second bottle of milk, she was taken to St. Vincent's orphanage.

SHOT RESISTING ROBBER.

Bloomington, Ill., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Lewis C. Hill, owner of a service station at Lexington, 15 miles north of here, was shot in the face when he resisted four youthful bandits who held up his place Saturday night.

ICKES WILL GET CHICAGO VIEWS ON HOUSING ACT

Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt and John Fugard, chairman of the Chicago housing authority appointed by Mayor Kelly, will represent the city today at the Washington conference for discussion of the $526,000,000 housing act signed Sept. 3 by the President.

The meeting was called by Secretary of the Interior Ickes to give a hearing to all opinions on conduct of the program, it was announced. The new housing authority will be under Ickes' general supervision.

Municipal housing authorities, under the act, may borrow from the national authority up to 90 per cent of the cost of any building, amortizing the loan by bonds secured by rents. According to Coleman Woodbury of Chicago, executive director of the National Association of Housing Officials, a sound local authority should be able to borrow the remaining 10 per cent from city funds or private sources.

FORMER ACTOR DIES IN HOME.

INVESTIGATE GUN DEATH OF YOUTH IN HOME TODAY

An inquest will be held today into the death of Donald Nocton, 18 years old, Morgan Park High school pupil, who was found shot through the chest Saturday night in the bedroom of his home at 11106 Church street. A .22 caliber rifle, which had been broken in two, was lying across his body.

Helen Bruesch, 15 years old, 1662 Monterey avenue, told the police that she had met Nocton early in the evening and upbraided him for drinking. "I told him to go home before others could see that he had been drinking," she said.

The youth's parents, Earl Nocton, owner of a gasoline filling station at 42d and Halsted streets, and his wife, Agnes, discovered the tragedy when they returned from a shopping trip. They said that they believed their son had shot himself accidentally.

Let Contract Today for Revolutionary War Shaft

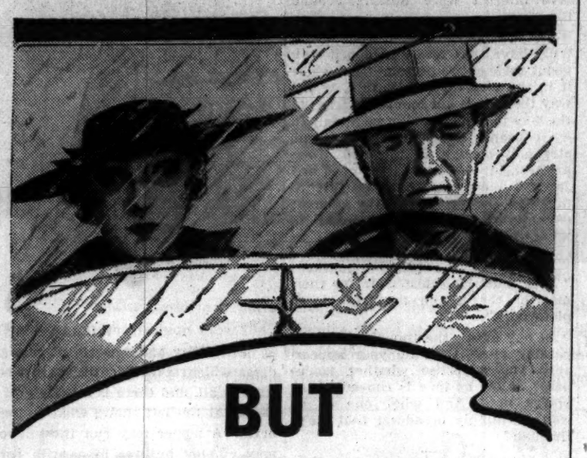
An 18-foot granite and bronze monument to three revolutionary war heroes—George Washington, Robert Morris, and Hyam Solomon—will be erected soon in Grant park. The contract will be awarded today to Lorado Taft associates. Announcement of the plan was made by Barnet Hodes, director of the Patriotic Foundation of Chicago, which raised $40,000 of the $55,000 cost by popular contribution.



BUT IT'S ALWAYS FAIR WEATHER ON THE "L"

■ Eyes straining to see through a rain-spotted windshield . . . cars brushing by in a slippery street with only inches to spare . . . a skid as your foot comes down hard on the brakes : : : that kind of driving is no fun for anyone! And hundreds of thousands of people here in Chicago have found the way to avoid it. They ride the "L", with its 5,383 trains every working day speeding them to their destinations.

On rainy days and sunny days : : : Winter and Summer : : : day and night . . . this great group of people board the "L" at protected stations. They settle down for a fast, comfortable trip on trains that rush through the city above the streets over a private railroad right-of-way. They travel over street traffic instead of through it. They reach their destinations on time, without nervous strain, and without having been exposed to the weather.

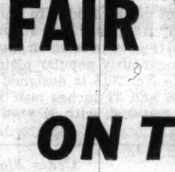
SUBURBAN SERVICE



■ If you live in the north or west suburbs of Chicagoland, the "L" is the one dependable transportation system that couples your home with the city—day and night—regardless of weather. And coming or going, you never have to rush to catch the last train. THERE IS NO LAST TRAIN ON THE "L"!

LOW SCHOOL FARES

Public and parochial school students—under 19 years of age—ride the "L" for a fare of only 5c per trip, obtainable when 20-ride school books are purchased. Children under 12 years of age pay only 3c per ride. Boys and girls prefer the "L." They enjoy moving about in spacious cars, traveling at high speeds, up in the fresh air and sunshine, above the hazards of crowded city streets.

GET THERE! Ride the "L"

Send for free reprint of a series of three illustrated articles on syphilis which recently appeared in the Graphic Section of the Chicago Sunday Tribune. These articles describe the many ways in which syphilis is contracted, tell what it does to its victims and their children if neglected or improperly treated, and explain how it can be cured or arrested. They should be read by every unmarried man and woman, by every married couple, and by all young people of high school age. Sent in a plain envelope.

GAMBLING WITH DEATH?

Yes, if you're failing to get proper treatment for a venereal disease!

Don't be among the 300,000 to die this year from syphilis or gonorrhea, but see a capable doctor or this responsible clinic—at once!

IF YOU know or suspect you have syphilis or gonorrhea, and want to escape being among the 300,000 who die each year from these diseases and their complications, there are three rules you must strictly observe:

(1) Never attempt to treat yourself, for self treatment doesn't cure the infection but merely relieves the symptoms. (2) Consult a capable physician or responsible clinic —immediately! (3) Continue treatment faithfully until repeated physical examinations and laboratory tests prove you are cured.

Unless these rules are carefully followed, consequences of a shocking nature are likely to occur. Neglected or improperly-treated syphilis, for instance, may lead to fatal heart disease, blindness, deafness, apoplexy, paralysis or even insanity. Also, it often causes mothers to give birth to dead, deformed or feeble-minded babies!

Bad as syphilis is, gonorrhea is almost as disastrous. It is the Great Sterilizer—the principal cause of childless homes. In men it may result in stricture, crippling rheumatism, or serious prostate, bladder, kidney and other troubles; in women, mutilating pelvic operations and permanent invalidism.

No need to take chances!

There's absolutely no need to resort to self treatment or consult a quack doctor, for competent medical attention is always available at charges within your ability to pay. Your family physician is a good man to talk to, or you can get specialized treatment at standardized low fees by coming to the Public Health Institute.

So don't seek relief over the drug counter, or go to one of those charlatans who not only give unskilled treatment but frequently victimize men and women in perfect health. It's false economy to do so, because many a case which might have been promptly cured at the outset finally has to be treated in a hospital bed!

For 17 years the Public Health Institute has been specializing in the examination and treatment of syphilis and gonorrhea. Its friendly, sympathetic men and women physicians are all graduates of reputable medical schools, and are all thoroughly trained in the superior methods resulting from giving more than 4,500,000 examinations and treatments. Each patient of the Institute is promptly attended in a private room, and to avoid embarrassment is identified by a number rather than by name.

Treatments as low as $1.00

Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, the Public Health Institute offers treatment for venereal diseases at the lowest possible fees consistent with specialized medical attention. An examination for syphilis and gonorrhea, including all necessary laboratory tests, costs only $3.00, while some treatments for syphilis cost as little as $1.00 and some of those for gonorrhea still less!

Hence it is the height of folly to run the risk of letting a venereal disease incapacitate you and cut years from your normal span of life. For not only can unsurpassed medical attention be obtained confidentially and at very low cost, but even persons who are temporarily pressed for money can arrange to be treated.

NOTE: Even if you don't suspect infection, an examination is recommended for the reason that syphilis can be contracted innocently and exist without your knowledge!

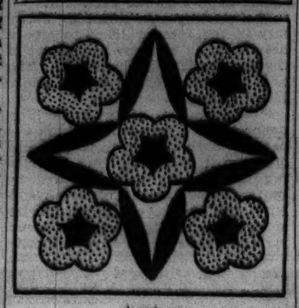
Delicate Jasmine Is Portrayed in Applique Quilt



Jasmine.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The delicate jasmine has been successfully portrayed in this applique quilt block which is an ideal one for a young girl's room. The "Jasmine" block is composed of yellow and green against a white background. This combination is fresh and cheerful looking. "Jasmine" is another of those quilt designs which lend themselves to the work of a beginning quilt maker hesitantly starting her first job of applique. The 28 applique blocks are set together in an alternate arrangement with 28 plain blocks, and surrounded by a 6 inch border bound in green. The over-all dimensions of the coverlet are 92 by 104 inches.

Brothers Married to Sisters Observe Golden Anniversary

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Brothers who married sisters half a century ago today celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at Cressey when the families of Mr. and Mrs. George White and those of Mr. and Mrs. William White gathered in the home of the latter. The two sisters were Misses Anna M. and Laura E. Bloss. Both husbands are farmers and the couples have spent their entire lives near each other. Following a joint family dinner today friends were entertained with a reception and program in the afternoon.

A reception for Mrs. Arthur J. O'Neill, president national of the United States Daughters of 1812, and Mrs. Bert W. Crissey, state president, will be given by the official board of the Illinois Daughters of 1812 at 2 o'clock today at the Blackstone hotel.

Blazing Colors Feature Wools for Fall Wear

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Probably the most blinding clothes of fashion history are the brand new excitements of fancy and fantastically colored wools. The defiantly colorful, casual things for country, street, and spectator sportswear, outfits of suit and coat or dress and coat blaze with pattern and color contrast. An average spectator needs a good pair of sun glasses for the first showings. After that nothing shocks. Vivid pinks clashing with acid greens crossed with a straying stripe of magenta or sulphur yellow seem calm after a day or so of viewing other spellbinders.

Fir tree green is mixed with coral; a vivid band of bright blue accents a bright blue woolen dress. A plaid of strawberry rose, doubled with clear, cold sapphire blue and a bit of imperial purple, fashions a short jacket worn over a delightfully hazy strawberry rose wool dress.

Tweeds, gloriously checked, plaided and mixed, are wild concoctions of color to wear with the clear, strong shades of thin wool dresses. The fabric makers have done this duet stuff in a grand manner this fall.

The thin bright wool dresses that are matched exactly to one color of the dizzy plaid of striped or checked wool of the jacket or coat are the smartest, newest and most effective fall outfits that have ever been unpacked.

Stripes in woolens for dress and coat and jacket are rather wide and mixed to achieve a splendor seldom seen outside the illustrated pages of an Arabian Nights story book. Striped thin wool makes a spectacular contrast under a slim coat. The stripes in diagonal formation seem all the more spectacular after seasons of solid colors.

Less flamboyant stripes feature three shades of a single color, and are slick contrasts for dull black, brown or subdued daytime coats. Some of the squares in the newest checks are at least six inches across, others four, but the smaller sizes make up for the lack of area in vivid colors. The greens and canary yellows in a vivid arrangement in one tweedish mixture are just a lively hint of what you'll find around the yardage departments as well as featured in outfits ready to wear.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

ASKING AFTER AN OPENING TWO BID.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

There must be a modification in the rules for asking bids when made by a player who has made an opening two bid. In many hands strong enough for two bids the trump suit requires no support, and it is desirable to make an asking bid.

For this reason the opening two bidder has available the jump asking bid. A two bid creates a forcing situation in which every bid still is forcing and cannot be dropped. Jump bids are therefore unnecessary. If a player jumps [skips a round of bidding], after an opening two bid, to a bid of four or higher in a new suit, it is an asking bid, even though no suit has been raised.

In this case the last suit bid before the asking bid always is the agreed trump suit. Thus:

South	North
2 spades	3 diamonds
5 clubs [asking bid]

If South bid four clubs North could not pass. Therefore South has no reason for making a jump bid, except to make an asking bid. Diamonds is the agreed trump suit. It was bid last before the asking bid.

TODAY'S HAND.

SOUTH

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

It seems incredible that East should have passed over four hearts only to double four spades. It would appear to the casual observer that East had a good double of four hearts and a highly questionable four spade double. The fact remains that that is what happened.

West opened a low diamond. East won with the ace and shifted to a low heart. Declarer ruffed and led to the queen of spades. Obviously the contract would have been a laydown had declarer merely ruffed a heart to reenter his hand, and drawn the outstanding trumps in two leads. But it must be borne in mind that he had no idea that there was such a good division of trumps. East's double made it appear certain that the trumps would be divided at least as badly as 4-2. Declarer had been shortened at the second trick. If he voluntarily shortened himself again he would, presumably, be down to the same trump length as East. He still had the club ace to knock out, and this would give the opponents the opportunity to shorten him below East's trump length. Thus, it looked like suicide to attempt to draw trumps. I venture to say that there is not a fine player alive who, when doubled, would play for a 3-3 trump break on this hand.

Declarer made the wise and normal play, under the circumstances. He led a low club from dummy. To his disgust, East ruffed and led a diamond. West won, cashed the ace of clubs, and gave East another club ruff.

When declarer saw that he had gone down two on a hand which he could have made against the defense that actually was used, his feelings can be better imagined than described.

Apropos of the bidding and the arrival at the final contract, it is true that South's jump rebid was on the aggressive side, but there was logic in the bid, and on the combined North-South holdings the final contract was a good one.

Chic Reaches Crisis During Middle Age

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

The old conversational companion piece for "How old is Ann?" namely, "For whom do women titivate?" was discussed at a recent gathering. Only the theme that day was confined to "for whom do women beautify, themselves or for some man or men?"

"Well," conceded one guest, "if women don't make themselves beautiful for men, how do you explain the slump that attacks women beyond the lovelit age?"

"But what, my hearty," inquired a second, "do you call the end of the lovelit age?"

The argument went on about the age limit for love; that is, the kind that inspires the fair sex to buckle on its most deadly armor and do battle. Naturally, the name of the world's most famous woman who turned the tide for the middle aged was stressed as proving there "ain't no age limit."

But we won't go into that argument. What we got out of the topic was the suggestion that there comes an age when women let themselves down, because the lovelight is already darkened. It made us think of a number of women who still are keeping themselves up, although four good decades and more are behind them, keeping themselves up as if a new love interest were waiting around the corner.

And it made us think of women who truly have that love abandoned look about their entire person. They show it in the way they walk, talk, in the way the hair is not tended smartly, in the way they let the skin go hang. In a thousand different ways. And, strangely enough, in this last group are women who, because of good and faithful husbands, could be just as much on the qui vive as the younger woman in the throes of her divine romance.

As one in the group remarked: "They must have lost taste for their men or they'd aim to please more pictorially."

In any event, the thought is worth passing along that, by your appearance you advertise whether you're passe as far as love is concerned, or you're not. And what one of us would willingly broadcast that we're through?

Simplicity, World of Chic

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Simplicity and a world of chic are combined in this attractive daytime dress which takes beautifully to woolens. This model is easy to sew in no time at all, and there is a variety of treatment which you may give it. The sketch at the left shows what tremendous smartness may be achieved with braid. A zipper may run the entire length of the frock, however, or one may employ buttons in a prim row, as illustrated at the right. Sleeves may be long or short and, in either case, are puffed at the shoulder line. A pocket may, if you wish, adorn the bodice, and it may be closed with a decorative zipper to match that down the front of the dress. The collar is versatile, too. It may be a high and round one, created of lingerie fabric, with cuffs to match, or it may contrast with the frock and have rever lines.

No matter what treatment you give the styling, the basically comfortable lines of the frock are permanent. It's the type of dress in which you can fairly live, since it is roomy and has a nice flare to the skirt.

Any type of woolen in any color will make up well. And don't forget the tremendously popular plaids.

Style No. 2018 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36 and 38 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material, with ½ yard of 39 inch contrasting and 5 yards of braid.

Swing Tune Has Premiere in Church at Hollywood

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A new swing tune, "Happy Ending," had its premiere in the Episcopal Church of the Angels today. Lew Pollack and Sidney Mitchell, who wrote the song for a forthcoming Shirley Temple picture, attended the service. "I think you and I have much in common," the Rev. Neal Dodd, the pastor, told them. "Really worth while songs spread cheerfulness."

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

From the notebook:

Next time you give a dinner party in the grand manner put a few drops of good cologne into the finger bowl water. Something fresh and sweet smelling—not too highly perfumed, or the men will object. Carnation seems to be a favorite, but our own choice would be verbena.

Another trick that adds to the niceties of living and entertaining is to spray a bit of cologne around the living room while the guests are at dinner. One woman of our acquaintance, who does all things beautifully, always has her maid do this as soon as the guests have finished their cocktails [which usually means cigarets, too] and have gone into the dining room. The windows are opened and the room sprayed with a delicately scented cologne. It counteracts the tobacco smoke and perfumes the room ever so lightly.

With the party giving season opening up you'd better stock up on powdering accessories for your guests. By all means invest in a whole flock of powder shades. Instead of buying regular sizes of many shades you can get one round box with several compartments, each containing a different tint.

Stock up on little puffs, too. They're most inexpensive and come in all shapes and colors. Of course, they're meant to be thrown away after one using. And if you want to do things up right, you should have at least one long handled puff for powdering the back. One or two colognes in the guest room are a good idea, too. ELEANOR NANGLE.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Forty women of assorted ages, representing mainly the more venomous forms of the deadlier sex as found by naturalists who frequent Park avenue, New York City, are on exhibition in the play called "The Women," which launched the Erlanger theater into its new season last night. They are displayed in intimate moments when no man is at hand to have his illusions shattered—at the bridge party, in the beauty shop, the dress shop, reducing room, the lying-in hospital, the Reno divorce hotel, the bath tub, and the cabaret powder room. Behind the veil of these feminine mysteries they talk, it appears, about nothing but men, frequently applying to their husbands or lovers delicate terms of abuse, such as "the rats."

Except for three or four of these characters, it would be proper to describe "The Women" as a cat show. Its theme is the feline instinct of Park avenue females to tear their friends' happiness into rags. The authoress has limited the field of her observation, by implication in the dialog and by confession in the preface to the printed play, to the idle women of luxury who inhabit the apartments of New York's most fashionable thoroughfare. The satire, therefore, may be regarded as specialized and class prejudiced.

But the play abounds in generalities; its characters are constantly uttering wisecracks and epigrams to the tune of "women are this"—"women are that." Its field of reference, then, may be taken as extending beyond Park avenue into its imitations in cities all over the country. So it may be stated that there never was a play so blatant in its expressions of contempt for certain phases of feminine personality.

"The Women" is unusual as a stage production; it is a deviled hard boiled egg of drama. It has a vivacity of picturesque vernacular speech that may pass for wit; many of its characters are cut to an eccentric pattern; and it provides frequent opportunities for gusts of laughter although its sense of humor is tough and its thrusts of comedy are fairly brutal.

The story revolves around the only character in the coterie who may be called sweet—a devoted wife who has, strangely enough, surrounded herself with a squad of serpent tongued and ferret hearted friends. They arrange for her discovery that her husband has taken a shop girl as his mistress; they heckle her into seeking a divorce; and they are swarming around her eager for more scandal, when she takes steps to rescue her husband from his unfortunate second marriage. All this is told at length in twelve episodes, placed in various places where the harpies of Park avenue and their auxiliaries can get together and talk and talk and talk.

The company which acts "The Women" has been organized for a tour while the parent organization continues its successful career in New York. The cast is serviceable, but it does not glitter with talent. In general, it lacks the edge and polish required for fantastic satirical comedy. Lois Wilson, former movie actress, appears pleasantly as the gentle heroine; the main Park avenuers are acted, hardly well enough, by Virginia Barnelle, Mary Loane, and Emily Ross. Among the players who are effective in secondary rôles are Doris Packer, as a cynical writer; Laura Pierpont, as the mother; Emily Smiley, as an ageing cosmopolitan divorcée, and Dorrit Kelton as a Reno servant.

THE speech the mother of Mrs. Stephen Haines makes in "The Women," at the Erlanger, when Mrs. Haines, suspecting her husband is interested in another woman, asks for advice:

"Stephen's tired of himself. Tired of feeling the same things in himself year after year. Time comes when every man's got to feel something new—when he's got to feel young again, just because he's growing old. Women are just the same. But when we get that way we change our hair dress. Or get a new cook. Or redecorate the house from stem to stern, But a man can't do over his office, or fire his secretary, nor even change the style of his hair. And the urge usually hits him hardest just when he's beginning to lose his hair. No, dear, a man has only one escape from his old self; to see a different self—in the mirror of some woman's eyes."

HarrietLeonard Is Engaged to William Turpin

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE annual New Year's day reception that John Robert Leonard already is planning for Jan. 1, 1938, will be doubly gay and memorable, for it will serve as the wedding reception for Miss Harriet Leonard and William Turpin of Indianapolis, Ind. At a dinner party at his home, Wildacre, in Winnetka last night Mr. Leonard announced the engagement of his second daughter to Mr. Turpin, who used to live in New York. Last night's party was a double celebration, too, for it marked Mr. Leonard's birthday.

The Ralph Hutchinson Pooles of Lake Forest also are preparing for a wedding in their family. They announced yesterday the engagement of their daughter, Nancy Marie, to Joseph E. Rich, son of Mrs. R. Joseph Rich of Winnetka. Miss Poole was graduated from Sarah Lawrence college at Bronxville, N. Y., in 1936. Mr. Rich prepared for college at the Hill school and was graduated from Yale in 1936.

New Year's a Historic Day in Leonard Family.

The Leonard family's traditional New Year's day at home has many happy associations for the family aside from greeting several hundred of their friends at each reception. On the first day of 1936 Miss Deborah Leonard's engagement to Frode Jensen was announced. Two years earlier, but for the illness of Daniel Leonard, the occasion would have been a wedding reception for him and Miss Sarah May Morey. That year the reception was canceled when the wedding was postponed, and Miss Morey did not become Mrs. Leonard until February after the bridegroom had recovered.

The next party will be the Leonard's 26th at home on New Year's day. Receiving with Mr. Leonard and the bride and groom will be Dr. and Mrs. Jensen, the Daniel Leonards and the former Mary Elizabeth Leonard and her husband, Hibbard Casselberry, who will come from their home in Winter Park, Fla., for the wedding and reception.

Miss Leonard is a graduate of the North Shore Country Day school and of Radcliffe college. She is a member of the Chicago Junior league, and is on the board of the Children's Memorial hospital. She also is a Grey Lady in the Red Cross and is vice president of the North Shore Hockey association. Mr. Turpin is an agricultural graduate and now is studying electrical engineering.

Mary Jane Rich Engaged to Wed Frank C. Stover.

Four other interesting engagements were made known over the week-end. At a cocktail party at home yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Rich of 539 Sheridan road,

Looking at Hollywood

BY ED SULLIVAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Ever with an eye to beauty, your coast reporter has spent his first seven days in this town seeking out, quite casually, those sets and stages on which good lookers are emoting. This is hard work and it is what I am paid for.

Loretta Young.

You learn one important thing in your investigation of the femme big shots of the industry. There is no such thing as a lucky star. Loretta Young and Kay Francis both were born in January, but you can dismiss this as nothing but coincidence. Joan Crawford's birth month was March. Ginger Rogers is a July product. Carole Lombard was an October baby. Deanna Durbin is a December lass. Claudette Colbert and Virginia Bruce are of the September sign. Katharine Hepburn was born in November. Myrna Loy is under the astrological design of August. Shirley Temple was born April 23, so you girls can disregard safely your birth date. It doesn't mean a thing.

I saw Carole Lombard, Shirley Temple, Loretta Young and Kay Francis yesterday. The only one of the four who gave me anything was Miss Temple. She gave me a gold badge on which is written "Shirley Temple police." At least it looks like a gold badge. You've read a lot of sob stuff about Shirley. I'll sum it up. She's a nice little kid.

The most gorgeous of the eyefuls in this town, for my money, is Loretta Young, the Salt Lake City girl who has made good in a big way. Ranking next to her would be an Oklahoma City entry, Kay Francis. Minneapolis takes third place, I think, with Virginia Bruce, and Texas scores fourth brackets with Joan Crawford.

Loretta Young is all the moonlit hammocs and college campuses of the country typified in one girl. She was telling me yesterday that when she was sick and it appeared that her movie career was ended she was impressed by two things: [1] The interest and compassion of her real friends, and [2] the complete disinterest of those she had considered intimate friends. These latter, believing that she was all washed up in pictures, dropped her like a hot cake, not even bothering to call her house and inquire her condition. But, to their amazement, she came back and today is bigger than ever before.

So now the phonies who absented themselves are sending word to her through intermediaries explaining their dereliction. Each one has a different alibi, but they sound rather cheap to Loretta, who has a very level head despite its loveliness.

Claudette Colbert and Kay Francis, the two cinema glamor ladies who figured in the "Tovarich" row, are working within a stone's throw of each other on the Warner lot at Burbank, which is about ten miles from Los Angeles as the crow flies. Not having a crow to ride, I found that the distance by car was longer than that. La Colbert and myself are old friends. I call her "Frenchie" and she calls me "Irish." On occasion, when ired by this reporter, she has invented more forceful names than that, but she has a swell sense of humor and she pays her bets.

In New York, one night, we got into a heated argument over the age of a noted actress, and I bet her two ties against six pairs of silk hose. For once in my life I was right and let it be said so that all may hear, Claudette sent me the two ties. We didn't make any bets yesterday, unfortunately. She and Charles Boyer were playing a scene in "Tovarich." I tried to get Director Anton Litvak into a bet. But he refused to take any chances. I told Boyer I'd met a lot of his friends in Paris. "I'll be there in about two weeks," he said, and perhaps I can beat him for some haberdashery before he gets out of town.

Last time I'd been with Kay Francis, the stunning brunette and myself were engaged in a heated argument. I'd written that she was 37 years old, basing it on the date given in an important almanac. It developed that she was 32. "You know that story of yours was picked up all over the country," Kay told me yesterday.

I assured her that instead of looking 32 she looked about 28. She was wearing a dark blue dress, or maybe it was black, with a colorful bandeau at the throat and the same colors circling the skirt, and the net effect was really somethin'. And there was a gold wedding band on the third finger of her left hand!

Carole Lombard, of all these feminine distractions, seems to have the greatest fun on the set. Others utter loud and emphatic swear words when they blow up in a scene. Miss Lombard instead talks to herself in a high soprano gibberish that nobody else understands. Loretta Young says: "Oh-h-h." Joan Crawford shakes her head. The Misses Colbert and Francis say "damn" or "hell" with great feeling. Shirley Temple giggles.

Beauty is from every section of the country. Kay Francis comes from Oklahoma City. Katharine Hepburn is from Hartford, Conn. Carole Lombard is from Fort Wayne, Ind. Virginia Bruce comes from Minneapolis, and Myrna Loy from Helena, Mont. Salt Lake City produced Loretta Young and San Antonio, Tex., was responsible for Joan Crawford. Ginger Rogers was born in Iowa. Claudette Colbert is really a New Yorker.

Movie Depicts Life in Ukraine of 17th Century

"NAZAR STODOLYA."

JUST SAY, "CHARGE IT . . . PLEASE"

"Find This Girl"

BY ROY VICKERS [Copyright, 1937, by Roy Vickers.]

SYNOPSIS.

Bessie Mersand, a nurse, is acquitted of the charge of administering a fatal dose of medinal to an elderly patient. After the trial, as Bessie Mathews, she is given a job by Gwynneth Bentley, caring for Gwynneth's invalid husband. Gwynneth plans to kill her husband and plant the blame on Bessie so that she can marry her lover, Roy Gleason. Medinal tablets are placed in Bessie's charge. Gwynneth hides a valuable jeweled dagger then puts the ground medinal tablets in her husband's food. She then gives Bessie the day off. In London Bessie meets her friend, Jim Watkin, who has learned of the crime. He hides Bessie. Jim visits Gwynneth for clews. A trowel in her hands gives him a hunch that the dagger is buried in the garden. He warns her the garden will be dug up, then sets a private detective to watch. Gwynneth sees through his plan. She tells him to Bessie and forces her to go with her and stay with a deaf woman at Rose cottage. She tricks Bessie into digging up the dagger. Bessie is caught, but escapes, and hides in the Bentley loft. Sneaking down for food, Bessie overhears Jim denouncing her to Gwynneth.

INSTALMENT XXXVII.

BRILLIANT GUESSWORK.

"O, that's not a guess that someone is hiding Bessie," said Jim. "That's a certainty. "I've worked it out that she simply must be hiding somewhere in this neighborhood. I see that I may have been wrong when I said there must be a local confederate. The person who hid her—who is hiding her now—may be quite innocent—may not know that Bessie is wanted by the police."

"How perfectly ridiculous!" sneered Gwynneth. "The whole country knows about her now. All the newspapers, to say nothing about the wireless——"

"I'm going to say a lot about the wireless," cut in Jim. "She's being hidden by some one who can't, or doesn't, read the newspapers, and who can't or doesn't hear the wireless. Say a semi-illiterate cottager who is stone deaf."

Bessie very nearly cheered. Her dream had been shattered—her love violently uprooted. Yet she could not withhold her admiration for Jim, whose vivid imagination was already drawing the picture of Mrs. Kent.

"There's no semi-illiterate deaf cottager anywhere near here, as far as I know," returned Gwynneth. Her voice was almost unnaturally steady, which told Jim that Gwynneth was afraid.

"Ah! You said I was a conceited man. But I'm not too conceited to follow police methods when they're useful. A person who is so deaf that he or she can never hear the wireless is pretty sure to be under medical treatment. I'll find that deaf illiterate in half an hour if you'll let me use your telephone. I'll ring up all the hospitals in the district and every doctor."

"If you want to annoy people like that, you certainly won't do it from my house—ringing up people at this hour of the night!" retorted Gwynneth. "You have the mind of a romantic schoolboy. A semi-illiterate cottager who is too deaf to hear the wireless! You've begun to fancy yourself as a Sherlock Holmes—or else the knowledge that you've made a fool of yourself over this girl has driven you mad."

"I believe you're right, Mrs. Bentley. I'm nearly all in. We'll cut the guesswork and we'll stick to solid facts. Bessie didn't get out of this neighborhood that night. I do know a bit about her habits, and I happen to know she'd got a bad heel—she cut it bathing on the beach at Brighton."

"She's a clever, resourceful girl and I've been over the ground here. She'd have had to do a lot of sprinting even to get back to that car in the lane. She just couldn't have done it. It was a sheer impossibility for her to make a breakaway that night—as she's supposed to have made a breakaway. There's only one theory that makes any kind of sense. Have you a loft in this house?"

"Yes—why?"

"Have you looked in it lately?"

"No."

Bessie felt as if she were being battered to death. Jim Watkin's brilliant guesswork, which had been used to protect her, was now being used against her. And in the loft they would find evidence of its occupation. Already they were walking up the stairs together. Her capture now could only be a matter of minutes.

Clutching her fish bag stuffed with provisions, she crept from her hiding place. Jim and Gwynneth were on the first floor. She waited until they passed along the corridor—then she opened the front door, got into Jim's car, and touched the self starter.

As she turned up the drive she switched on the headlights and picked out a constable standing near the gate. She slowed to avert suspicion.

"Good night, sir!" said the constable and for answer Bessie gave two staccato notes on the horn.

Jim, she reasoned, would discover the loss of his car in a few minutes and he would get busy on the telephone. There would be no hope of getting through to London.

There would be just time to get to Rose Cottage.

On the second landing Gwynneth Bentley touched the arm of the man whom, until recently, she had hated.

"What was that?" she whispered, anxious not to wake the servants.

"Some one stalled in the road outside, I expect. What does it matter! If she's in the loft, leave it to me. She may have a weapon."

Armed with an electric torch, it was Jim who went alone up the wooden stairs and through the open trap door. He flashed the torch round the loft, then signed to Gwynneth to come up.

"What price that?" demanded Watkin, pointing to an old mattress laid out and some curtains rolled up to make a pillow. Further, there was an open book by the side of the mattress, to say nothing of a water carafe.

"I think she spent the night here, Mrs. Bentley."

"Then where is she now?"

It took ten minutes to be quite certain that Bessie was not in the house, for Jim insisted on doing things thoroughly. They went through the kitchen and all the rooms in the house, looking behind everything that could conceal a living person.

"I don't know. Only the cook could say. And I don't see the point of routing her out of bed. If Bessie has been here, what does it matter whether she entered the larder?"

"As you cannot be sure she did not, I shall take it that she did," asserted Jim. "Well, I haven't been wholly successful, Mrs. Bentley. But I reckon I've shown you enough to make you believe that I'm not just fooling around."

It was some twenty minutes since they had started the first search. Jim Watkin showed signs of wanting to examine the house afresh for new clews, but on the first floor Gwynneth refused.

"Right you are! Glad I've been able to help you!" he grinned. "Don't bother to let me out, Mrs. Bentley! I'll shut the door carefully and turn off the lights. Reckon you and I can keep in touch in the future."

So many canning and preserving problems are occupying the minds of housewives nowadays that it seems a good idea to make today's column a clearing house for such perplexities.

May leftover fruit pulp be used for anything after the juice has been extracted from it for jelly? we have been asked several times.

The answer is yes. The fruit pulp may be used for a fruit butter. Put it through a sieve, add sugar and spices, if desired, and cook it down until the mixture is thick enough to hold shape, but soft enough to spread easily. Always remember that slow or long cooking will have a tendency to spoil the flavor and make the butter dark. Most fruit butters require about ¾ cup of sugar to each cup of pulp.

Whenever a sad, sweet voice wails to us over the telephone nowadays we know that there is another jelly failure.

Here are the most common causes of such disaster: 1. The fruit used may not have contained enough acid or pectin, may have been overripe, may have been cooked with too much water before the juice was extracted, or may have been undercooked. 2. Too much sugar was added. The old "cup for cup" rule does not hold for every type of fruit. 3. The jelly was undercooked or overcooked. 4. The jelly was cooked too slowly, was cooked over too low a heat, or too much was cooked at once.

What can you do with sirupy jelly? Well, if it was undercooked, more cooking may help, but in most cases the deed is done and the remedy is to grin and bear it. Sirupy jelly makes a lovely accompaniment for waffles or pancakes [it may be diluted if too thick to suit the palate], and it may be used as pudding sauce, ice cream topping, and flavoring in many desserts.

What to do about mold on canned fruits and vegetables is another canning problem.

If a canned vegetable shows signs of mold it should be destroyed at once. It isn't safe for use. But mold on fruits and preserves isn't such a serious matter unless it has had time to permeate the product. Simply remove the mold from the top of the jar, bring the fruit to boiling, and then seal in a sterile, tested jar.

When apple butter begins to mold remove the moldy layer and turn the butter into an open kettle. Boil for several minutes, adding a little cider, perhaps, to prevent scorching and to perk up the flavor. Apple butter keeps best in sealed jars. Juice rising to the top of the butter is apt to loosen a paraffin topping.

Mold grows best in dark, damp places. The moral of that is plain. Store the jars where it is dry.

Evanston, announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Jane, to Frank C. Stover, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Stover of Winnetka.

Mr. Stover is a graduate of Princeton university and studied architecture at the University of Illinois. The wedding will take place this winter.

At a tea Saturday afternoon at their home in Lincoln Park West Dr. and Mrs. Walter C. McKee announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Virginia, to Walter Leighton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leighton of South Bend, Ind.

Miss McKee is a graduate of the Francis Parker school and Northwestern university, and her fiancé was graduated from Northwestern university and took his Ph. D. degree at Harvard university. He will be a lecturer in mathematics at Rice Institute in Houston, Tex., this year, and he and his bride will live there after their wedding at Christmastime.

Announce Betrothal of Ernestine Bilger.

Mr. and Mrs. John Franklin Bilger gave a tea yesterday afternoon at home in Hinsdale to announce the engagement of their daughter, Ernestine, to Bradford Wiles, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wiles of Chicago.

Miss Bilger and Mr. Wiles are graduates of the University of Chicago. No date has been set for the wedding.

At a dinner at home in Elgin Saturday night Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crichton McNeil of 7 Villa court announced the engagement of their daughter, Eleanor Belle, to William Kellogg Child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Rush Child of Glencoe. A second party to celebrate the engagement was a tea given yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Child in Glencoe.

Miss McNeil attended Pine Manor and was graduated from Northwestern university. Mr. Child is a graduate of Yale university. The wedding will take place late this winter.

Avery-Follansbee Parties to Follow Honeymoon.

It was to be expected that there would be parties galore for pretty and popular Miss Nancy Avery and Rogers Follansbee, who are to be married Thursday, but the bride wisely has decided to postpone all entertaining until after their return so that they will not be tired when they go away on their wedding trip.

The wedding is to be a quiet one at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sewell L. Avery, at 209 Lake Shore drive. Only the two families and a few close friends will be present for the service at 3:30 o'clock and the reception following. Mrs. William B. McMillan of St. Louis will be her sister's only attendant. Mitchell D. Follansbee will be his son's best man.

Mr. Follansbee and his bride will live on the near north side. Within a short time Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Follansbee's daughter, Miss Susan Follansbee, will be married to Robert Cameron-Smith. The Baroness Helmuth von Erffa will come from Cambridge, Mass., for her brother's and her sister's weddings.

Edith Maud Rice to Wed on Parents' Anniversary.

Miss Edith Maud Rice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hinsdale Rice of Hinsdale, will be married to John Griffith Symons on the evening of Oct. 16 in Grace church, Hindsdale. The occasion will be one of unusual sentiment, for the bride's parents will celebrate their thirtieth wedding anniversary on that date. Mrs. Charles Parrish of Philadelphia, the bridegroom's sister, will be the matron of honor, and his other sister, Miss Sally Symons, will be a bridesmaid.

The other bridesmaids will be the bride's sister, Miss Margaretta Rice, Miss Mary Knowlson, and Miss Patricia Crusenberry of Chicago and Mamaroneck, N. Y., whom Miss Rice is visiting now. Miss Crusenberry and Miss Rice will motor home early this week to be here for the many parties that will be given for the bride-to-be during the three weeks before the wedding.

St. Luke's Board to Lay Fashion Show Plans Today.

At Mrs. George A. Ranney's house in Lake Forest today members of the woman's board of St. Luke's hospital will meet to complete plans for the fashion show to be held on Oct. 19 at the Stevens hotel. After the meeting the women will remain for luncheon.

Tomorrow Mrs. John W. Gary, president; Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams, Mrs. Edward L. Ryerson Jr., and Mrs. Frank P. Hixon will give a tea at the Casino for the debutantes who will be invited to take part in the show.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Linn, who are returning today from Charlevoix, Mich., will be among those entertaining at tonight's performance of "The Women" at the Erlanger theater.

THE FAIR PRESENTS THE HARPER METHOD FOR THE CARE OF THE HAIR

Of course, you know about Harper Method treatments. Probably you have friends who depend on them to keep their hair healthy, lustrous and young-looking. But do you know the key to this secret? Here it is.

First—shampoo with Harper Method Shampoo. Its rich sudsy lather cuts all grime and grease, and rinses out completely. It leaves no residue to make your hair pasty or clog pores and follicles.

Second—every night shake on a few drops of Harper Method Tonic and massage it into the scalp. Then brush your hair vigorously for 3 minutes.

Harper Method Shampoo and Tonic are identically the same products used in the famous Harper Method Shops. They are the secret by which thousands of women keep their hair soft, lustrous and youthful. Each, 75c a bottle.

Miss Alice Russell Harper from the Harper Training School will be in our Toiletries Department for a limited time. During her stay the $1.25 Tonic and 35c Ointment will be offered for the price of the tonic alone.

THE FAIR—Main Floor—Three Stores.

Make Time to Play with Your Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

In carrying out the ideas for mothering the baby and growing child expressed in Sunday's article there are several things that are quite necessary. One that I want to point out today is particularly important because the young mother who does all her own work is always so busy. That point is that you must be willing to have time for your child.

By "having time" I don't mean what you have already taken for granted; merely that you must be willing to give time to the physical care of your baby or little child, the feeding of him, the bathing of him, and perhaps even reading to him regularly his bedtime story. What I mean is that you must be willing to take time out to show interest in what he is doing at the moment, to answer his spontaneous questions.

With lots of things to be done about the house it is natural to want to push along and get through. But if you do this, you and your baby will miss a lot. And if you have the "hurry slant" on life it is going to be just too bad.

By having time for him I don't mean that no matter what you are doing or what the occasion you must always stop to play with your child when he asks you; to admire what he has built; to answer fully every question whenever he asks it. But I do mean that in general you and your child will come closer together, and he and you will both learn about the world and each other if you are willing to put aside the work of the moment; to sit on the floor beside him, perhaps, and share in some big play business of his; to respond to his first attempts to talk; to encourage him when some "big project" in blocks or acrobatics seems doomed to failure, and to answer those questions which open up the world to him.

Have time for your little child. Don't feel irritated if he trots around after you and wants to "help" with the sweeping, or the washing, or the cleaning out of the icebox. After all, he's a chummy little thing and his home is his business and his circus, and you are the very hub of his world. So just be only too glad to let your housework slide, or your sewing and darning be postponed for the interesting and important—and sometimes precious—moments that occur and recur during the day.

If you are expecting a baby you may be interested in our extensive listing of names and their meanings. We have one list of boys' names and one of girls' names. Each list requires a large, 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address Mrs. Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

Bishop Stewart Dedicates Rebuilt Chapel Today

Quarry chapel, built more than 100 years ago by pioneer farmers, at Gambier, O., has been removed from its rural site and has been reconstructed within Episcopal headquarters at 65 East Huron street, where it will be rededicated at noon today by Bishop George Craig Stewart. Dedication services will be limited to staf members and officials of the diocese due to the smallness of the structure.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 19.—Five minutes of perfect offensive football sufficed to give the Chicago Bears a 14 to 2 victory over the Green Bay Packers today before 16,658, the largest crowd in the history of this bustling but gloom ridden little town.

Impotent in the first half, the Bears, using a new offense with which they often puzzled themselves as much as they did the Packers, marched 46 yards in seven plays for their first touchdown as soon as they had wrested the ball from the champions in the third quarter. Ray Nolting, who led this drive, went over behind Bronko Nagurski from the 2 yard line.

Manders Scores on Pass.

The next time the Bears got their hands on the ball they opened up with two passes. The first was incomplete. The second went for 45 yards and a touchdown, Jack Manders, the veteran full back, filling in at right half back, taking Quarter Back Bernie Masterson's flat pass on the 40 yard line and racing down the sidelines to the goal. Manders added both extra points.

Green Bay's two points came in the third period. Don Hutson, the Packers' veteran end, blocked Sam Francis' punt and the ball bounded out of bounds in the end zone, automatically becoming a safety.

Green Bay, led by Capt. Gantebein, Scherer, and Monnett, kept the pressure on the Bears in the fourth quarter and only timely interception of passes prevented a Packer score. Conkright, the rookie center, broke up one threat by taking Monnett's pass on the Bears' 14 yard line and Feathers broke up another by snaring a Monnett pass out of Laws' hands on the 15 yard line.

Packer Hopes Fade.

Ronzani choked off a third Packer assault by snatching Hutson's pass, aimed straight at Gantebein, and returning 20 yards to Green Bay's 40 yard line. Conkright also intercepted one of Ed Smith's passes in midfield later in the period and returned 10 yards to the Packers' 35 yard line.

The defeat, their second in league competition since they lost to the All-Americans at Soldiers' field, Chicago, in THE TRIBUNE'S All-Star game, eliminated the Packers from immediate contendership in the western division championship race. Further misfortune descended on the faltering champions when Lon Evans, veteran guard, was taken from the game with a fractured left arm.

Statistics Favor Packers.

The Packers again held a statistical advantage, duplicating their performances in the All-Star and Cardinal games, both of which they lost. They made 10 first downs to the Bears' 6 and gained 176 yards to the Bears' 137. They were able to make only 38 yards against a fighting Bear line, but completed 8 of 23 passes for 138 yards. The Bears' running attack, featuring more deception and cross blocking than the old Bear offensive, gained 74 yards. Three Bear passes netted 63 yards.

3 FIELD GOALS GIVE DETROIT ITS VICTORY MARGIN

Grosvenor Scores for Chicago.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—Dutch Clark and his Detroit Lions defeated the Cardinals of Chicago, 16 to 7, in a National professional league football game today before a crowd of 18,000.

Dutch Clark.

The Detroit margin of victory was more marked than the score indicates. The Lions showed a superior line that completely uprooted the Cards to pave the way for the brilliant Clark, coach and quarter back, to run and pass as of old.

The Lions scored a touchdown and three field goals, Clark drop kicking one from the 9 yard line and Regis Monahan adding the other two from placement. The Detroit coach scored the home team's touchdown following a brilliant cut back through the Cardinal secondary.

Grosvenor Scores for Cards.

George Grosvenor chalked up the Cardinal touchdown in the final period, at which stage of the game the Chicago team came very much to life offensively. Otherwise the Cards failed to advance the ball beyond the middle of the field.

The tough Card line appeared to be the master of the Lion backs in the first period. Aided greatly by a strong breeze, Grosvenor kept the Lions deep in their own territory with his long kicks. Clark used passes sparingly, enabling the Cards to mass their defense against Lion rushes. But the complexion of the game changed remarkably in the second quarter.

Detroit's first scoring march began from the Lion 32 yard line. Clark added passes and fakes to his attack and spread out the Card defense. A 15 yard run by Clark, a toss from Clark to Klewicki and smashes at the Card tackles, moved the ball up to the Chicago 12 yard line. Cadell was stopped on a reverse sweep, and Clark's drop kick on fourth down with 9 yards to go was successful.

Clark Goes Over.

Following the next exchange of punts in which Clark returned for a gain of 25 yards, Detroit showed a versatile offense behind a hard charging line. Clark tossed an 11 yard pass to Klewicki, which advanced the ball to the Card 27 yard line. On the next play Clark cut back through the Chicago left tackle for 27 yards and a touchdown.

Opening the third period, Blazine, Cuppoletti, and Parker gave a great defensive exhibition when they contributed much to halting a Detroit

BY FRENCH LANE.

Desperate attempts to make a hell-roaring world champion out of Joe Louis have resulted in just a few rain drops instead of the cloudburst which his board of strategy might have been expecting.

Following his meek first defense of the title against Tommy Farr, the Welshman, a few weeks ago, for which there was no stampede for tickets either to see Louis or Farr, all those financially interested in the Brown Bomber are reported to have come to the conclusion that something must be done, and done immediately, if Louis is to remain in the public eye as a colorful world champion.

It was evident that Louis' handlers, who had safeguarded every avenue for a possible move that would reflect upon his race, had gone too far.

Strategy Board Rubs Off Some Glamor.

By looking after him too closely and by correcting his mistakes before he had made them they had taken the glamour away from the colored boy who a little more than two years ago had given promise of being the most magnetic heavyweight since Dempsey.

So, after the Farr fiasco in which Louis escaped with his title simply because Farr could fight no better than every one suspected, the move to put the glamor back into Louis started, although his managers, Julian Black and John Roxborough, probably will tell you today they had no such thought in mind.

Joe was told to forget about his training business, to do what he liked and to have some fun.

Enter the rain drops. What does this rootin', tootin' son-of-a-gun from Alabama do?

Shades of Something or Other, Folks.

He organizes himself a soft ball baseball club and goes on tour. So far his own contribution to these exhibition games has been simply to strike out three or four times in each of them.

Shades of Jack Johnson.

No wonder the notorious Jack remarked after he watched the Louis-Farr championship match, "Give me a couple of pork chops and a breath of fresh air and I'll whip 'em both at the same time."

It was a big day at the race track. It was a perfect spot for a celebrity to strut his stuff. Imagine Gable, Ruth, or Dempsey in a similar situation.

Just Fancy! His Costume Matches.

He was well dressed to be sure, but in a drab gray suit with shirt and tie to match.

A south side friend of Joe's was running a horse called Vanita in one of the early races on the program. She was at 6 to 5 in the betting.

Joe fished $5 out of his pants pocket, nursed it in his fingers for a time, and finally wagered it on Vanita. His horse won, and Joe, who has made more than a half million in three short years, profited to the extent of $6. He was then ready to call it a day and go home.

Unless a Billy Rose soon is added to Joe's already large staf of lawyers, doctors, school teachers, and etiquet supervisors the Brown Bomber is in grave danger of finding himself in this situation:

He'll be marching some day in the K. of P. parade and folks won't know whether he is Joe Louis or Rufus Rastus Johnson Brown.

MAKES 3 HITS, 2 ERRORS.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Slugging Joe Louis knocked out a double and two singles tonight to lead his touring Brown Bombers to a 20 to 6 victory over a picked team of local softball players. On the debit side the world's heavyweight boxing champion committed two errors,

GULDAHL, SMITH TIE IN WESTERN OPEN WITH 288s

Snead, Runyan Get 289s; Title Playoff Today.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 19.—The western open golf championship is intended to be strictly a one man number, but it very nearly became a foursome act in the chilly gloaming tonight as the 37th annual tournament reached the conclusion of its regulation 72 holes at the Canterbury club. Because one of the candidates for the quartet quavered with a three putt green at the 71st hole and another could not sink a 13 foot putt on the 72d, two Chicago professionals, Ralph Guldahl and Horton Smith, will do an encore duet of eighteen holes for the prize beginning at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Horton Smith. Ralph Guldahl.
[Associated Press Wirephotos.]

Guldahl, the national open champion who is defending the western title which brought him back after he was about to resign last year, and Smith, leading money winner of the 1936 season, each finished with 288. Their argument tomorrow will be conducted for $500 first money and $300 second, each sharing in 50 per cent of the gate.

Snead, Runyan Tie for Third.

Samuel Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., are the two boys who just failed to qualify. Sammy, the reformed freshman of the pro league who led the field through the first 36 holes, might have had a 288 also, but he needed three putts on the 17th green of the final round and settled for 289. This later was matched with no warning by Runyan, who was five shots away at 54 holes, but dashed off a fancy 70, which might have been a 69 and a tie had he not blown the aforesaid thirteen footer.

The playoff will be the first since the memorable Peoria marathon of 1934, when Harry Cooper and Ky Laffoon were still tied after their first extra eighteen holes and went into another before Harry won. In that Laffoon lost despite the fact that he was 22 under par for 108 holes, the reason being that Cooper was 25 under.

Today's finishing 36 holes were as snug as the show has seen in its 37 years. The end of the morning round found Guldahl snapping out a 69 to take the three-quarters lead at 214. Smith chimed in with a 72 to hold second at 215, while Snead faltered for the first time, taking a 75 for his 217. That was two strokes better than the 219s rounded out by Runyan and Jimmy Thomson of Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa.

3-Putt Green Beats Snead.

The ninth hole of the afternoon session saw Guldahl and Snead, champion and runnerup in the national open at Detroit this summer, running shot for shot at 251 for 63 holes. Smith was a stroke away with 252 and the unsuspected Runyan came up to the last nine with 254.

The three putt green at the afternoon 17th cost Snead whatever chance he might have had for a tie in his western open debut, and Runyan, last of the leaders to finish, will

It Happened in Dubuque.

It was one of the first cool evenings, and the chap who makes a livelihood by permitting himself to be frozen into a cake of ice for two or three hours at a time as an attraction at local taverns had just emerged from his nightly stunt and was walking along Main street with a friend. As they passed the chairs in front of the old Merchants hotel his companion suggested that they sit and chat a while. Hurler Wants 20 Victories, So He Wins Double-Header

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Dick Barrett needed two victories to run his season's total to 20 and only two games remained on the schedule. But that didn't bother Barrett. He stepped out today and handcuffed Sacramento, Pacific Coast league champion, to give Seattle 4 to 1 and 11 to 2 triumphs. He allowed only four hits in the nine inning opener and eight in the seven inning nightcap.

Kennedy Complete Master in Victory.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—The White Sox this afternoon found Manager Bucky Harris of the Senators in a generous experimental mood. The best they could make of Bucky's laboratory exhibit of human guines pigs from assorted bush leagues, however, was an eight inning 9 to 1 victory in the second game after they had blown the first game in the ninth, 5 to 4. When they lost the first game the Sox also saw their last mathematical chance of winning the pennant vanish, a circumstance not so depressing as no one recently has been running a very high fever over the Sox possibilities anyhow.

Vernon Kennedy.

Lyons Blows Up.

Division of the afternoon's laurels concluded the season's series between the two teams with the Sox winning fourteen while losing eight.

The Senators scored the winning run in the first game on an error, but scarcely could be begrudged the victory on the basis of the game's totals, which showed the Senators to have made 15 hits to five for the Sox.

Despite the pale hitting of the Sox, they were leading 4 to 1, until Ted Lyons blew up in the seventh, a session in which the Senators scored their three runs on five hits.

Inevitable Clint Brown was the losing pitcher. While the winning run technically was unearned, the Senators previously had loaded the bases on singles by Stone and Simmons, Kuhel's sacrifice and an intentional pass. Then Hayes fumbled Wasdell's double play ball and threw wild to the plate in trying to get Stone for a second out.

Kennedy Has a Picnic.

Kennedy limited the Senators to five hits in the eight innings before the contest was called on account of darkness.

FIRST GAME

Triple socking gave each team a run in the first inning of the first game. The Chicago three-baser was

MILWAUKEE AND COLUMBUS TAKE PLAYOFF SERIES

The Columbus Red Birds, winners of the regular race, and the Milwaukee Brewers, who finished fourth, will meet in the seven game final playoff series to determine the American association's representative in the little world series with the International league.

The Red Birds won their place in the final by whipping Minneapolis, 7 to 2, yesterday at Minneapolis to take the series, four games to two, while the Brewers won by the same ratio by pounding out a 12 to 3 triumph over the Mud Hens at Milwaukee. The final series will open at Columbus tomorrow night. Score:

Minneapolis	000	000	200	2	11	1

Batteries—McGee, Macon and Crouch; Bean, Henry, Tauscher and Dean, Dowling.

Milwaukee	420	220	11*	12	16	0

BALTIMORE WINS, 14-13.

Baltomore, Md., Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Baltimore Orioles outslugged the Montreal Royals, 14 to 13, in a battle of home runs today to take a 3 to 1 edge in games in their best of seven semi-final International league playoff series.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs continued to move along the comeback trail yesterday. They dressed up their day's work with sparkling trimmings and fairly sprinted to their third straight triumph, the victims of the occasion being Brooklyn's Dodgers, who passed out only after failing to steal home with the tying run in the ninth. Instead of a run the brazen attempt become the final out, leaving the Cubs on the profitable end of a 2 to 1 score, but still 2½ games behind the Giants, who boat the Cardinals.

There was only one deficiency about the Cubs' conduct during the struggle which was reeled off in one hour and thirty-five minutes. The deficiency was in their hitting. They made only four hits, all off Max Butcher, who was excused after seven innings. But the paucity of safe clouts was taken care of by Gabby Hartnett. The old fellow notched his season's twelfth homer in the wake of a single by Frank Demaree. No more runs were needed.

Fourth Straight for Davis.

Hartnett's homer enabled Curt Davis to capture his fourth straight, but the former Philly also contributed notably to his own cause. The only Dodger he couldn't annoy was Gordon [Babe] Phelps, a Cub alumnus. The cumbersome Babe had one of those days known in the trade as four for four. He hit a couple of singles in his first two appearances, one of them inducing Davis to follow with three strikeouts in a row. In his next two exhibitions before the 18,324 patrons the Babe exploded doubles, the second one bringing on a turbulent ninth inning.

Babe doesn't travel fast, so when he doubled with a man on in the last inning he was excused for a fellow with 2 good legs. The substitute runner was George Cisar, just in from the Three-Eye league, where he stole 63 bases. The burglaring George went to third on an out which scored the Dodgers' run. Probably because he figured the bases in the big show are nc farther apart than in the minors George immediately sailed for the plate but not successfully.

And the Ball Isn't There!

Davis' first inning came dangerously close to being a blot on his day's performance. Rosen, just imported from the Louisville club where he didn't miss an inning in 158 games this season, led off with a scratch single to Jurges. Cooney tapped gently toward first, but when Collins looked in his glove the ball wasn't there. The tight situation caused by the hit and error was soon cleared. Bucher's smash to Herman forced Cooney. Herman also picked up Hassett's bounder to start a double play with Jurges in the middle.

The Cubs' first inning opened with Hack's bounding single through short and this might have blossomed into a run if Rosen hadn't staged a sparkling, one-hand diving catch of a line drive by Herman. Hack didn't know the catch had been made so dashed to third from where he could get a good view of himself being doubled off first by Rosen's throw to Hassett.

Davis proved in the Dodgers' second inning that he wasn't fooling. The bothersome Phelps led off with the first of his series of hits—a single to left—and Davis notched the next three outs on strikes, Lavagetto, Brack, and English being the successive victims.

ILLINOIS OWNERS' HANDICAP WILL BE HAWTHORNE FARE

Autumn Handicap Also on Saturday Card.

Illinois race horse owners, who haven't fared so well since Hawthorne opened its doors, have nothing to complain about this week.

Their own race with all the outlanders barred is to be run on Saturday. It will be the eighth running of the Illinois Owners handicap, an annual affair at Hawthorne. The distance is a mile and a sixteenth. There will be $2,500 in added money waiting at the finish line.

A second stake on the program is a newcomer to the schedule, the Hawthorne Autumn handicap, and it will provide the last stake opportunity for juveniles to be presented in Chicago this season.

Our Count, Prince Torch Run Well.

Two Illinois handicap performers that have been racing well are Clarence Davison's Our Count and Frankie Abbate's Prince Torch. Both of these are owned by Illinois owners, but before the final field is announced there probably will be some arguments over the eligibility of certain of the others. Entries for the race will be announced today with weights due from Racing Secretary Reeder tomorrow.

Several top grade Illinois owned thoroughbreds have won the race. The event was inaugurated back in 1930 when Martie Flynn beat My Dandy. The next year Chief John was the winner, and in 1932, when the race had a value of $10,000, My Dandy led home Cathop and Polydorus.

It's a Big Meeting.

One of the best horses to win the race turned up in 1933 when Dan Wood's Indian Runner beat At Top and Polydorus. Nash Brothers' Dust Girl won in 1934, and Top Dog in 1935. Last year's renewal went to Dale Shoffer's St. Bernard with Threadneedle second and Holl Image third.

Hawthorne passed the half way mark on its meeting with Saturday's racing and some fine figures have been turned in. Approximately $3,800,000 has been sent through the mutuel machines, and $110,100 has been distributed in the way of purse money, an average of $9,175 per day.

The favorites were right on schedule as 37.5 per cent got home in time to pay off.

GERMAN YACHT CAPTURES THIRD STRAIGHT RACE

Port Washington, N. Y., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Pimm, Germany's entry in the international star class world championship sailing series, won its third straight race today—an unusual feat in international star competition.

The yacht gained a tie for third place in the series with an excellent chance of winning the title in the final race tomorrow.

Harold Halstead's Chuckle III. from Moriches bay finished second. Philip W. Upton's Ibis, sailed today by Lockwood Pirie of Chicago, led the whole fleet at the first two marks and just beat out Horace Havemeyer's Gull of the Great South bay fleet for third place at the finish.

Milton Wegeforth's Lecky of San Diego, Cal., which still has the lead on the fleet for the world title, finished in fifth place, followed by Gull, James Michael's Roulette from San Francisco; Arthur Macrate's Zoa from Long Beach, Cal., and Harry Nye Jr.'s Gale VII., from Chicago. Summary of the leaders:

NATIONAL MIDGET AUTO RACE WON BY HOUSEHOLDER

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Ronnie Householder of Los Angeles, Cal., whirling around the half mile track at an average speed of 65.2 miles per hour, today won the 150 mile midget automobile race billed as the national championship.

With only one stop, Householder seized the lead from the 33 car field on the 55th lap and added to it until he roared over the finish line 11 laps ahead of Glen Myers of Detroit, who was second.

Others in the prize money were Ted Hartley, Roanoke, Ind., third, $500; Art Hartsfield, Toledo, fourth, $400; Pete Neilson, Los Angeles, fifth, $300; Ralph Biddle, Cincinnati, sixth, $250; Jake Jacobson, Pontiac, Mich., seventh, $200; Eddie Ostwick, Detroit, eighth, $150; Bill Schindler, New York, ninth, $100; and Johnny Sawyer, Milwaukee, tenth, $100.

Larry Kelley Returns to Old Prep School as Coach

Hightstown, N. J., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Yale's All-America Larry Kelley has decided to go back to his old prep school, the Peddie school, as head football coach. Kelley, who was graduated from Peddie in 1933, will coach the team, serve as professor of the history department and do graduate work at Princeton on the side. Earl C. MacArthur, who first came to Peddie as head coach 27 years ago, will become advisory head football coach.

Rain Postpones Final of National Polo Tourney

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A short drizzle of rain, which made footing on the greensward treacherous, forced postponement of the national open polo championship final today between Greentree, defending champion, and Old Westbury. The match will be held Tuesday or Wednesday.

ANGOTT BATTLES MARQUART; SEEKS 19TH STRAIGHT

Featherweights Head Card at Marigold.

Busy Sammy Angott, former student at Washington and Jefferson college in Washington, Pa., will seek his nineteenth consecutive triumph in an eight round bout tonight at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, against Billy Marquart, Winnipeg, Man., featherweight, who was a member of the Canadian Olympic team in 1936.

Marquart, who suffered his first setback in fourteen professional appearances last May 3, will depend on punching power in an attempt to score an upset victory. Billy is supremely confident that he will be able to land a sufficient number of wallops to swing victory his way. So did such injudicious headliners as Everett Rightmire and Jimmy Christy, two of Angott's latest victims.

Mike Pereira, stocky Houston, Tex., welterweight, will endeavor to obtain revenge for a defeat by Chester Rudy a week ago in a return contest at six rounds in the semi-windup. Frankie Agnes, west side junior welterweight, and Johnny Holstrom of the north side, will be opponents at four rounds as will Phil Saeli and Ollie Graff, and Georgie White and Pat Schoenberger.

Nango Singh will make his first Chicago start in several months against Bobby Bruns, Oak Park heavyweight, in the windup bout of a wrestling show tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. They meet for one hour. Frankie Talaber is paired with Al Perry in the secondary feature set for 30 minutes. Preliminary matches bring together Abie Kaplan and Denny Lentz, Angelo Martini and Charley Peterson, and Pug Wilson and Jack Conley. . . . Eddie Lander, amateur bantamweight from Franklin Park, will meet Art Wilhelm of Northwest gymnasium tonight at Northwest stadium, 4848 Irving Park boulevard.

Position for Monahan's first place kick was furnished by Shepherd's 30 yard return of Grosvenor's punt and a Cardinal interference penalty. The Lions rushed to the Chicago 3 yard line, with Shepherd and Gutowski leading the attack, but the Cards forced the place kick, just before half time.

Chicago's line showed a greatly improved charge in the fourth period after it had stopped a Detroit attack on the 13 yard line, from where Monahan kicked his second goal, and with Grosvenor and Russell pacing the drive, the Cardinals advanced to the Detroit 1 yard line, where Detroit took the ball. But the Cards came right back, Grosvenor passing to Russell, who zigzagged 25 yards through the Detroit secondary to the Lion 6 yard line. A 5 yard penalty against the Lions for extra time out moved the ball to the 1 yard line and Grosvenor scored on a plunge. Parker added the point from placement.

PITTSBURGH WINS, 21-0

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, moving on the ground and through the air in three quick drives, defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 21 to 0, before 18,000 at Ebbets field today to take undisputed lead in the eastern division of the National Professional Football league.

GIANTS RALLY IN 9TH, 10TH TO BEAT CARDINALS, 4-3

Berger Hits Homer with One on Base.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A ninth inning rally off Lon Warneke, netting two runs on Wally Berger's homer, permitted the New York Giants to come from behind to tie the score and a double by Joe Moore and single by Jim Ripple in the tenth gave the league leaders a 4 to 3 victory over the Cardinals today. The victory enabled the Giants to maintain their 2½ game advantage over the Chicago Cubs.

DOG HAS WEEK; CHICAGO JOINS IN ITS OBSERVANCE

BY BOB BECKER.

National Dog week, which opened yesterday and runs through Saturday, will be observed in Chicago and in scores of other cities in the United States. One of the important meetings of the week here in Chicago will be held Wednesday night, Sept. 22, at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the Anti-Cruelty society, 157 West Grand avenue, where several dog authorities will speak on the care of dogs and discuss dog problems in relation to the general public.

National Dog week was conceived and its observance begun in 1928 by a group of people interested in the dog's welfare. The seven objects of the week are as follows:

A good home for every dog; to eliminate stray dogs from the streets; to disseminate the actual truth about rabies; to educate dog owners in their obligations both to their dogs and to the public generally; to teach kindness and consideration by children; to emphasize the use of the dog as home protector, faithful companion, and useful servant of mankind; to secure fair and just laws for dogs and their owners, but also to respect the rights of those who do not own dogs.

Among the speakers who will address the meeting Wednesday night are Capt. Will Judy, Dr. W. A. Young, who will speak on "Common Sense Care of the Dog"; Mr. Alex Stewart, president of the Chicago Kennel club, and Bob Becker of THE TRIBUNE sports department. Miss Roselle Brewer, the only woman who owns a "Seeing Eye" dog in Chicago, will demonstrate the use of her guide dog and tell how these dogs are trained.

Auker Yields 5 Hits; Tigers Beat Yanks, 8-1

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers, still holding a small chance of beating the Yankees for the American league pennant, today gave the leaders an 8 to 1 beating behind Elden Auker's five hit pitching.

Paced by Hank Greenberg, who hit his 36th homer as well as a double, and drove in three runs, the Tigers battered Bump Hadley and Pat Malone for 15 hits. It was Auker's third straight victory over the Yanks and his 15th success of the season.

Lord Jim Wins Columbia Y.C. Cutter Race

The cutter Lord Jim, owned by Ephraim Banning IV., won the Columbia Yacht club's 10-mile race on Lake Michigan yesterday. The Lord Jim, newest in the fleet of 14 that competed, finished behind Josephine J. Stein's cutter, but won under a special handicap. The race was sailed in rough water.

A 27 foot racing-cruising sloop, Mary L., owned by William Alford, was second on corrected time. Mary L. is a Swedish-built Tumlaren class yacht, constructed less than a year ago.

Ariel, Carl Johnson's Star class sloop, won the race held yesterday morning by the Sheridan Shore Yacht club. Its time for the six-mile windward-leeward course was 59 minutes and 35 seconds. Eleven seconds later, Jinx, John Lane's entry, crossed the finish line, followed in five second by Clifford Bradbury's Sagitta. Six other Sheridan Shore Stars competed. Sagitta won the afternoon race off Wilmette harbor, covering the same course in 1:03:09. Ariel, in 1:03:40, was runnerup, with Neo, Fred Boynton Jr.'s boat, third in 1:04:30. Eight others raced.

INT. HARVESTER WILL PAY BONUS TO ITS WORKERS

65,000 Employes to Get $4,400,000.

A bonus of $4,400,000 will be paid to the International Harvester company's 65,000 employés in the United States and Canada early in November, Sydney G. McAllister, president informed employés yesterday. The extra compensation covers the company's fiscal year ending Oct. 31, and disbursement will be made immediately after that date, he said.

Approval of the payment was voted by directors last Thursday, McAllister disclosed, at the same time that the board declared a $1.50 dividend on common stock, the final payment for the current fiscal year. McAllister also said that the directors appropriated $2,500,000 to the company's pension fund out of 1937 earnings.

Bonus Based on Service.

Employés with one year's service will be paid a bonus of one week's salary. Two years' service will be rewarded with two weeks' salary, and those with three or more years will receive three weeks' extra pay.

"Volume of the company's sales has increased both at home and abroad," McAllister's letter to employés asserted. "Continued improvement in the returns to agriculture has resulted in a marked increase in the demand for our farm operating equipment. Similarly, there has been an increased demand for the company's other products, chiefly motor trucks and industrial power units. Both of these conditions required expansion of our manufacturing facilities and forces."

He said that of equal importance was uninterrupted production, resulting from "effective coöperation of factory and field employés in the steady, efficient manufacture, and distribution of our products.

Cites Results of Coöperation.

"Our business has not been subjected to delay and time lost by stoppages of jected to delay and lost by stoppages of out this coöperation between labor and management there could not have been the sustained flow of production and distribution necessary for an efficient and profitable operation."

He said the company has been endeavoring to formulate a permanent extra compensation and savings plan for employés, but that nothing has been arrived at because of the difficulties in formulating such a program for the future under present conditions. He added that consideration will be given from year to year and that the present rate and method of payment applies only for the current year.

Bonus Depends on Business.

McAllister reminded employés that continuance of the annual extra compensation plan would depend on the continuance of good business, sustained and efficient production, attractive selling prices to customers, and continued coöperation of all groups making up the company.

To encourage employé saving the company has arranged to deposit all or a part of any individual employés bonus in a bank designated by the company, and will add 5 per cent interest to the sum saved until Oct. 31, 1938.

U. S. Treasury Moves to End Tax Leakage

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has assigned Harold N. Graves, the treasury's administrative expert, to overhaul the internal revenue bureau.

Officials said today the projected regearing of tax collecting machinery should eliminate "red tape," speed the flow of revenue into the federal till and lay the administrative groundwork for a new, long range tax system now being formulated by the treasury.

Graves, a civil service career man, will concentrate on devising methods to prevent tax leakage, it was said, and will seek to simplify procedure for adjusting differences between taxpayers and the revenue bureau. His assignment to the revenue position was made at the request of Guy T. Helvering, internal revenue commissioner.

Post Will Not Be Filled.

Graves' present job as coördinator of treasury law enforcement agencies will not be filled, but Elmer L. Irey, head of the revenue bureau's intelligence unit, will take over some of Graves' former duties.

Irey will preside at weekly meetings of treasury law enforcement officials and will serve as an enforcement aide to Morgenthau.

Officials said Graves already has succeeded in knitting the secret service, coast guard and other law enforcement agencies into a flexible, coördinated organization and that his services in this field are no longer essential.

At the internal revenue bureau it was said Graves will attempt to eliminate any loopholes in tax administration. An effort will be made, authorities said, to expedite investigation of tax returns, so that any additional assessments may be levied soon after returns have been filed.

Frequent Long Delays.

During the investigation of alleged tax avoidance and evasion it was brought out that extra assessments had not been levied on some returns until several years after they had been filed.

Officials said that Graves will seek to devise some method by which the taxpayer can be informed quickly of any alleged deficiency and can obtain prompt action from the bureau on any settlement he proposes.

PROFIT DOWN, CUDAHY OMITS ITS DIVIDENDS

Live Stock Shortage Causes Action.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Directors of the Cudahy Packing company at a meeting on Sept. 17 voted to pass dividends on both the common and preferred stocks, E. A. Cudahy Jr., president, disclosed yesterday in a letter sent to stockholders. The company has maintained an unbroken dividend record since January, 1924, going through the depression without passing a payment.

Diminished supplies of live stock resulting largely from the drouths of 1934 and 1936, especially in the areas where the principal plants of the company are located, contributed to a situation which has reduced profits, Cudahy declared.

"This smaller volume of raw materials, together with substantial increases in wages, various additional forms of taxes, and increased costs of certain supplies, contributed to higher unit operating costs and made it increasingly difficult to earn satisfactory profits," Cudahy said.

Sees Hope for Future.

"On the other hand, this year's bountiful crops in the territories surrounding our plants, the current high prices for live stock, and other favorable factors will stimulate increased production of all classes of meat animals in these areas, which have been and undoubtedly will continue to be the best live stock producing sections of the country.

"This increased production will assure our receiving a plentiful supply of raw materials later on, will aid in reducing our unit costs, and thereby place our operations on a more profitable basis."

Cudahy said that although sales for this year to date have been considerably in excess of the amount for the like period last year, the present indications are that profits this year will be somewhat disappointing. For this reason, he explained, the directors took a conservative course and decided to make no further payments on either the common or the preferred until improved conditions warant their doing so.

Recent Dividend Record.

So far this year the company has paid $1.87½ on the common, the last payment being one of 62½ cents made on July 15. The company's dividend record shows that it paid $4 annually on the common from 1927 to 1937, $3.25 in 1932, and $2.50 annually from 1933 through 1936. It has paid $6 and $7 annually on the 6 per cent preferred and 7 per cent preferred, respectively.

The company, which has its executive office in Chicago, owns 12 packing plants, mostly in the west. It is active in the produce business and manufactures a well known scouring powder. It also is engaged in other activities related to the meat packing business, including the manufacture of soap, glue, pharmaceutical, and other products. Along with other packing companies, its operations have been crippled by the drouth which depleted the live stock on the farms. The curtailment program of the AAA also was responsible for a sharp reduction in the nation's live stock.

BONDS OF HAYES BODY COMPANY OFFERED TODAY

Offering will be made today of $700,000 first mortgage 5¼ per cent convertible sinking fund bonds of the Hayes Body corporation, manufacturer of automobile bodies, metal stampings, trailers and other products. The bonds will be offered at 98 and accrued interest by the Floyd D. Cerf company, Chicago.

Proceeds will be used to provide funds for a new factory unit and for paying certain outstanding obligations.

Stocks Start and Finish Week in Slump

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—The old adage that a bad beginning means a good ending was disproved in Wall street during the last week, at least as far as the stock market was concerned. For Monday saw stocks plunge downward, recover nicely in the middle of the period, and then collapse on the final day.

Throughout the six trading days the market, if it proved nothing else, demonstrated to observers that the financial district is still bewildered at the action of the list. Prices fluctuated wildly on both the up and down sides as stocks blew hot and cold and volume tended to increase on the declines.

Averages Work Lower.

On the week as a whole the averages worked irregularly lower, the Dow-Jones industrial index finishing the week at 157.83, a new low mark, and a drop of more than 2 points from the final figure of the preceding week. On Thursday the figure stood at 164.74. Total turnover amounted to 7,623,110 shares. Of 1,095 issues changing ownership, only two issues reached new highs for the year, and 528 declined to fresh lows.

Just when it had seemed the market could look forward to a bit of rest after the severe shakedown of the preceding week, the Washington administration heaped fresh worries on its shoulders, first with its gold desterilization move and then with the President's speech in which he restated his determination to change the complexion of the Supreme court and to work for his general program of social and economic reform.

Shares Break Badly.

The response of stocks to the inflationary move of the government in desterilizing $300,000,000 in gold was to break badly, indicating alarm at finding so much anxiety among the credit managers in Washington and lack of a consistent policy.

All the while the debate continued on the chances for a recovery this fall. One encouraging development was Dun & Bradstreet's report showing that retail sales this week were from 4 to 10 per cent ahead of last week and from 8 to 20 per cent in excess of the corresponding week of last year.

Railroad carloadings decreased over a week ago, but showed a gain over the same week of last year. Electric power output declined.

General Time Instruments.

Investors' Guide: Please send information about common stock of General Time Instruments corporation.—W. W.

Answer: Formed in 1930 to acquire control of Seth Thomas and Western Clock companies, this corporation is engaged in manufacture of mechanical and electric clocks of all kinds, watches, time switches, time recording systems, bank locks, and similar products. Trade names include Westclox, Seth Thomas, Big Ben, Baby Ben, Stromberg and Sterling.

Plants are located in Chicago and La Salle, Ill.; Thomaston, Conn., and Petersburgh, Canada.

Operating a luxury type of business, the company was hard hit during depression years and never has had an opportunity to show its "normal" earning power.

Sales dropped from $6,145,000 in 1931 to $3,967,000 in 1932. Sales recovered to $4,746,000 in 1933 and rose to $6,748,000 in 1934, $7,941,000 in 1935 and $11,735,000 in 1936.

The company emerged from the red in 1934 with net income of $685,000 or $1.58 per common share. Net rose to $852,000 or $2.24 a share in 1935 and $1,420,000 or $3.63 a share in 1936.

During the first half of 1937 sales were $5,758,000 and net income was $828,000 or $2.16 a share, compared with sales of $4,441,000 and net of $653,000, or $1.64 a share in the first half of 1936. Net was $330,000 or 83 cents a share in the second quarter of each year.

Current assets were $5,965,000 and current liabilities were $1,126,000 on Jan. 2, 1937, reflecting good financial position.

The company sold 75,644 additional shares of common stock in 1936 to retire one-fifth of preferred stock and replenish working capital after paying preferred dividend arrears in 1935 and 1936.

Dividends were omitted on the preferred from June, 1931, until 1934, but arrears were cleared in 1936 and regular payments now are being made. After a 20 cent dividend in 1931 nothing was paid on the common until 1936, when 75 cents a share was disbursed. Four regular quarterly dividends of 25 cents and two extras of 25 cents have been paid so far this year.

The common stock appears to be medium grade. The preferred now deserves a fairly good rating.

U. S. Resumes Old Place as Corn Exporter

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

The United States this season will resume its position as an exporter of corn as well as wheat. The first export sale this season of American corn was reported last week. The deal calls for shipment of the grain soon.

Argentine and South African corn are still competing with American corn in the Chicago market. Consumption of foreign corn will continue for several weeks. The 1937 crop in this country, however, is not only large enough to take care of all domestic requirements but also to permit America to compete in the export market with other corn producing countries.

Ironically, one of the tightest market situations in years has developed in the Chicago corn futures contract on the eve of the big corn harvest.

Much Corn Available Soon.

Millions of bushels of corn will be available a few weeks hence, but the shortage of immediate supplies continues. Traders who sold corn short earlier this year either must buy in their commitments or provide corn for delivery against their sales before the last day of the month.

Corn not intended for the commercial market has poured into Chicago in the last few days as a result of the prevailing high prices, which will continue only a short time. After the September contract is settled the temporary demand will end. Meanwhile, the unusual situation exists that corn for delivery within the next ten days is bringing a big premium over corn for delivery two weeks hence.

After its wide swings last week September corn ended approximately two cents a bushel above the price prevailing a week earlier. During the course of the week, however, it showed an extreme price range of 16½ cents a bushel, selling at a low of $1.00¼ and a high of $1.16¾.

Range of Prices for Week.

WHEAT.

	High.	Low.	Sept. 18.	Sept. 11.
September	$1.04⅛	$1.00⅝	$1.02⅝	$1.03⅛

PENNSYLVANIA ANNOUNCES NEW TIME SCHEDULE

Important changes in its passenger schedules between Chicago and the east, including the shortening of the running time of the Liberty Limited to Washington, will be put into effect next Sunday when the change is made from daylight saving time to standard time, H. E. Newcomet, vice president of the Pennsylvania, with headquarters in Chicago, announced yesterday.

The Broadway will leave Chicago at 4:30 p. m. central time—1½ hours later than now—and will arrive in New York at 10 a. m., eastern time, continuing the 16½ hour schedule. The purpose is to give a full business day in Chicago and yet have arrival in New York sufficiently early for a long business day there. The Broadway will depart from New York at 5:30 p. m. eastern time and arrive in Chicago at 9 a. m. central time.

The General—a 17¼ hour train—will leave Chicago at 3:15 p. m. central time and will arrive in New York at 9:30 a. m. eastern time. The running time of the Liberty Limited will be cut 25 minutes to Washington, making it a 16 hour, 40 minutes train. Westbound the Liberty will make the run in 16 hours 35 minutes.

North American Aviation Orders at Record High

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 19.—[Special.]—The backlog of North American Aviation, Inc., orders now stands at $9,200,000, company officials said today. The figure it the highest in the company's history. Orders piling up for military craft largely account for the record figure. A total of 202 combat planes and 171 observation planes are under production or on the order books. Employment at the Inglewood plant has doubled from 800 to 1,600 since March.

STEEL OUTPUT RALLIES AFTER LABOR HOLIDAY

Steel ingot production last week was estimated yesterday at 80 per cent of capacity by the magazine Steel, compared with 72 per cent operations in the preceding short holiday week. In the week preceding Labor day the operating rate for the industry was 83 per cent of capacity. Repair work being done on several open harth mills in preparation for fall activity was said to be partly responsible for the lower rate last week than prevailed in August.

New steel buying continued to show gradual improvement last week, Steel said, particularly in lighter products, and the outlook for the heavier products appeared somewhat better.

PROFIT OF MEAD CORPORATION PUT AT $2.19 A SHARE

New York, Sept. 19.—[Special.]—The report of the Mead corporation, paper manufacturer, for the thirty-six weeks ended on Sept. 4 shows a net profit of $1,584,681, after depreciation, interest, and taxes on funded debt and other deductions. This is equivalent to $2.19 a share after allowance for preferred dividends. It compares with a net profit of $558,798, or 72 cents a share, after preferred dividend requirements, for the thirty-six weeks ended Sept. 5, 1936.

The annual report of the International Agricultural corporation, made public today, shows a net profit for the year ended on June 30 of $770,154, after interest charges, provision for depreciation on property, depletion charged on phosphate rock lands, and a reserve for income taxes. The figure representing net profit includes $37,622 collected on receivables previously written off. It compares with a net profit of $23,193 for the year ended on June 30, 1936.

Inland Steel's Insurance Average $1,900 Per Worker

The Inland Steel company yesterday announced that group insurance in effect on its 17,544 employés Aug. 31 amounted to $44,759,000, an average of $1,900 per worker. A total of 400 claims, aggregating $534,575, an average of $1,336 each, has been paid since the group insurance program was instituted in 1930, the company said.

Everyday Economics

The Rediscount Rate.

The interest rate which the federal reserve banks charge member banks on borrowings is called the discount rate, or frequently referred to as the rediscount rate. Each two weeks directors of each of the 12 reserve banks determine what the discount rates in their districts shall be. Their action is subject to review by governors of the federal reserve system in Washington, D. C.

When business appears in need of loans the reserve banks will lower the discount rate. This is supposed to make it more attractive for the individual member banks of the system to loan their own funds, for in turn they can rediscount the collateral at a lower rate with the reserve banks.

Similarly, if the reserve officials believe too many loans are being extended, they may raise the discount rate, which will tend to discourage und

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Salesmen.

— — — 5 MEN — — —
This month we started several men on the road to success with our company. We are now ready to start five more Rogers Park or North Shore town men.
Our business has shown a constant increase throughout the depression years as our electrical unit is without competition, performing a much needed service that cannot be duplicated.
This product is made in factories in principal cities, including the United States and is backed by tremendous resources. Commissions alone on this product are sufficient to make some of our men $5,000 to $3,000 or more per year BESIDES their liberal expenses—in other words, they make $5,000, or more. $4,000, or $3,000 a year.
If you are seriously looking for a worth while connection, apply at 2nd Floor, 808 Church-st., Evanston, on Monday, Sept. 20, at 10:30 a. m. sharp. Come prepared to spend at least two hours in order to make thorough investigation or do not come at all.

WE ARE READY FOR A GOOD MAN, WHO IS READY FOR US.

I want a high grade man who lives on the North Side and has had five years' business experience or has been a printer, mechanic or in some trade for at least five years. Of good character, willing to work and with people. Consequently, I want no money from him, but will put him in business. If we get together he will soon be drawing down big commission checks from the start. Interviews electrical sunlight company. If you are in earnest call at 10:30 a. m. or 2:30 p. m. Monday, Sept. 20, Room 810, 4835 Lincoln-av., Chicago. Mr. Wright will see you.

—SALESMEN—

Increased sales of the new Pontiac—America's finest car—make it possible for us to add two high grade young men in our new car sales dept. One of Chicago's oldest and largest dealers, located in the South Shore district, Chicago's greatest car market. Automobile selling experience not necessary. Applicants must be between the ages of 29 and 40, with a definite desire to get ahead. Drawing account and commission. See Mr. Mignin.

Community Motors, Inc.
7718 Stony Island-av.

MEN WANTED.

If you want work, see us at once. We can use four ambitious men who actually need money and are willing to work for it. Earnings on this unique electrical unit usually run from $25.00 to $60.00 per week while learning, with sales commissions increasing in proportion to application and knowledge. Call at our office, 20 E. Jackson-blvd. Room 804, Chicago, on Mon. at 10:30 a. m. or 2:30 p. m. No other time will do.

FALL OPENING.

Applications wanted from respons. city workers as direct sales experience, or desire to obtain it.
If your application is accepted we will place you in the new accts. dept. of a large furn. concern.
About $30 per week to start. Draw, acct., commission and bonus basis, with an increase as you gain experience in our business.
Apply in person. See employment manager. 331N Lincoln-avenue.

Plan Dedication of Outer Drive Bridge at Which President Will Speak—Find Baby Abandoned in Cemetery

MODEL OF 1776 MEMORIAL—Miniature of monument to three revolutionary war heroes—George Washington, Robert Morris, and Haym Salomon—to be erected in Grant park. A contract for the memorial is to be awarded today to Lorado Taft associates.

FIVE INJURED IN HEAD-ON COLLISION—Wreckage of two automobiles yesterday after they collided in Washington boulevard east of Hamlin avenue. Two Freeport, Ill., couples were riding in the car at left when it was struck by other machine which, according to police, was on the wrong side of street.

BABY GIRL, 3 WEEKS OLD, FOUND ABANDONED IN CEMETERY—Policemen Joseph Zenisek (left) and Matt Schram of the county highway police removing infant from shopping bag in which she was found yesterday in Oak Ridge cemetery by passerby who heard her wails from a hedge. The baby was hungry, but suffered no ill effects from her exposure. She was taken to St. Vincent's orphanage.

ACCUSED DRIVER—Mike Trant, 24, of 3411 Franklin boulevard, slumped over in his auto after colliding with another car. Police said he had been drinking. He was charged with reckless driving and placed under guard in Garfield Park hospital.

(Story on page 24.) [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

GOV. GRAVES SITS BY DURING PRESIDENT'S SPEECH—Alabama's chief executive, Bibb Graves, listening at Mr. Roosevelt's side as the President gave his Constitution day speech in Washington. Observers recalled that the reports telling that Associate Justice Hugo Black received a life membership in the Ku Klux Klan in 1926, said Gov. Graves received a similar membership at the same time.
